Nation's Traffic Death Toll Slows With 194 Killed

The hourly rate of fatal traffice accidents across the country slowed Saturday after maintaining a pace earlier that threatened to set a record for a three-day New Year holiday.

Forty hours from the start of the holiday at 6 p. m. Thursday, traffic deaths were occurring at a rate of slightly fewer than 5 an hour. At one time Friday the rate was up to 10 an hour, although the pace most of Friday was more than 6 an hour.

The heavy toll since the start of the long holiday weekend at 6 p.m. Thursday was termed shocking by the National Safety Council.

The council, in a pre-holiday statement, estimated 320 persons may be killed during the 78-hour holiday period, which ends at midnight Sunday.

It said if the pace set Friday was maintained up to midnight Sunday, the toll would run above 400. The record traffic death toll for a three-day New Year period was 364 at the start of 1956.

Driving in wide areas in the West and Midwest, hit by heavy snowstorms, was hazardous. However, fatalities on the highways were not heavy in the storm-stricken region.

During one six-hour period Friday, fatalities on the highways averaged more than 10 an hour. The council said the rate during the first day of 1960 was far above the daily normal motor vehicle death rate of slightly more than 100 per day.

An Associated Press survey during a non-holiday weekend covering the same three-day period, Dec. 10-13, showed 324 traffic deaths.

Mayor Also Returns 2 Incumbents For Commission Terms

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet announced appointment of a new member to the Municipal Civil Service Commission shortly after assuming office Friday, also returning two incumbents for new terms.

The new mayor appointed:

Clarence E. Reagle, 1571 Cleveland Ave., a heater at the No. 1 Merchant Mill of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., to the Municipal Civil Service Commission, replacing Alvin T. Babb of Globe St., vice president and secretary of YELP Service, Inc.

The mayor also reappointed:

William J. Bamer of Minerva St., an employe of the First National Bank, to a new term on the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners.

Louis C. Yanni of Mulberry St., one of the operators of the Louis-James Clothing Store, for a new term on the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners.

The terms of Babb, Bamer and Yanni all expired at midnight Thursday.

Reagle, a member of the Elks Lodge and the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church, was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for councilman-at-large in the May primaries.

No action has been taken on the fourth vacancy that occurred at the year-end. The term of C. Frank Dales of Alton St. expired on the Board of Health. He is sixth vice president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Hold-over members of the Health Board are Dr. J. Keith Rugh, Mrs. Ila Finney Johnston, Dr. C. M. Mayberry and Emil R. Liebschner Jr. Howard Claypool is clerk, appointed by the board.

Other members of the Civil Service Commission are Donal I. Burcham and Atty. Ben H. Berman. Col-

Talks Aimed To Avert New Steel Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the holiday, informal talks were held Friday in the Eisenhower administration's continuing effort to prevent a new steel walkout late this month.

There was no announcement of any progress, nor any indication when further meetings were planned.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell met first with R. Conrad Cooper and other steel industry representatives. Later he conferred with President David J. McDonald and Arthur Goldberg, general counsel of the United Steelworkers Union.

Although formal mediation sessions have been suspended temporarily, both Mitchell and Vice President Richard M. Nixon have been meeting periodically with both sides in an effort to ease the deadlock.

Hope was held that a settlement of some kind could be reached before Jan. 26. That is the expiration date of a Taft-Hartley law injunction which sent the steel workers back to the mills last Nov. 7 for an 80-day cooling-off period.

'DON'T DRIVE LIKE 60'

An elderly Salem woman became Columbiana County's first traffic fatality of 1960 when she was killed in a car-truck crash about 9:15 a. m. today on Route 45 some 4½ miles north of Lisbon.

Mrs. Anna V. Dacar Grama, 69, of 727 Jennings Ave. was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital with injuries suffered in the crash at Long's Crossing. She received internal injuries and a crushed leg.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said Mrs. Grama was headed south when she swerved left of center and collided headon with the tractor-trailer rig driven by David G. Grubb, 24, of East Rochester R. D. 1.

The impact twisted her 1950 sports sedan sideways on the highway while the truck careened up an embankment, witnesses said. Her car was demolished.

Mrs. Grama was the wife of Myron Grama.

Man Injures Teeth When He Wrecks Car

NEW CUMBERLAND — Robert W. Brown of Ridge Ave. reportedly broke two of his teeth when his car went out of control and hit a utility pole in Follansbee Friday.

Brown told Brooke County authorities he fell asleep at the wheel and his 1959 auto was demolished.

Wellsville District Woman Hurt In Crash

Mrs. Sylvia Blazer of Lafferty Rd., Salineville R. D. 3, is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in an auto accident early Friday morning on Route 39 near Salineville.

She said she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Chester Blazer, which went off the road at a bend. She suffered a fractured right ankle and was admitted at 3:45 a. m.

3 Reported Injured In Hancock Accident

Hancock County sheriff's deputies were investigating a traffic accident this morning about 11 near Weirton in which three persons were injured.

Deputies said the injured included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas of New Cumberland R. D. 2 and a man identified only as the father of Robert Trice of Weirton, former baseball pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics.

The mishap occurred on the King's Creek Bridge, deputies said. The injured were taken to the Weirton General Hospital.

Opening Move In New Maneuver

Khrushchev Troop Cut Hint May Pressure West On Arms

Washington Cautious On Declaration

Set To Slash Army If Plan Is Accepted, Soviet Chief Says

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev's hint that the Soviet Union might go it alone in cutting armed forces strength suggested today the opening move in a new maneuver to force the West's hand on disarmament.

The Soviet Premier told a New Year's reception "if the cold war exponents drag us into labyrinths of endless verbal discussions, should we adopt the way onto which they want to prod us?

"Shouldn't we do some thinking for ourselves, reduce our armed forces unilaterally and entrust the defense of our borders to rockets?"

Khrushchev's declaration, sounded before foreign diplomats among the 1,500 guests at the Kremlin reception, was greeted cautiously in Washington.

But an initial reaction was that the Soviet leader's words may represent the opening move in an attempt to marshal world opinion and pressure the Western powers into accepting his pet disarmament proposal at the East-West talks opening in Geneva March 15.

The proposal, submitted to the United Nations by Khrushchev during his U.S. visit last year, calls for total disarmament within four years.

Khrushchev said in his New Year's Eve statement that "if our proposals are accepted we are ready to dissolve our army any time and all our military will welcome this decision."

Western leaders go along with Khrushchev's proposal in principle but maintain it is too vague on the crucial issue of controls.

They insist that any arms reductions must be guaranteed through a workable control and inspection system.

The Soviet line at past disarmment discussions has called for reductions first, then consideration of controls.

Both the United States and Britain are drafting their own proposals to lay before the 10-nation Geneva disarmament committee on which Communist nations will have numerical equality for the first time.

Ike Will Try To Complete Budget Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will try today to button up his budget for the 1961 fiscal year.

Work on the budget, expected to hit a peacetime record of 81 billion dollars, was the first official business of the new year for Eisenhower.

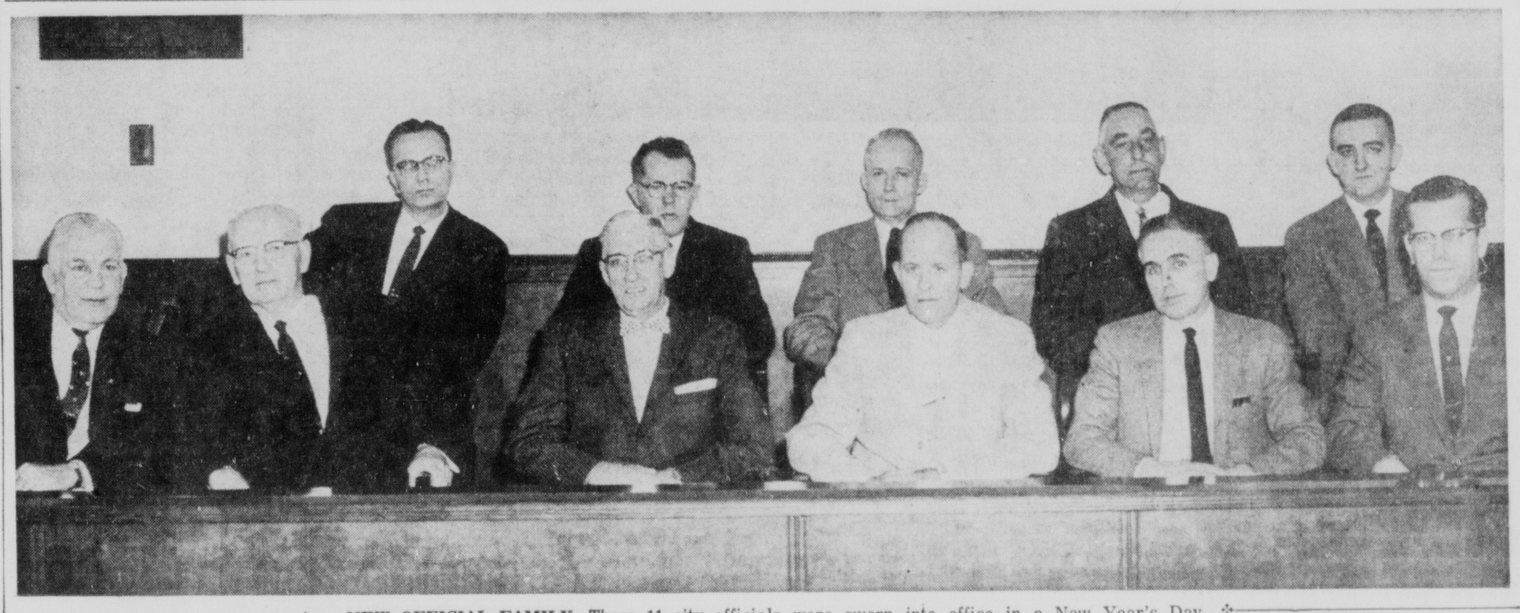

The President took a holiday on New Year's Day — even from golf. It was a cold, rainy day. So he stayed indoors at the vacation White House at Augusta National Golf Club and watched the football bowl games on television.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans flew down from Washington Friday night for the budget conference, together with his deputy, Elmer Staats, Eisenhower's deputy assistant, Gerald Morgan, and Robert Merriam, the President's special assistant for interdepartmental affairs.

Police Short On Clues In Slaying Of Priest

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Police, short on clues and at a loss for a motive, appealed today for public aid in tracking the gunman who murdered a 38-year-old Roman Catholic priest.

The Rev. Vincent L. Belle, assistant pastor at Holy Cross Church, for 12 years, was ambushed Friday as he was about to start his car in a parish garage.

NEW OFFICIAL FAMILY. These 11 city officials were sworn into office in a New Year's Day ceremony at City Hall, a switch-over from Republican to Democratic administration of municipal affairs. In the front row, left, are: Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver; Council President Charles N. Edwards, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate, Treasurer Bert A. Dawson—the only Republican in the group—and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper. In the back row are Councilman John A. Melvin, a member-at-large; Robert B. Laughlin of the Fourth Ward; Clinton R. Seevers, another member-at-large; Clifford J. Cooper of the First Ward and John F. Kelly of the Second Ward. Two new councilmen were at work and unable to attend the ceremony. They are Donald S. Hancock, a member-at-large, and Donald E. Smith of the Third Ward.

Mayor And 10 Others Given Oaths Of Duty

Judge Tobin Swears In 10 Democrats, And One Republican

Ten Democrats and a lone Republican received oaths of office from Probate Judge Louis Tobin Friday morning at City Hall, officially launching a new administration and Council for the 1960-61 biennium.

In a brief ceremony before an overflow crowd in the Municipal Court chamber, the judge administered the oath individually to: Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver, Council President Charles N. Edwards, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, the lone Republican.

Then the judge administered the oath collectively to five of the seven new councilmen: John A. Melvin and Clinton R. Seevers, members-at-large; Clifford J. Cooper of the First Ward, John F. Kelly of the Second Ward and Robert B. Laughlin of the Fourth Ward.

Two of the new members were unable to attend because they were at work. They are Donald S. Hancock, the third member-at-large, and Donald E. Smith, Third Ward representative. However, they — like most of the other officials-elect — had taken the oath of office previously.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff acted as master of ceremonies for the program.

"This is a great day for all of us," the new judge commented, referring to the fact that the party holds virtually every elective office. "Even the weather is wonderful."

Then he introduced the Rev. C. Howard Canon of the Oakland Free Methodist Church, who gave the invocation.

Next, Judge Tobin administered the oath to the new officials, who were seated in the jury box.

A few moments later, Judge Chertoff conducted his first court session.

Bailiff Wilbert Taylor opened the session with the cry of "Hear ye, hear ye. . ." and the judge entered from his chambers, clad in a black robe, and took the bench.

Then he administered the oath of office individually to his appointees: Wilbur Harmon, clerk; Taylor, former Liverpool Township police constable; Miss Lillian Sablack, deputy clerk, and Mrs. Phyllis Stewart, deputy clerk and official court reporter.

The court chamber was filled with relatives and friends of the new officials. After the ceremony, they congratulated the new members of administration and Council.

Dawson and Cooper are the only officials beginning new terms. In the last biennium Cooper was the lone Democrat in a City Hall "official family" dominated by Republicans. Their positions are reversed in the new term. Dawson is the lone Republican in a Democratic administration.

Rams Reefs 50 Miles From Singapore

All 37 Are Believed Safe After U.S. Ship Breaks Up

SINGAPORE (AP)—The American freighter Valley Forge broke up today on treacherous reefs 50 miles southeast of Singapore. The ship's agents said all 37 aboard were believed safe.

The British minesweeper Fiskerton headed for Singapore with 22 crewmen picked up on an uninhabited island near the scene of the wreck. They had put out from the Valley Forge in a lifeboat.

Eight other crewmen from the 7,202-ton ship were rescued by a salvage tug that battled gales and mountainous seas to reach the scene.

In addition, the Indonesian government sent word that Capt. Peter F. Petrone "and his crew" were on Bintan Island, the largest in the group south of Singapore.

That might mean all six other crewmen who were with the captain when they abandoned ship into a lifeboat Friday morning were safe, a spokesman for the agents said.

The British navy said the 22 men aboard the Fiskerton included the Valley Forge's second officer, Charles Kidd of Baltimore, Md.

The navy also said it was keeping two other warships in the area in the event all survivors might not be accounted for by Sunday.

The Valley Forge, a Liberty ship built in 1943, is owned by the Peninsular Navigation Co. of New York.

The freighter was en route to Singapore with 10,000 tons of wheat. Agents here said the ship, valued at about $300,000 without cargo, is probably a complete loss.

The vessel ran aground off Mapor Island in Indonesian waters on New Year's Eve. First messages reported water was pouring into the engine room and holds.

The salvage tug Griper reached the area just as the vessel was beginning to break apart. A lifeboat carrying eight crewmen was tossed dangerously by high waves but managed to reach the tug.

The lifeboat with four crewmen returned to the Valley Forge and started back toward the tug with 18 more passengers but was unable to reach the Griper. It drifted out of sight in the towering waves.

Two British minesweepers and several British planes were routed to the area.

Another plane dropped food and clothing to the seven men stranded on the island.

The eight crewmen rescued by the tug were identified as Gerald W. Tucker, Portland, Ore.; First Asst. Engineer Vaujin Jankovich; Third Engineer Clarence J. Baker, Seattle, Wash.; John C. Hunt, Seattle; Alejandro Valenzuela, San Francisco; Delos Snead, Baltimore, Md.; William Datzko, Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Fred K. Lund, Portland, Ore.

Second In Democratic Race

Sen. Kennedy Will Seek Presidential Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy today formally stepped into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The 42-year- old Massachusetts senator said he intends to go into several presidential primaries, beginning with the one in New Hampshire March 8.

Describing the presidency as "the most powerful office in the Free World," Kennedy's statement said leadership at this time is vital in the life of the American people.

"For it is in the executive branch that the most crucial decisions of this century must be made in the next four years," Kennedy said.

He said these decisions involve "how to end or alter the burdensome arms race, where Soviet gains already threaten our very existence."

Other decisions, Kennedy said, will involve maintaining the freedom and order in newly emerging nations, rebuilding the stature of American science and education, and "how to prevent the collapse of our farm economy and the decay of our cities."

Also involved, Kennedy said, are decisions on "how to achieve, without further inflation or unemployment, expanded economic growth benefiting all Americans and how to give direction to our traditional moral purpose, awakening every American to the dangers and opportunities that confront us."

Kennedy, the first Roman Catholic to bid seriously for his party's nomination since Al Smith was defeated in 1928, said he will campaign on those issues in the drive for the nomination.

For Kennedy, formal entry into the race apparently marks the final intensive stage of campaign that has carried him into nearly every state and has involved him in several controversies.

Some of these revolve about the 42-year-old senator's Roman Catholic religion. Others stem from his activity in connection with Congress' passage last year of compromise labor control legislation.

He helped push through a bill which organized labor contended would seriously handicap it, and which anti-labor forces said didn't go far enough to clean up abuses.

By all the political signs, Kennedy is the front runner for a nomination for which Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) announced Wednesday and which Adlai E. Stevenson, Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) also may seek.

But even Kennedy's ardent supporters concede he hasn't in sight now the 761 votes he would need

Punishment's Studied For 6 In Pen Brawl

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Officials of this northern California penitentiary were to decide today how to punish six condemned men — including Caryl Chessman — for a New Year's Day brawl on death row.

The fight broke out after the prison's 24 death row inmates were admitted to their recreation room to watch holiday happenings on television. They had just tuned in the Rose Bowl parade.

James Merkouris, 44-year-old Los Angeles killer of two, emerged from his cell and began yelling and swinging at other inmates. Louis Nelson, prison disciplinary officer, said Manuel Chavez, 27, hit Merkouris with a wooden stool, whereupon Merkouris dashed the television set to pieces on the floor.

Girl Crushed To Death By Moving Sidewalks

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The moving sidewalks at Love Field snared a small girl's clothing Friday night and crushed her to death.

Tina Marie Brandon, 3½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brandon was dead on arrival at a hospital after rescuers freed her from the rubber and steel mechanism. Police and firemen had to fight through crowds to reach her.

The child ran ahead of her parents and they did not know she was caught in the mechanism until they heard the screams of her five-year-old brother.

New Council Goes To Work With Caucus

Men Lose No Time And Call Meeting After Swearing In

East Liverpool's new Council got down to work immediately after assuming office Friday morning with a caucus session to line up the agenda for the first regular meeting Monday night at 8.

The councilmen decided that one of the first item of business will be an ordinance to raise the annual salary from $800 to $1,200 for their new clerk — still to be elected.

Councilman Clinton R. Seevers, who will head the finance committee, said his committee and the ordinance committee also hope to present a temporary appropriation ordinance providing funds with which to operate the city for the first three months.

A raise for the clerk's post had been discussed by the retiring Council, but it finally decided to shelve the matter and allow the decision to go over to the new Council. Previously, it had voted salary boosts for most incoming officials and raises starting Jan. 1 for all employes.

The post formerly was held by Ray Goodman, who served 12 years. However, he announced he would not seek reappointment from the new councilmen.

Legal technicalities dictate the method Council must follow, raising the clerk's pay before the new clerk is elected officially. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper outlined the procedure in the brief caucus yesterday.

Because state law prohibits granting a raise to an elected official during a term, Council must boost the salary before electing the clerk, he explained.

Council reached a tentative agreement to consider the ordinance boosting the clerk's salary and also to take up the temporary appropriation ordinance, if it can be drafted in time. Then Council probably will adjourn until a special session some night later next week to elect the clerk, the tentative agreement provides.

For the meeting Monday night, a clerk pro tem will be elected to serve only for that session.

Council will meet Monday at 7 p. m. for a caucus with the regular meeting starting at 8.

Freight Traffic Halts After One Car Derails

One car of a 100-car Pennsylvania Railroad freight train derailed near Jethro Hollow Friday morning at 1:30, tying up the line until late in the afternoon.

A journal on the car caught fire while near Silver Switch in Wellsville and the truck broke down, causing the car to leave the track. Two rails were broken and several ties were damaged. The Jackson St. crossing was blocked several hours.

East bound trains were shunted over the west-bound line. A wreck crew from Conway cleared away the tieup.

Then the judge administered the oath collectively to five of the seven new councilmen: John A. Melvin and Clinton R. Seevers, members-at-large; Clifford J. Cooper of the First Ward, John F. Kelly of the Second Ward and Robert B. Laughlin of the Fourth Ward.

Two of the new members were unable to attend because they were at work. They are Donald S. Hancock, the third member-at-large, and Donald E. Smith, Third Ward representative. However, they — like most of the other officials-elect — had taken the oath of office previously.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff acted as master of ceremonies for the program.

"This is a great day for all of us," the new judge commented, referring to the fact that the party holds virtually every elective office. "Even the weather is wonderful."

Then he introduced the Rev. C. Howard Canon of the Oakland Free Methodist Church, who gave the invocation.

Next, Judge Tobin administered the oath to the new officials, who were seated in the jury box.

A few moments later, Judge Chertoff conducted his first court session.

Bailiff Wilbert Taylor opened the session with the cry of "Hear ye, hear ye. . ," and the judge entered from his chambers, clad in a black robe, and took the bench.

Then he administered the oath of office individually to his appointees: Wilbur Harmon, clerk; Taylor, former Liverpool Township police constable; Miss Lillian Saback, deputy clerk, and Mrs. Phyllis Stewart, deputy clerk and official court reporter.

The court chamber was filled with relatives and friends of the new officials. After the ceremony, they congratulated the new members of administration and Council.

Dawson and Cooper are the only officials beginning new terms. In the last biennium Cooper was the lone Democrat in a City Hall "official family" dominated by Republicans. Their positions are reversed in the new term. Dawson is the lone Republican in a Democratic administration.

Rams Reefs 50 Miles From Singapore

All 37 Are Believed Safe After U.S. Ship Breaks Up

SINGAPORE (AP)—The American freighter Valley Forge broke up today on treacherous reefs 50 miles southeast of Singapore. The ship's agents said all 37 aboard were believed safe.

The British minesweeper Fiskerton headed for Singapore with 22 crewmen picked up on an uninhabited island near the scene of the wreck. They had put out from the Valley Forge in a lifeboat.

Eight other crewmen from the 7,202-ton ship were rescued by a salvage tug that battled gales and mountainous seas to reach the scene.

In addition, the Indonesian government sent word that Capt. Peter F. Petrone "and his crew" were on Bintan Island, the largest in the group south of Singapore.

That might mean all six other crewmen who were with the captain when they abandoned ship into a lifeboat Friday morning were safe, a spokesman for the agents said.

The British navy said the 22 men aboard the Fiskerton included the Valley Forge's second officer, Charles Kidd of Baltimore, Md.

The navy also said it was keeping two other warships in the area in the event all survivors might not be accounted for by Sunday.

The Valley Forge, a Liberty ship built in 1943, is owned by the Peninsular Navigation Co. of New York.

The freighter was en route to Singapore with 10,000 tons of wheat. Agents here said the ship, valued at about $300,000 without cargo, is probably a complete loss.

The vessel ran aground off Mapor Island in Indonesian waters on New Year's Eve. First messages reported water was pouring into the engine room and holds.

The salvage tug Griper reached the area just as the vessel was beginning to break apart. A lifeboat carrying eight crewmen was tossed dangerously by high waves but managed to reach the tug.

The lifeboat with four crewmen returned to the Valley Forge and started back toward the tug with 18 more passengers but was unable to reach the Griper. It drifted out of sight in the towering waves.

Two British minesweepers and several British planes were routed to the area.

Another plane dropped food and clothing to the seven men stranded on the island.

The eight crewmen rescued by the tug were identified as Gerald W. Tucker, Portland, Ore.; First Asst. Engineer Vaujin Jankovich; Third Engineer Clarence J. Baker, Seattle, Wash.; John C. Hunt, Seattle; Alejandro Valenzuela, San Francisco; Delos Snead, Baltimore, Md.; William Datzko, Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Fred K. Lund, Portland, Ore.

Second In Democratic Race

Sen. Kennedy Will Seek Presidential Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy today formally stepped into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The 42-year- old Massachusetts senator said he intends to go into several presidential primaries, beginning with the one in New Hampshire March 8.

Describing the presidency as "the most powerful office in the Free World," Kennedy's statement said leadership at this time is vital in the life of the American people.

"For it is in the executive branch that the most crucial decisions of this century must be made in the next four years," Kennedy said.

He said these decisions involve "how to end or alter the burdensome arms race, where Soviet gains already threaten our very existence."

Other decisions, Kennedy said, will involve maintaining the freedom and order in newly emerging nations, rebuilding the stature of American science and education, and "how to prevent the collapse of our farm economy and the decay of our cities."

Also involved, Kennedy said, are decisions on "how to achieve, without further inflation or unemployment, expanded economic growth benefiting all Americans and how to give direction to our traditional moral purpose, awakening every American to the dangers and opportunities that confront us."

Kennedy, the first Roman Catholic to bid seriously for his party's nomination since Al Smith was defeated in 1928, said he will campaign on those issues in the drive for the nomination.

For Kennedy, formal entry into the race apparently marks the final intensive stage of campaign that has carried him into nearly every state and has involved him in several controversies.

Some of these revolve about the 42-year-old senator's Roman Catholic religion. Others stem from his activity in connection with Congress' passage last year of compromise labor control legislation.

He helped push through a bill which organized labor contended would seriously handicap it, and which anti-labor forces said didn't go far enough to clean up abuses.

By all the political signs, Kennedy is the front runner for a nomination for which Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) announced Wednesday and which Adlai E. Stevenson, Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) also may seek.

But even Kennedy's ardent supporters concede he hasn't in sight now the 761 votes he would need

Punishment's Studied For 6 In Pen Brawl

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Officials of this northern California penitentiary were to decide today how to punish six condemned men — including Caryl Chessman — for a New Year's Day brawl on death row.

The fight broke out after the prison's 24 death row inmates were admitted to their recreation room to watch holiday happenings on television. They had just tuned in the Rose Bowl parade.

James Merkouris, 44-year-old Los Angeles killer of two, emerged from his cell and began yelling and swinging at other inmates. Louis Nelson, prison disciplinary officer, said Manuel Chavez, 27, hit Merkouris with a wooden stool, whereupon Merkouris dashed the television set to pieces on the floor.

New Council Goes To Work With Caucus

Men Lose No Time And Call Meeting After Swearing In

East Liverpool's new Council got down to work immediately after assuming office Friday morning with a caucus session to line up the agenda for the first regular meeting Monday night at 8.

The councilmen decided that one of the first item of business will be an ordinance to raise the annual salary from $800 to $1,200 for their new clerk — still to be elected.

Councilman Clinton R. Seevers, who will head the finance committee, said his committee and the ordinance committee also hope to present a temporary appropriation ordinance providing funds with which to operate the city for the first three months.

A raise for the clerk's post had been discussed by the retiring Council, but it finally decided to shelve the matter and allow the decision to go over to the new Council. Previously, it had voted salary boosts for most incoming officials and raises starting Jan. 1 for all employes.

The post formerly was held by Ray Goodman, who served 12 years. However, he announced he would not seek reappointment from the new councilmen.

Legal technicalities dictate the method Council must follow, raising the clerk's pay before the new clerk is elected officially. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper outlined the procedure in the brief caucus yesterday.

Because state law prohibits granting a raise to an elected official during a term, Council must boost the salary before electing the clerk, he explained.

Council reached a tentative agreement to consider the ordinance boosting the clerk's salary and also to take up the temporary appropriation ordinance, if it can be drafted in time. Then Council probably will adjourn until a special session some night later next week to elect the clerk, the tentative agreement provides.

For the meeting Monday night, a clerk pro tem will be elected to serve only for that session.

Council will meet Monday at 7 p. m. for a caucus with the regular meeting starting at 8.

A brief public session was held yesterday before a crowd of relatives and friends.

Freight Traffic Halts After One Car Derails

One car of a 100-car Pennsylvania Railroad freight train derailed near Jethro Hollow Friday morning at 1:30, tying up the line until late in the afternoon.

A journal on the car caught fire while near Silver Switch in Wellsville and the truck broke down, causing the car to leave the track. Two rails were broken and several ties were damaged. The Jackson St. crossing was blocked several hours.

East bound trains were shunted over the west-bound line. A wreck crew from Conway cleared away the tieup.

New Mystery Note Tied To Sniper Killing

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A new note of mystery was injected into the Christmas Eve sniper slaying of Charles R. Clark with the arrest Friday night of Floyd E. (Gene) Hargrove on a warrant charging him with first-degree murder.

Only five days ago, county authorities said results of a polygraph test had cleared Hargrove of the rifle killing. The 35-year-old truck driver was freed. Investigators said they were baffled.

Hargrove went to Toledo to visit his mother, Effie Walker.

Armed with the murder warrant, Sheriff William B. Evans and Frank D. Hathy, police chief of Mentor, flew to Toledo Friday night. They arrested Hargrove on what they said was "new evidence."

The only clue as to what led to the arrest came from Hathy who said an anonymous telephone caller provided some important information.

Hargrove was originally arrested three hours after a bullet crashed through a kitchen window of the Clark home in nearby Mentor. The target, framed by the light of the window as he opened a can of pumpkin, was Clark, 35, an electrical engineer, Boy Scout leader and Methodist Sunday School superintendent. A daughter, Carol, 12, said her father was in front of the window for only four seconds.

Hargrove was picked up for questioning when Clark's beautiful wife, Lois, 30, mother of four, told of an eight-month love affair with him. Investigators said she also admitted being intimate with five other men during a six-year period.

Hargrove readily admitted the relationship with the former model, who was reared in an orphanage and married Clark when she was 16. At first, Hargrove clung to a denial of having anything to do with the shooting.

After talking to Mrs. Clark for 15 minutes at the county jail last Saturday, Hargrove switched his story and said he was the sniper who fired the fatal bullet. He said he threw the rifle into Lake Erie.

The sheriff and prosecutor said, however, they had doubts on some of the details of Hargrove's admission. They gave him a polygraph test, a so-called lie detector, and then announced last Monday that Hargrove wasn't their man.

Hargrove agreed. Reversing his field once more, the father of five who was divorced from his wife two years ago, said he took the blame for the slaying in order to spare Mrs. Clark further anguish from the investigation.

"I love her deeply," he told newsmen. "I'm worried for her welfare. I didn't want her life ruined."

Hargrove said he confessed originally with the belief he would get a prison sentence of only seven years. After he got out of prison, he told newsmen, he felt he and Mrs. Clark would be able to get married.

West Virginia Reports Only 1 Traffic Death

By The Associated Press

West Virginia moved through the early portion of the long New Year's weekend with only two reported deaths that could be connected with the holiday.

An Ohio man whose car ran off U.S. 50 in Taylor County and smashed into a tree early yesterday became West Virginia's first listed highway fatality of 1960.

Down in Mercer County, 22-year-old Emmett Orbin Bell of Rich Creek Hollow, about two miles from Spanishburg, accidentally killed himself with a pistol he was firing to greet the Saturday midnight arrival of the new year.

Meanwhile, the state closed out 1959 with a reported highway death toll of 395-eight more than were killed in 1958, but one below the 10-year average.

The final figure, however, might be higher. The record maintained by the State Police Accident Prevention Bureau remains open for 10 days into the new year to permit inclusion of deaths resulting from previously incurred injuries.

Driver Cited For 2nd Time Due Hearing

An area motorist, cited early New Year's Day by city police for the second time in two months on charges of drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident, won a continuance this morning in Municipal Court to consult with counsel.

Taking the bench for the first time, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff granted the continuance to John McCullough, 39, of the Y. & O. Rd. on request of Atty. William S. Foulks.

McCullough was arrested at 4:15 a. m. Friday after the auto he was driving struck a parked car and the Post Office annex on Smith St., knocking out the telephone system.

He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident and driving without an operator's permit. His license expired May 20, police said.

Police said McCullough, driving a car owned by Evelyn J. Weisenberger of North Lima, struck the car of James Pollock, 695 Lincoln Ave., parked at Smith St. and Green Ln.

McCullough was taken into custody five minutes later on Dresden Ave., officers said.

Municipal Court records show McCullough was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail on Nov. 24 after being found guilty of drunken driving. A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was dismissed on the request of Asst. Solicitor Richard Clark.

The new year wasn't very old before the city recorded its first traffic mishap.

Ruby H. Morris, 1208 Pennsylvania Ave., told police she was headed east on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." at 1 a. m. when a westbound car forced her from the road and into a pile of piping, damaging the left side of the auto.

The entire front end of a 1958 delivery truck owned by David R. Tice, 26, of Dairy Rd. was smashed when he ran into a moving Pennsylvania Railroad train at the Walnut St. crossing at 5:22 a. m., police said.

Police had no details on the mishap but said Tice wasn't hurt when the truck struck the freight. The train crew included H. O. Patterson as engineer and D. B. Seal conductor.

Armed with the murder warrant, Sheriff William B. Evans and Frank D. Hathy, police chief of Mentor, flew to Toledo Friday night. They arrested Hargrove on what they said was "new evidence."

The only clue as to what led to the arrest came from Hathy who said an anonymous telephone caller provided some important information.

Hargrove was originally arrested three hours after a bullet crashed through a kitchen window of the Clark home in nearby Mentor. The target, framed by the light of the window as he opened a can of pumpkin, was Clark, 35, an electrical engineer, Boy Scout leader and Methodist Sunday School superintendent. A daughter, Carol, 12, said her father was in front of the window for only four seconds.

Hargrove was picked up for questioning when Clark's beautiful wife, Lois, 30, mother of four, told of an eight-month love affair with him. Investigators said she also admitted being intimate with five other men during a six-year period.

Hargrove readily admitted the relationship with the former model, who was reared in an orphanage and married Clark when she was 16. At first, Hargrove clung to a denial of having anything to do with the shooting.

After talking to Mrs. Clark for 15 minutes at the county jail last Saturday, Hargrove switched his story and said he was the sniper who fired the fatal bullet. He said he threw the rifle into Lake Erie.

The sheriff and prosecutor said, however, they had doubts on some of the details of Hargrove's admission. They gave him a polygraph test, a so-called lie detector, and then announced last Monday that Hargrove wasn't their man.

Hargrove agreed. Reversing his field once more, the father of five who was divorced from his wife two years ago, said he took the blame for the slaying in order to spare Mrs. Clark further anguish from the investigation.

"I love her deeply," he told newsmen. "I'm worried for her welfare. I didn't want her life ruined."

Hargrove said he confessed originally with the belief he would get a prison sentence of only seven years. After he got out of prison, he told newsmen, he felt he and Mrs. Clark would be able to get married.

West Virginia Reports Only 1 Traffic Death

By The Associated Press

West Virginia moved through the early portion of the long New Year's weekend with only two reported deaths that could be connected with the holiday.

An Ohio man whose car ran off U.S. 50 in Taylor County and smashed into a tree early yesterday became West Virginia's first listed highway fatality of 1960.

Down in Mercer County, 22-year-old Emmett Orbin Bell of Rich Creek Hollow, about two miles from Spanishburg, accidentally killed himself with a pistol he was firing to greet the Saturday midnight arrival of the new year.

Meanwhile, the state closed out 1959 with a reported highway death toll of 395-eight more than were killed in 1958, but one below the 10-year average.

The final figure, however, might be higher. The record maintained by the State Police Accident Prevention Bureau remains open for 10 days into the new year to permit inclusion of deaths resulting from previously incurred injuries.

Driver Cited For 2nd Time Due Hearing

An area motorist, cited early New Year's Day by city police for the second time in two months on charges of drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident, won a continuance this morning in Municipal Court to consult with counsel.

Taking the bench for the first time, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff granted the continuance to John McCullough, 39, of the Y. & O. Rd. on request of Atty. William S. Foulks.

McCullough was arrested at 4:15 a. m. Friday after the auto he was driving struck a parked car and the Post Office annex on Smith St., knocking out the telephone system.

He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident and driving without an operator's permit. His license expired May 20, police said.

Police said McCullough, driving a car owned by Evelyn J. Weisenberger of North Lima, struck the car of James Pollock, 695 Lincoln Ave., parked at Smith St. and Green Ln.

McCullough was taken into custody five minutes later on Dresden Ave., officers said.

Municipal Court records show McCullough was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail on Nov. 24 after being found guilty of drunken driving. A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was dismissed on the request of Asst. Solicitor Richard Clark.

The new year wasn't very old before the city recorded its first traffic mishap.

Ruby H. Morris, 1208 Pennsylvania Ave., told police she was headed east on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." at 1 a. m. when a westbound car forced her from the road and into a pile of piping, damaging the left side of the auto.

The entire front end of a 1958 delivery truck owned by David R. Tice, 26, of Dairy Rd. was smashed when he ran into a moving Pennsylvania Railroad train at the Walnut St. crossing at 5:22 a. m., police said.

Police had no details on the mishap but said Tice wasn't hurt when the truck struck the freight. The train crew included H. O. Patterson as engineer and D. B. Seal conductor.

Judge Chertoff Lists Changes

Municipal Court To Get New Look

Sweeping changes in the conduct of Municipal Court sessions — some of them the result of new state laws intended to safeguard the constitutional rights of defendants and others intended to lend dignity to what essentially is a solemn proceeding — were announced Friday by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff shortly after he assumed office.

The judge explained that a new procedure in which he will explain legal rights both individually and collectively to all defendants brought before him is the result of a law enacted at the last session of the State Legislature and timed to take effect Jan. 1.

THE JUDGE EXPLAINED he has prepared a written statement based on the new law which he will read to the prisoners each morning when criminal court proceedings commence. In addition, he said, the defendants' rights under Ohio and U. S. laws will be explained to them individually.

For the first time, Municipal Court defendants will be allowed to enter an alternative plea of "no contest" in addition to the traditional "guilty" or "not guilty." In entering a plea of "no contest," the defendant leaves the burden of proof on the prosecution and indicates that he will not offer any dispute to those facts, the judge pointed out.

The statement which the judge will read to the defendants at each session follows:

"Under the laws of the state of Ohio, it now becomes incumbent upon me to make this announcement:

"1. EACH OF you persons who stand accused at this time will be informed by the court of the nature of the charge against you; (b) the identity of the complainant, and (c) I will permit you or your counsel, if you have one, to see and read the affidavit or complaint or a copy thereof.

"2. Each of you has the right to be represented by counsel and if you so desire I will continue your case in order to enable you to secure counsel.

"3. You have the right at this time to plead: (a) guilty; (b) not guilty; (c) no contest, and you may have the right to a trial by jury, provided, however, that in asking for a trial by jury you make a written demand for it.

"4. As you individually come before me, I shall explain to you the effects of your pleas and if you are charged with a felony I shall further inform you of such rights as you are entitled to at this hearing."

For the first time in the history of the court, the judge will wear a robe on the bench and each session will be opened with the traditional cry of "Hear ye, hear ye . . . ." from Bailiff Wilbert Taylor.

AFTER SWEARING IN. Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, wearing the robe of his office, exchanges a congratulatory handshake with Wilbur Harmon, his clerk, after the new judge conducted his first court session Friday. A few moments before, the Judge had administered the oath of office to Harmon and others of his staff.

THE COURT'S office will open each day at 8:30 a. m., a half hour earlier than was the custom in the past, in order that the cases can be prepared for the opening of the criminal court session at 9. The sessions will start promptly at 9 each morning unless unusual circumstances make it impossible on a few occasions, the new judge said. The court will close at 4, a half hour earlier than was the previous custom.

The court will continue to hold Saturday sessions for a time at least, but the possibility of closing the court from Friday to Monday is being considered seriously, the judge said. In the past, the court has operated from 9 a. m. to noon on Saturdays. The sessions generally consisted of only a few men charged with intoxication, Judge Chertoff remarked.

While court is in session, the three doors leading in from the corridor will be closed to keep out extraneous noises and distractions, the judge said. Formerly, the three double doors leading into the corridor were left open.

WHEN A WITNESS takes an oath, he will be required to place his left hand on the Bible as he raises the right hand, the judge said. Formerly, the oaths were administered without use of the Bible.

In another innovation, the judge has prepared a list of bonds that will be required for persons charged with violation of any city ordinance.

Listing dozens of violations, it covers four legal size pages. Copies of the bond list will be furnished to police deskmen, the court clerk, the solicitor and possibly to every attorney in the city, the judge said.

In that way, a prisoner can be advised immediately what bond will be required in cases were an arrest is made at night and the defendant wishes to arrange for release from jail pending his appearance in court, the judge explained.

IT WILL BE unnecessary for police to telephone the court clerk or the judge to learn what bond should be required in cases of arrests made at times when the court is closed, Judge Chertoff said.

The new list fixes a minimum bond of $31 for any offense, even if the ordinance provides a penalty of only $10 and $6 costs, the judge pointed out.

In the past, standard bonds were established by custom for common violations, but in the case of an arrest on an unusual or serious charge, police generally got in touch with court officials to find how much surety would be required for a defendant's appearance.

Instead of occupying a chair at the end of the jury box, the bailiff will be furnished with a table and chair placed against the south wall of the court.

A bench for prisoners will be provided inside the railing that separates the court from the audience. A place will be provided for the solicitor at a counsel table facing the bench — a change from the custom in which the prosecutor stood alongside the bench to present his cases.

Driver Fined On 4 Charges

A young Anderson Blvd. driver was fined a total of $185 and costs this morning in Municipal Court on 4 charges filed after he attempted to assault a policeman with his car when the officer sought to question him.

William Landy, 22, of 1816 Anderson Blvd. was fined $100 and costs on a charge of assaulting an officer with an auto, $50 and costs for resisting arrest, $25 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident and $10 and costs for driving with improper registration.

Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. and Patrolman S. E. Hayes were on cruiser duty when they received a call of a disturbance at an East End home and were told to pick up Landy.

Burson testified he saw Landy's car at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. and Hayes cut the cruiser in front of the car. Burson said he ran to the car and grabbed the door handle but Landy reversed and began backing up.

With his hand caught in the handle, Burson said he was dragged 60 feet before freeing himself.

When he fell to the street, the officer said, Landy cut the wheels toward him but he rolled out of the path of the car with the bumper striking his foot.

The officers said during the chase, Landy struck a parked car owned by William Shinton of Lisbon St. Ext., causing extensive damage to the left rear and side of the convertible. There also was extensive damage to the right front side of Landy's car owned by Maurice Stowers, 1711 Park Ave., police said.

Add it, minced, to egg-salad or tuna sandwiches that are to go into the lunch box; to potato or chicken salad; to cottage cheese to be served with a fruit salad; to a cream-cheese and clam mixture that is to be used as a spread for crackers.

to win the nomination at the July 11 convention in Los Angeles.

Because of this the Massachusetts senator is expected to make wide ranging forays into presidential primaries. He has been unable to lure any of his prospective opponents into his New England stronghold and apparently will run alone on the Democratic ticket in New Hampshire's March 8 Democratic primary.

Unless there are unforeseen developments he will take on Humphrey in Wisconsin's April 5 voting. The whole field of aspirants — and some who claim they are not — apparently will be entered in Oregon's May 20 free-for-all, where a man's name can be entered without his consent.

Kennedy also may enter Ohio's May 3 primary, despite the current opposition of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, himself a Catholic, who wants Ohio's favorite son designation. Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) also may seek favorite son status in the Ohio balloting.

Chinese Make New Offer On Border Issue

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping told India today Red China needs "a long-term peaceful international environment" to build up its economy and made a new offer to settle their border dispute.

But the plan broadcast by Peiping called for forces of each side to withdraw 12½ miles from present positions, a proposal rejected twice previously by India.

Prime Minister Nehru turned down the Red Chinese previously because such a withdrawal would leave Red Chinese troops still deep in territory India regards as its own.

Premier Chou En-lai again suggested a meeting with Nehru to agree on some principles on the boundary dispute. Nehru, in rejecting such a meeting recently, said he wants these principles worked out in advance.

Fighter Fined $25, Hearing Due 2nd

A city serviceman was fined $25 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a fighting charge while his opponent will receive a hearing Tuesday at 10 a. m. after entering a not guilty plea.

Vance M. Thomas, 22, of 1011 Florence St., stationed with the Air Force at Bunker Hill, Ind., pleaded guilty to the fighting charge. A second charge of intoxication was dismissed at the request of Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark.

Frank Bookman, 19, of R. D. 2 entered the not guilty plea. The pair was taken into custody at 2:19 a. m. Friday at St. Clair Ave. and E. 6th St.

Edward Wright, 950 Railroad St., drew fines totaling $75 and costs after participating in his third fight early Friday.

Wright was fined $25 and costs for fighting and $50 and costs for resisting arrest. He was cited about 2 a. m. in the Diamond Cafe, police said.

Nancy Clay, 23, of Chester, cited at the same time, forfeited a $31 bond on a charge of interfering with a police officer.

Judge Chertoff Lists Changes

Municipal Court To Get New Look

Sweeping changes in the conduct of Municipal Court sessions — some of them the result of new state laws intended to safeguard the constitutional rights of defendants and others intended to lend dignity to what essentially is a solemn proceeding — were announced Friday by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff shortly after he assumed office.

The judge explained that a new procedure in which he will explain legal rights both individually and collectively to all defendants brought before him is the result of a law enacted at the last session of the State Legislature and timed to take effect Jan. 1.

THE JUDGE EXPLAINED he has prepared a written statement based on the new law which he will read to the prisoners each morning when criminal court proceedings commence. In addition, he said, the defendants' rights under Ohio and U. S. laws will be explained to them individually.

For the first time, Municipal Court defendants will be allowed to enter an alternative plea of "no contest" in addition to the traditional "guilty" or "not guilty." In entering a plea of "no contest," the defendant leaves the burden of proof on the prosecution and indicates that he will not offer any dispute to those facts, the judge pointed out.

The statement which the judge will read to the defendants at each session follows:

"Under the laws of the state of Ohio, it now becomes incumbent upon me to make this announcement:

"1. EACH OF you persons who stand accused at this time will be informed by the court of the nature of the charge against you; (b) the identity of the complainant, and (c) I will permit you or your counsel, if you have one, to see and read the affidavit or complaint or a copy thereof.

"2. Each of you has the right to be represented by counsel and if you so desire I will continue your case in order to enable you to secure counsel.

"3. You have the right at this time to plead: (a) guilty; (b) not guilty; (c) no contest, and you may have the right to a trial by jury, provided, however, that in asking for a trial by jury you make a written demand for it.

"4. As you individually come before me, I shall explain to you the effects of your pleas and if you are charged with a felony I shall further inform you of such rights as you are entitled to at this hearing."

For the first time in the history of the court, the judge will wear a robe on the bench and each session will be opened with the traditional cry of "Hear ye, hear ye . . . ." from Bailiff Wilbert Taylor.

AFTER SWEARING IN. Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, wearing the robe of his office, exchanges a congratulatory handshake with Wilbur Harmon, his clerk, after the new judge conducted his first court session Friday. A few moments before, the Judge had administered the oath of office to Harmon and others of his staff.

THE COURT'S office will open each day at 8:30 a. m., a half hour earlier than was the custom in the past, in order that the cases can be prepared for the opening of the criminal court session at 9. The sessions will start promptly at 9 each morning unless unusual circumstances make it impossible on a few occasions, the new judge said. The court will close at 4, a half hour earlier than was the previous custom.

The court will continue to hold Saturday sessions for a time at least, but the possibility of closing the court from Friday to Monday is being considered seriously, the judge said. In the past, the court has operated from 9 a. m. to noon on Saturdays. The sessions generally consisted of only a few men charged with intoxication, Judge Chertoff remarked.

While court is in session, the three doors leading in from the corridor will be closed to keep out extraneous noises and distractions, the judge said. Formerly, the three double doors leading into the corridor were left open.

WHEN A WITNESS takes an oath, he will be required to place his left hand on the Bible as he raises the right hand, the judge said. Formerly, the oaths were administered without use of the Bible.

In another innovation, the judge has prepared a list of bonds that will be required for persons charged with violation of any city ordinance.

Listing dozens of violations, it covers four legal size pages. Copies of the bond list will be furnished to police deskmen, the court clerk, the solicitor and possibly to every attorney in the city, the judge said.

In that way, a prisoner can be advised immediately what bond will be required in cases were an arrest is made at night and the defendant wishes to arrange for release from jail pending his appearance in court, the judge explained.

IT WILL BE unnecessary for police to telephone the court clerk or the judge to learn what bond should be required in cases of arrests made at times when the court is closed, Judge Chertoff said.

The new list fixes a minimum bond of $31 for any offense, even if the ordinance provides a penalty of only $10 and $6 costs, the judge pointed out.

In the past, standard bonds were established by custom for common violations, but in the case of an arrest on an unusual or serious charge, police generally got in touch with court officials to find how much surety would be required for a defendant's appearance.

Instead of occupying a chair at the end of the jury box, the bailiff will be furnished with a table and chair placed against the south wall of the court.

A bench for prisoners will be provided inside the railing that separates the court from the audience. A place will be provided for the solicitor at a counsel table facing the bench — a change from the custom in which the prosecutor stood alongside the bench to present his cases.

The Purpose Of The 'Coy Period'

Among the people surprised by Nelson Rockefeller's withdrawal from the presidential race are those who suddenly found they had some crow to eat.

They are the citizens with short patience for men who make all kinds of signs like candidates but refuse to say they actually are candidates. A citizen who gets his dander up over the "coy period" that precedes political campaigns is best identified by this sort of remark:

"Everybody knows so-and-so is going to run. Why doesn't he come out and say so and stop all this phony fiddling around?"

Gov. Rockefeller's decision shows such indignant observers that the fiddling around is not always phony. When a politician says he has a lot of things to think about before he makes up his mind, he probably is telling the truth and not just stalling for time.

The basic thing he must think about is whether he can win. Related to that is how much it will cost him in money, time, energy and disrupted family life to win. Mixed in with those factors are the effect on his party and the number of friendships he is likely to lose if he makes the fight.

All these must be weighed with the chilling thought in the background that his judgment might fail him and he would lose after all. What would that cost him in terms of the future?

Would-be candidates for most lesser offices can do this kind of figuring quietly without making over that-tossing motions. But not presidential candidates.

Before a man can cast a serious eye on the top political job in the nation he must occupy a position of some prominence. And a prominent man cannot travel around the country sounding out his opinions on critical issues, learning what grass roots political feeling is or seeking necessary commitments from party leaders and still keep secret what he is up to.

Indeed, the secret must be out before he can garner some of the information he needs to make his decision.

Once the secret is out, hundreds of people jump to the conclusion the would-be candidate himself is wisely trying to avoid jumping to: That, come fire or flood, he is going to make the race.

If the "coy period" is trying for impatient onlookers, it is infinitely more so for the man personally involved in trying to be President.

But it is inevitable because it is invaluable to him. In Nelson Rockefeller's case, it probably saved his political life.

Enclosed Please Find Check

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's announcement that he will enter his name in Wisconsin's presidential primary has a refreshing ring of candor.

The Minnesotan says he will make a serious bid for Democratic favor in the presidential sweepstakes if financial support is forthcoming.

This marks him at the outset of the race as the financially needy candidate. It will be surprising if any of the other men being mentioned as entrants will make a direct appeal for money, especially Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, whose candidacy —if and when it is announced—will be underwritten in large part by a family fortune.

Thus, as between the two senators from Minnesota and Massachusetts, there is a difference in financial backing that will give one the advantage of not having to worry about wherewithal while the other must try to make his potential lack of wherewithal a vote-getting asset.

The effect of Humphrey's candor may be helpful to everybody concerned if it calls attention to the need for funds in politics. Too often, the public seems to hold the attitude that politics generates its own financial steam; that it does not have to pay its bills like any other organized endeavor.

This results in putting politicians and political parties at the mercy of too few contributors. It causes them to be too solicitous of large concentrations of available funds, such as labor unions. It deprives the masses of American voters of the sense of participation in and responsibility for the two-party system that could overcome the problem of apathy at the polls.

There has been a wide range of proposals for doing something about it, and none of them has been outstandingly successful. Yet the need for popular participation in politics becomes more urgent all the time.

Sen. Humphrey's candor may not produce a shower of certified checks, but it will have served part of its purpose if it stimulates a little thinking about the money that makes the political mare go. Few candidates can command the means to pay their own way in politics. The Kennedys, Harrimans and Rockefellers are the rare exceptions to the rule that someone else must put up the money for one of the trickiest gambles on earth.

Castro On His Way To The Wall

It has been a year since the collapse of Cuba's Batista government, which once represented as much hope as Fidel Castro's 26th of July Movement represented when it took over the Cuban government last Jan. 2.

Now, as then, Americans cannot be sure what is going on inside Cuba. Now, as then, Americans tend to believe what they want to believe. But a year of revolutionary government under Castro has left an indelible impression in the news.

Whatever Castro set out to do that caused him to pick up devoted followers among educated Cuban moderates has not been able to satisfy these people as events moved along. There is no moderation in the Castro revolution now. The moderates are disappearing.

Whether the Communists who have identified themselves with Castro are his guiding force or merely a crowd of conspicuous passengers, they have put the curse of radicalism and violence on his regime.

The fact the young Cuban premier does not seem to have been one of them from the outset and denies he is one of them now only points up the urgency of Cuba's problem. It does not matter greatly now whether Fidel Castro is a Communist or a prisoner of the Communists. Cuba has fallen prey to the violence that Communism begets, and Castro can do nothing about it.

The chant of the Cuban mobs—"The Wall, the Wall, the Wall"—is an omen of evil for Cuba, for Castro and for all the people who dream of replacing bad government with good government in countries where force alone could turn the trick.

Castro, himself, in on his way to the wall. The executioners who are destroying his friends as well as his enemies will get around to him eventually. That is the history of revolutions that run away from moderates and turn into wild horses for the Valkyries of terror and mob violence.

The Valkyries designate the victims of terror with fine impartiality once death becomes the order of the era, as it has in Cuba one year from the date when a corrupt and death-dealing government was put to rout.

The Unwelcome Sound Of Progress

Energetic support is being claimed for a national organization to fret and fume about the problem of airport noise. The problem is growing, which is to be expected.

The unwelcome sound of progress always has been growing in the United States. Only in dying civilizations does the sound of progress diminish from year to year, until finally there is nothing but the howling of wolves in a desert.

Stagecoach lines disturbed the slumber of early settlers with the thud of hooves and the rumble of iron-shod wheels.

Canal boats featured a horrendous clanking of chains and bursts of profanity from short-tempered teamsters.

Railroads marred the somnolence of America with their endless chugging, whistling and clanking.

Automobiles and trucks caused fists to be brandished and punitive laws to be passed, because people who knew their rights simply were not going to be inconvenienced by these nerve-shattering playthings.

There never has been an absence of opposition to progress if it was accompanied by noise. City dwellers have fought the rivet hammer, the street car bell, the steel-shod horse on the milkwagon.

Country dwellers have fought the auto horn, the train whistle, the stentorian purr of the contented diesel, even the electronic blatting of radio and television.

And now there is to be a last-ditch stand against the noise of airplanes. Only one thing about it is fortunate. The last ditch, though always proclaimed, never is reached. The airplane and its noise will survive, and so will long-suffering people whose ancestors didn't think they could outlive the unearthy clatter of the stagecoach.

Mr. Getty's Castle

One of the sentiments a man clings to most tenaciously is that his home is his castle.

Humble or handsome, it is the refuge to which he can repair for relief from the material stresses and frustrations of the corporate world in which he spends his working life.

Consider, then, the plight of international oilman Jean Paul Getty, reputedly the world's richest man and therefore object of the envy of many lowly homeowners.

His new home is a castle, all right—a real one that dates back to the 16th century. But it can hardly be considered an escape from corporate affairs. It is a corporation itself.

It was purchased, according to Mr. Getty, because his London hotel bills were getting out of line—a business consideration. It was incorporated to save taxes—a business consideration. To refurbish it properly, the decorator was made a member of the board of directors—a business consideration.

Where does Mr. Getty go to escape from the rigors of the corporate world?

Being a billionaire, he probably doesn't.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

Many great athletes have been strengthened by faith in God and prayer. In their prayers, they do not ask for victory—but to perform their best in accordance with Divine Will. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is one approach to acquaint high school and college athletes with the power of faith.

The organization was founded in 1954, through the inspiration of Don McClanan, young basketball coach at Eastern Oklahoma A & M. Among outstanding sports figures who have supported the group or attended its annual conference are Branch Rickey, Otto Graham, Robin Roberts, Bob Pettit, Bud Held, Doak Walker, Paul Dietzel, Pete Elliott and Alonzo Stagg.

Two hundred young athletes attended the annual conference in 1956; over 600 attended this year, at Estes Park, Colo. City-wide programs also have been conducted in various communities from Springfield, Mass., to Denver. And Fellowship Athletes have spoken of sports and Christianity—and the relationship between the two—to more than 150,000 youngsters in 15 states this year.

With headquarters in Kansas City, McClanan's Fellowship is spreading its gospel to youth across America.

A Review Of The Social Security Program

By W. Joynes MacFarlan

Social security taxes paid by about 75 million Americans have gone up again.

The maximum increase on covered workers is $24 a year. There will be a similar maximum increase on employers for each worker. For self - employed, the maximum raise is $36.

The new rate is 3 per cent on the first $4,800 of annual earnings for both employes and employers and 4½ per cent for self - employed up to the same annual earnings.

This is the first time the general tax rate has reached 3 per cent, although the original Social Security Act of 1935 contained provisions to increase the rate on each to that level by 1949.

In fact, the whole program covering workers and their families and disabled workers and their families is vastly different from the one inaugurated under the original Social Security Act of 1935.

The act provided that retirement benefits would be paid only to retired workers at age 65 or older, with the first payments to be made in 1942.

CONGRESS began changing the program in 1939, moving up the first payments to 1940 and providing benefits for members of families of retired or deceased workers.

Further major alterations were voted successively in 1950, 1952, 1954, 1956 and 1958 — all election years.

More changes may be in store next year, also an election year. Currently proposals under consideration center on medical care for the aged rather than on increases in the cash benefits.

The broad program is estimated to have provided about $10,200,000,000 in cash benefits during 1959 to more than 13½ million beneficiaries.

That compares with 35 million dollars paid out in 1940, the first year any benefits were payable.

The special social security tax to finance the program first became effective Jan. 1, 1937. That year the tax receipts amounted to 514 million dollars.

For 1959, the tax receipts were estimated at about $9,600,000,000, including those that finance disability benefits inaugurated by 1956 changes in the law.

THROUGH THE years the tax receipts in excess of current expenditures have been deposited in special trust funds at interest. These receipts and the interest completely finance the program, including administrative costs. The huge financial operation is not included in the government's annual budget.

Expenditures to survivors and the retired have exceeded taxes collected for that purpose for a couple of years, but the new tax increase is expected to more than restore the balance over the next three years.

Under existing law there also will be further tax increases of one - half per cent each on employes and employers every three years through 1969, at which time the rate will be 4½ per cent on worker and employer, or a total of 9 per cent.

Similarly, the rate on self - employed will go up three - fourths per cent every three years to a level of 16 per cent.

A trust fund for the old age and survivors insurance, the major program of the nine involved in social security law, stood at $23,028,877,904 on June 30, 1957. By Sept. 30 of last year it had been reduced to $20,880,789,000.

The trust fund to finance case benefits to disabled workers 50 or older and for their dependents has been increasing since its establishment in 1956 and stood at $1,792,088,000 on Sept. 30.

AS THE TAX bite has increased through the years the benefits have been increased, additional groups of workers have been covered and additional dependents have been made eligible for benefits.

Under the original program the tax rate was 1 per cent on the first $3,000 of annual earnings, applying to both employes and employers. The rate began to move upward in 1950, becoming 1½ per cent on the first $3,000.

The taxable base was increased to $3,600 in 1951. There were further increases in the rate or expansions of the taxable base effective in 1954, 1955, 1957 and 1959.

The original program was estimated to apply initially to about 29 million workers. By the end of the first year of issuance of social security cards in 1937, 32 million persons or 58 per cent of the work force — had obtained them.

The present estimate is that there are 59 million workers paying social security taxes in any one month of the year and that in the course of a year as many as 75 million workers and employers pay some amount of such taxes.

The 59 million is figured to be 87 per cent of the work force. That means that nearly 9 out of 10 working people are covered by the program.

The only large groups not now in it or eligible to be are medical doctors and federal civil service employes.

However, there are some two million employes of state and local governments who have not availed themselves of their legal opportunity as groups to elect to be covered.

The Ohio Farm Picture

Some Disappointments May Be In Store

COLUMBUS

The new year may hold some disappointments for Ohio's farmers.

Costs—for labor, farm equipment and other items—still are creeping up, while the prices the farmer gets for his produce are not improving.

As a result, suggests Dr. Mervin G. Smith of Ohio State University, the net income of Ohio farmers probably will be down slightly from 1959, perhaps 3 to 5 per cent.

Dr. Smith, chairman of the university's department of agricultural economics and rural sociology, finds that hardly cheering, because the net farm income in Ohio this year was 3 to 10 per cent lower than in 1958.

"Of course, some farmers did better than others, depending on what they were producing," Dr. Smith adds. "But hogs and poultry income probably was down more than 10 per cent this year, mainly because the large supply forced prices down."

Market News Service, a joint state - federal agency, said egg prices at times in 1959 were the lowest in 20 years.

Income from dairy products was stronger at the close of the year than at the beginning, economists at Ohio State and the U.S. Department of Agriculture divisions here agree.

And they say it generally has been a good year for crop production. There was a record corn crop, although wheat production was off about a third. Federal price supports appear to have held up income fairly well. However, it was down over-all.

Beef cattle income, down a little in 1959, may go a little lower in 1960 because the number of head remains large.

Rockefeller's Withdrawal

By Raymond Molev

Governor Appears To Have Acted Wisely

When the news of Nelson Rockefeller's decision to withdraw from the contest for the Republican presidential nomination was announced, there were some who sought the specific time and spot where the governor changed his mind about running. A rumor gained wide currency that it was at a secret meeting with his advisers three days before the announcement. This "smoke-filled room' sort of thinking lives on, despite every consideration of commen sense and human nature.

The better way to judge such a decision is to start with common sense and the obvious facts, although sensational news is made by revealing what is not obvious.

So far as the idea of a sudden choice is concerned, there is disproof of that in the fact that a week before the announcement a draft of withdrawal already had been sketched and discussed with members of the Rockefeller family and old and trusted friends.

THE MOST sensible idea is that the decision had been months in the making. Back in August, at the Governors' Conference in Puerto Rico, it was clear that the Rockefeller hat was not even near the ring. I surmise, considering the habits of the man, it was not even within reach of his hand.

His statement that he would await the polls in November before deciding—however ill-advised so far as dependence upon polls was concerned—was a means of delay while the choices were laid end to end in the governor's mind and until many people had enjoyed the privilege of offering him advice.

The long tour of the states was no overt bid, but a further means of informing him about the yeas and nays involved. The trip did him no harm, it provided further time to think, and it gave his large staff of advisers, public relations people and speech writers something to do in the interim. It is probable that former Gov. Dewey's advice was sought—maybe not. At any rate, it probably was not a decision by Dewey.

It is unnecessary to go into the details of the factors concerned: Rockefeller's low rating in the polls, the polite reticence among the leaders whom he met on the tour, the long and grueling campaign which would be involved in contesting Vice President Nixon in the state primaries — New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Oregon and elsewhere.

It is unnecessary to dilate on the advantage to Rockefeller of a good record as governor and the winning of a re-election in 1962 in New York. There is also the prospect of his availability possibly in 1964 and definitely in 1968.

ALL THESE considerations must have been weighed. But what is likely to be overlooked is the nature of the man, shaped as it has been by the extraordinary life into which he was born and in which he has lived.

A son and grandson of very, very rich and famous men lives a relatively isolated life. As a child, a boy and a man he is a marked and extraordinary person. Time-servers, sycophants, and self-servers gravitate to him. Advice pours in, not activated by considerations of his welfare but by other motives.

If he is smart, as Nelson Rockefeller clearly is, he will learn to rates those who come in contact with him. He will know whose advice, in his private business and public affairs, had proved most reliable in the hindsight of the events. His circle of intimates grows smaller and smaller, although his contacts are innumerable.

He learns to evaluate those who work for him and to know what they know and do that, in a limited field, is important to him.

It is not a free life. He is not lucky, but in many cases unlucky. A young rich man may want to be an engineer, or a writer, or a doctor, or a lawyer.

But the crushing load of responsibility for the administration of vast properties shuts off the happier destiny. If he has character, as all the Rockefeller grandsons have, he accepts the family responsibility and makes what he can of it.

All this must be considered in determining this momentous choice. At a distance, it seems to be a very wise choice, indeed.

Santa And St. Nick

By Frank Tripp

This is the new year, but thoughts of Christmas still linger on. Thus the following explanation.

Though we use the names of Santa Claus and St. Nicholas synonymously there really is quite broad distinction between the two. Their eras were more than a thousand years apart; but their legends much the same.

St. Nicholas lived about the year 350. He was a patron saint of romantic old Russia. Most that is known of him is legendary, yet he was real.

Santa Claus is barely as old as this country. His name is a corruption of St. Nicholas.

The Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam, now New York, "discovered" our Santa Claus. That is they gave him that name. First Sankt Klaus (for Sankt Nikolas) then San Klaus, finally Santa Claus. The jolly old fellow is that young.

The way is cleared for the "little round belly, that shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly" in the immortal Christmas poem of Dr. Clement Moore. Dr. Moore lived 1779-1863 in the Chelsea section of Mahattan, then way out in the country, now West 23rd St. He was an author and teacher of Oriental and Greek literature.

IN HIS POEM, as perennial as Christmas itself, the doctor shyly talked from his heart, he thought just to his children. He was a learned man, and bit ashamed of "The Night Before Christmas." But, as newspapers do, the Troy Record dug it out and printed it. No Christmas message has been more printed since. Author Moore's other works rest in relative obscurity.

The other name for "The Night Before Christmas" is "A Visit from St. Nicholas." Nowhere is Santa Claus mentioned in it. He had not yet come to be known by that name; but all of the nice things we know about him were familiar to children then. The poem says so.

In a way that poem links our Santa Claus and St. Nicholas who lived 1,400 years before. St. Nicholas was a bishop, the patron of children and the young. His festival was on Dec. 6 and is associated with a custom sometimes mimicked in our cities today.

On that day there was chosen a Boy Bishop, who dressed in bishop's robes and held mock jurisdiction over the young until Holy Innocents' Day, Dec. 28. Kept them good for Christmas. The Feast of St. Nicholas was celebrated many places in the Old World.

St. Nicholas also was the protector of merchants, sailors and travelers. He's stuck pretty loyal to the merchants, the Christmas ads reveal.

BUT HOW come that the modern edition of St. Nicholas is so mysterious, gives so anonymously and keeps out of sight? I mean the real Santa Claus — not his helpers whom the children see. Always tell them they're just helpers, lest they see the cotton whiskers drop off.

Legend has it that St. Nicholas concealed his good deeds and that the custom of secret gifts from Santa Claus had an origin which is little known.

There is no genuine historic connection between Christmas and Santa Claus. At first the anonymous giving custom was observed on St. Nicholas Eve, Dec. 5; then later moved to Christmas. Thereafter St. Nicholas and Christmas became inseparable in childhood's mind.

But it was not gifts to children that brought the secret giving about. It was something even nobler than that, the story goes.

Human nature has never changed and one time, 1,600 years ago, three young women who coveted things they could not have were minded to obtain them the immoral way.

On the eve of their life of shame St. Nicholas of Bari, Bishop of Myra in Asia Minor, surreptitiously gave them gifts of the things they craved, which kept them to the narrow path.

Thus, and so foreign to the custom now, came about the Christmas stocking and Saint Nick — our Santa Claus, so generous, foxy and so loved.

These are legends — nothing more.

It has been a year since the collapse of Cuba's Batista government, which once represented as much hope as Fidel Castro's 26th of July Movement represented when it took over the Cuban government last Jan. 2.

Now, as then, Americans cannot be sure what is going on inside Cuba. Now, as then, Americans tend to believe what they want to believe. But a year of revolutionary government under Castro has left an indelible impression in the news.

Whatever Castro set out to do that caused him to pick up devoted followers among educated Cuban moderates has not been able to satisfy these people as events moved along. There is no moderation in the Castro revolution now. The moderates are disappearing.

Whether the Communists who have identified themselves with Castro are his guiding force or merely a crowd of conspicuous passengers, they have put the curse of radicalism and violence on his regime.

The fact the young Cuban premier does not seem to have been one of them from the outset and denies he is one of them now only points up the urgency of Cuba's problem. It does not matter greatly now whether Fidel Castro is a Communist or a prisoner of the Communists. Cuba has fallen prey to the violence that Communism begets, and Castro can do nothing about it.

The chant of the Cuban mobs—"The Wall, the Wall, the Wall"—is an omen of evil for Cuba, for Castro and for all the people who dream of replacing bad government with good government in countries where force alone could turn the trick.

Castro, himself, in on his way to the wall. The executioners who are destroying his friends as well as his enemies will get around to him eventually. That is the history of revolutions that run away from moderates and turn into wild horses for the Valkyries of terror and mob violence.

The Valkyries designate the victims of terror with fine impartiality once death becomes the order of the era, as it has in Cuba one year from the date when a corrupt and death-dealing government was put to rout.

The Unwelcome Sound Of Progress

Energetic support is being claimed for a national organization to fret and fume about the problem of airport noise. The problem is growing, which is to be expected.

The unwelcome sound of progress always has been growing in the United States. Only in dying civilizations does the sound of progress diminish from year to year, until finally there is nothing but the howling of wolves in a desert.

Stagecoach lines disturbed the slumber of early settlers with the thud of hooves and the rumble of iron-shod wheels.

Canal boats featured a horrendous clanking of chains and bursts of profanity from short-tempered teamsters.

Railroads marred the somnolence of America with their endless chugging, whistling and clanking.

Automobiles and trucks caused fists to be brandished and punitive laws to be passed, because people who knew their rights simply were not going to be inconvenienced by these nerve-shattering playthings.

There never has been an absence of opposition to progress if it was accompanied by noise. City dwellers have fought the rivet hammer, the street car bell, the steel-shod horse on the milkwagon.

Country dwellers have fought the auto horn, the train whistle, the stentorian purr of the contented diesel, even the electronic blatting of radio and television.

And now there is to be a last-ditch stand against the noise of airplanes. Only one thing about it is fortunate. The last ditch, though always proclaimed, never is reached. The airplane and its noise will survive, and so will long-suffering people whose ancestors didn't think they could outlive the unearthy clatter of the stagecoach.

Mr. Getty's Castle

One of the sentiments a man clings to most tenaciously is that his home is his castle.

Humble or handsome, it is the refuge to which he can repair for relief from the material stresses and frustrations of the corporate world in which he spends his working life.

Consider, then, the plight of international oilman Jean Paul Getty, reputedly the world's richest man and therefore object of the envy of many lowly homeowners.

His new home is a castle, all right—a real one that dates back to the 16th century. But it can hardly be considered an escape from corporate affairs. It is a corporation itself.

It was purchased, according to Mr. Getty, because his London hotel bills were getting out of line—a business consideration. It was incorporated to save taxes—a business consideration. To refurbish it properly, the decorator was made a member of the board of directors—a business consideration.

Where does Mr. Getty go to escape from the rigors of the corporate world?

Being a billionaire, he probably doesn't.

Odd Facts

Twenty feet of vegetable matter and hundreds of years of time are required to make one foot of coal in the ground. Thus, a seam of coal averaging five feet in thickness has been formed from 100 feet of dead vegetable growth, and the process has taken 1,500 years or more.

The United States' most northerly college — and the most northerly in the world — is the Alaska Agricultural College and School of Mines, at Fairbanks, Alaska.

According to observation, a man retains his maximum height until sometime between the ages of 36 and 40, and thereafter his "structure" begins to settle down slightly.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

Many great athletes have been strengthened by faith in God and prayer. In their prayers, they do not ask for victory—but to perform their best in accordance with Divine Will. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is one approach to acquaint high school and college athletes with the power of faith.

The organization was founded in 1954, through the inspiration of Don McClanan, young basketball coach at Eastern Oklahoma A & M. Among outstanding sports figures who have supported the group or attended its annual conference are Branch Rickey, Otto Graham, Robin Roberts, Bob Pettit, Bud Held, Doak Walker, Paul Dietzel, Pete Elliott and Alonzo Stagg.

Two hundred young athletes attended the annual conference in 1956; over 600 attended this year, at Estes Park, Colo. City-wide programs also have been conducted in various communities from Springfield, Mass., to Denver. And Fellowship Athletes have spoken of sports and Christianity—and the relationship between the two—to more than 150,000 youngsters in 15 states this year.

With headquarters in Kansas City, McClanan's Fellowship is spreading its gospel to youth across America.

A Review Of The Social Security Program

By W. Joynes MacFarlan

Social security taxes paid by about 75 million Americans have gone up again.

The maximum increase on covered workers is $24 a year. There will be a similar maximum increase on employers for each worker. For self - employed, the maximum raise is $36.

The new rate is 3 per cent on the first $4,800 of annual earnings for both employes and employers and 4½ per cent for self - employed up to the same annual earnings.

This is the first time the general tax rate has reached 3 per cent, although the original Social Security Act of 1935 contained provisions to increase the rate on each to that level by 1949.

In fact, the whole program covering workers and their families and disabled workers and their families is vastly different from the one inaugurated under the original Social Security Act of 1935.

The act provided that retirement benefits would be paid only to retired workers at age 65 or older, with the first payments to be made in 1942.

CONGRESS began changing the program in 1939, moving up the first payments to 1940 and providing benefits for members of families of retired or deceased workers.

Further major alterations were voted successively in 1950, 1952, 1954, 1956 and 1958 — all election years.

More changes may be in store next year, also an election year. Currently proposals under consideration center on medical care for the aged rather than on increases in the cash benefits.

The broad program is estimated to have provided about $10,200,000,000 in cash benefits during 1959 to more than 13½ million beneficiaries.

That compares with 35 million dollars paid out in 1940, the first year any benefits were payable.

The special social security tax to finance the program first became effective Jan. 1, 1937. That year the tax receipts amounted to 514 million dollars.

For 1959, the tax receipts were estimated at about $9,600,000,000, including those that finance disability benefits inaugurated by 1956 changes in the law.

THROUGH THE years the tax receipts in excess of current expenditures have been deposited in special trust funds at interest. These receipts and the interest completely finance the program, including administrative costs. The huge financial operation is not included in the government's annual budget.

Expenditures to survivors and the retired have exceeded taxes collected for that purpose for a couple of years, but the new tax increase is expected to more than restore the balance over the next three years.

Under existing law there also will be further tax increases of one - half per cent each on employes and employers every three years through 1969, at which time the rate will be 4½ per cent on worker and employer, or a total of 9 per cent.

Similarly, the rate on self - employed will go up three - fourths per cent every three years to a level of 16 per cent.

A trust fund for the old age and survivors insurance, the major program of the nine involved in social security law, stood at $23,028,877,904 on June 30, 1957. By Sept. 30 of last year it had been reduced to $20,880,789,000.

The trust fund to finance case benefits to disabled workers 50 or older and for their dependents has been increasing since its establishment in 1956 and stood at $1,792,088,000 on Sept. 30.

AS THE TAX bite has increased through the years the benefits have been increased, additional groups of workers have been covered and additional dependents have been made eligible for benefits.

Under the original program the tax rate was 1 per cent on the first $3,000 of annual earnings, applying to both employes and employers. The rate began to move upward in 1950, becoming 1½ per cent on the first $3,000.

The taxable base was increased to $3,600 in 1951. There were further increases in the rate or expansions of the taxable base effective in 1954, 1955, 1957 and 1959.

The original program was estimated to apply initially to about 29 million workers. By the end of the first year of issuance of social security cards in 1937, 32 million persons or 58 per cent of the work force — had obtained them.

The present estimate is that there are 59 million workers paying social security taxes in any one month of the year and that in the course of a year as many as 75 million workers and employers pay some amount of such taxes.

The 59 million is figured to be 87 per cent of the work force. That means that nearly 9 out of 10 working people are covered by the program.

The only large groups not now in it or eligible to be are medical doctors and federal civil service employes.

However, there are some two million employes of state and local governments who have not availed themselves of their legal opportunity as groups to elect to be covered.

The Ohio Farm Picture

COLUMBUS

The new year may hold some disappointments for Ohio's farmers.

Costs—for labor, farm equipment and other items—still are creeping up, while the prices the farmer gets for his produce are not improving.

As a result, suggests Dr. Mervin G. Smith of Ohio State University, the net income of Ohio farmers probably will be down slightly from 1959, perhaps 3 to 5 per cent.

Dr. Smith, chairman of the university's department of agricultural economics and rural sociology, finds that hardly cheering, because the net farm income in Ohio this year was 3 to 10 per cent lower than in 1958.

"Of course, some farmers did better than others, depending on what they were producing," Dr. Smith adds. "But hogs and poultry income probably was down more than 10 per cent this year, mainly because the large supply forced prices down."

Market News Service, a joint state - federal agency, said egg prices at times in 1959 were the lowest in 20 years.

Income from dairy products was stronger at the close of the year than at the beginning, economists at Ohio State and the U.S. Department of Agriculture divisions here agree.

And they say it generally has been a good year for crop production. There was a record corn crop, although wheat production was off about a third. Federal price supports appear to have held up income fairly well. However, it was down over-all.

Beef cattle income, down a little in 1959, may go a little lower in 1960 because the number of head remains large.

Rockefeller's Withdrawal

By Raymond Molev

Governor Appears To Have Acted Wisely

When the news of Nelson Rockefeller's decision to withdraw from the contest for the Republican presidential nomination was announced, there were some who sought the specific time and spot where the governor changed his mind about running. A rumor gained wide currency that it was at a secret meeting with his advisers three days before the announcement. This "smoke-filled room' sort of thinking lives on, despite every consideration of commen sense and human nature.

The better way to judge such a decision is to start with common sense and the obvious facts, although sensational news is made by revealing what is not obvious.

So far as the idea of a sudden choice is concerned, there is disproof of that in the fact that a week before the announcement a draft of withdrawal already had been sketched and discussed with members of the Rockefeller family and old and trusted friends.

THE MOST sensible idea is that the decision had been months in the making. Back in August, at the Governors' Conference in Puerto Rico, it was clear that the Rockefeller hat was not even near the ring. I surmise, considering the habits of the man, it was not even within reach of his hand.

His statement that he would await the polls in November before deciding—however ill-advised so far as dependence upon polls was concerned—was a means of delay while the choices were laid end to end in the governor's mind and until many people had enjoyed the privilege of offering him advice.

The long tour of the states was no overt bid, but a further means of informing him about the yeas and nays involved. The trip did him no harm, it provided further time to think, and it gave his large staff of advisers, public relations people and speech writers something to do in the interim. It is probable that former Gov. Dewey's advice was sought—maybe not. At any rate, it probably was not a decision by Dewey.

It is unnecessary to go into the details of the factors concerned: Rockefeller's low rating in the polls, the polite reticence among the leaders whom he met on the tour, the long and grueling campaign which would be involved in contesting Vice President Nixon in the state primaries — New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Oregon and elsewhere.

It is unnecessary to dilate on the advantage to Rockefeller of a good record as governor and the winning of a re-election in 1962 in New York. There is also the prospect of his availability possibly in 1964 and definitely in 1968.

ALL THESE considerations must have been weighed. But what is likely to be overlooked is the nature of the man, shaped as it has been by the extraordinary life into which he was born and in which he has lived.

A son and grandson of very, very rich and famous men lives a relatively isolated life. As a child, a boy and a man he is a marked and extraordinary person. Time-servers, sycophants, and self-servers gravitate to him. Advice pours in, not activated by considerations of his welfare but by other motives.

If he is smart, as Nelson Rockefeller clearly is, he will learn to rates those who come in contact with him. He will know whose advice, in his private business and public affairs, had proved most reliable in the hindsight of the events. His circle of intimates grows smaller and smaller, although his contacts are innumerable.

He learns to evaluate those who work for him and to know what they know and do that, in a limited field, is important to him.

It is not a free life. He is not lucky, but in many cases unlucky. A young rich man may want to be an engineer, or a writer, or a doctor, or a lawyer.

But the crushing load of responsibility for the administration of vast properties shuts off the happier destiny. If he has character, as all the Rockefeller grandsons have, he accepts the family responsibility and makes what he can of it.

All this must be considered in determining this momentous choice. At a distance, it seems to be a very wise choice, indeed.

Santa And St. Nick

By Frank Tripp

This is the new year, but thoughts of Christmas still linger on. Thus the following explanation.

Though we use the names of Santa Claus and St. Nicholas synonymously there really is quite broad distinction between the two. Their eras were more than a thousand years apart; but their legends much the same.

St. Nicholas lived about the year 350. He was a patron saint of romantic old Russia. Most that is known of him is legendary, yet he was real.

Santa Claus is barely as old as this country. His name is a corruption of St. Nicholas.

The Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam, now New York, "discovered" our Santa Claus. That is they gave him that name. First Sankt Klaus (for Sankt Nikolas) then San Klaus, finally Santa Claus. The jolly old fellow is that young.

The way is cleared for the "little round belly, that shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly" in the immortal Christmas poem of Dr. Clement Moore. Dr. Moore lived 1779-1863 in the Chelsea section of Mahattan, then way out in the country, now West 23rd St. He was an author and teacher of Oriental and Greek literature.

IN HIS POEM, as perennial as Christmas itself, the doctor shyly talked from his heart, he thought just to his children. He was a learned man, and bit ashamed of "The Night Before Christmas." But, as newspapers do, the Troy Record dug it out and printed it. No Christmas message has been more printed since. Author Moore's other works rest in relative obscurity.

The other name for "The Night Before Christmas" is "A Visit from St. Nicholas." Nowhere is Santa Claus mentioned in it. He had not yet come to be known by that name; but all of the nice things we know about him were familiar to children then. The poem says so.

In a way that poem links our Santa Claus and St. Nicholas who lived 1,400 years before. St. Nicholas was a bishop, the patron of children and the young. His festival was on Dec. 6 and is associated with a custom sometimes mimicked in our cities today.

On that day there was chosen a Boy Bishop, who dressed in bishop's robes and held mock jurisdiction over the young until Holy Innocents' Day, Dec. 28. Kept them good for Christmas. The Feast of St. Nicholas was celebrated many places in the Old World.

St. Nicholas also was the protector of merchants, sailors and travelers. He's stuck pretty loyal to the merchants, the Christmas ads reveal.

BUT HOW come that the modern edition of St. Nicholas is so mysterious, gives so anonymously and keeps out of sight? I mean the real Santa Claus — not his helpers whom the children see. Always tell them they're just helpers, lest they see the cotton whiskers drop off.

Legend has it that St. Nicholas concealed his good deeds and that the custom of secret gifts from Santa Claus had an origin which is little known.

There is no genuine historic connection between Christmas and Santa Claus. At first the anonymous giving custom was observed on St. Nicholas Eve, Dec. 5; then later moved to Christmas. Thereafter St. Nicholas and Christmas became inseparable in childhood's mind.

But it was not gifts to children that brought the secret giving about. It was something even nobler than that, the story goes.

Human nature has never changed and one time, 1,600 years ago, three young women who coveted things they could not have were minded to obtain them the immoral way.

On the eve of their life of shame St. Nicholas of Bari, Bishop of Myra in Asia Minor, surreptitiously gave them gifts of the things they craved, which kept them to the narrow path.

Thus, and so foreign to the custom now, came about the Christmas stocking and Saint Nick — our Santa Claus, so generous, foxy and so loved.

These are legends — nothing more.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

What Is Positive Thinking?

Once on a speaking tour in the South I was asked by friends to call on a dying man. This man was known to all as a wonderful example of fortitude and faith. "He will inspire you so much that you will never forget him," they told me. As I sat at his bedside I was extremely impressed by his courage. I marveled that a man who knew he was dying could have such a calm and confident attitude. As we talked, the man pointed to a small white pamphlet tied by a ribbon to the bedpost.

Dr. Peale

"I'VE RECEIVED lots of help from that," he said. "It's one of your sermons. I first read it because it's about healing and I wanted healing. I thought that if I prayed and had faith, I could be healed. And then, one night, the Lord seemed to tell me that I would not be healed in my body but that He would heal me in my mind and heart and soul. And He did just that. He healed me by taking all fear from me. I have no fear, even of death. He gave me faith which will take me through, and I have had a spiritual experience in depth and feel a deep peace."

I looked wonderingly at him and saw a light on his face. I realized I was in the presence of a magnificent gentlemen so touched by the grace of God that he could await death without fear.

This is an excellent example — though a sad one — of positive thinking. To be able to meet any situation victoriously is positive thinking in action.

As the author of two books containing this phrase in their titles, "The Power Of Positive Thinking" and "The Amazing Results of Positive Thinking," I am often asked to define the term and explain why I expound positive thinking as the most satisfactory philosophy of life.

Positive thinking may be defined as "tough - mindedness." And it can be contained in one five-letter word, "faith." Or, both definitions may be combined to state that positive thinking is "tough-minded faith."

AND WHAT do I mean by this kind of faith? I mean faith in God, faith in life and faith in yourself. Tough - mindedness is needed to sustain and develop this kind of faith amidst all the discouragements and difficulties of this life. It is only tough-minded faith that never stops believing, never quits and follows through with determination until victory comes.

William James pointed out that there are two types of people — the tenderminded and tough-minded. The tender - minded wince under criticism, retreat before opposition, collapse under difficulty. But not so the tough - minded. They extract all possible know-how from criticism and then forget it. Opposition simply strengthens their mental and spiritual muscles, and they handle difficulty with power.

Since publication of "The Power of Positive Thinking" eight years ago, a good many readers have written letters to me. These have come from everywhere and from all types of people. Some are rich and some are poor; and some of the rich are just as unhappy as some of the poor. Some are famous. A tiny few reached fame easily, but most struggled through opposition and pain to reach their goals. Most of these letters, however, have come from people of average circumstances, leading the everyday kind of lives most of us lead.

But all these letters have one thing in common. In effect, they say, "I needed something strong and creative in my life. So I followed the principles of positive thinking you outlined. You said they weren't new, but you were sure they would work. I tried them and they did work."

The letters thrillingly describe their conquest of difficulties such as pain, guilt, frustration, inferiority, weakness, jealousy, hate and fear. True statements like these from people, about things that have happened to them in their lives, bear witness to the glorious power of God in human life.

Of course, they make you realize the vast amount of trouble there is in the world — but they also give evidence that positive thinking can overcome trouble.

Overdose Of Sleeping Pills?

Actress Margaret Sullivan Claimed Suddenly At 48

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Actress Margaret Sullavan died Friday, a few hours before going on stage as star of a new play. Authorities indicated she may have unintentionally taken an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Sullavan, 48, was found unconscious in her Hotel Taft room. She was dead on arrival at Grace New Haven Community Hospital.

The actress, nervous and upset had been under the care of a physician for two days. James J. Corrigan, New Haven County coroner, said her death might have resulted from an overdose of barbiturates but added: "I do not believe it was a suicide."

Miss Sullavan had been visited by a physician early Friday and again in the afternoon. Her husband, Kenneth Wagg, spoke with her about 2 p.m.

A few hours later, he had to ask the hotel management to force open the door of her room when he found it fastened by a chain lock. Inside he could see her lying in bed, unable to hear him.

Detective Capt. William Holohan said Wagg told him Miss Sullavan wished she could get out of show business.

Wagg got a doctor for her after the Thursday night performance of "Sweet Love Remember'd," which began a pre-Broadway tryout Monday at the Shubert theater.

Dr. Rafi Tofig said he found Miss Sullavan keyed-up and disturbed. He gave her an injection to help her relax, he said. She was still highly nervous when he saw her early Friday afternoon.

MARGARET SULLIVAN
Actress Dies At 48.

Miss Sullavan's trademark in nearly three decades of acting on the stage and in movies was a low-pitched voice. Broadway playgoers first heard it in 1931 as Teddy Simpson in "A Modern Virgin."

She worked in a series of hits, including "If Love Were All' in 1931; "Happy Landing" and "Chrysalis" in 1932; "Bad Manners" and "Dinner at Eight" in 1933, and "Stage Door" in 1936.

Then came seven years in Hollywood, with top roles. At the end of this stint, she came back to Broadway, a bigger name than ever.

Crisp, Sunny Is Weather On City's Holiday

A crisp day with sunny skies—that was the weather for New Year's — as the city's holiday passed relatively quiet with only a couple of minor mishaps reported in traffic. There were a few arrests for intoxication.

Authorities said traffic appeared lighter than usual for a holiday, although good weather usually results in a larger amount of travel. But everybody apparently had enough during the Christmas holidays.

The temperature fell to 28 degrees — below freezing — at dawn but it rose slowly during the day under the warming sun and the afternoon high was 37 degrees.

This morning's low was a degree colder — 27 — but today will see a warmup with a high of 38 to 43 predicted, along with rain this afternoon and tonight.

The temperature may not go below freezing tonight as the range will be 32 to 36. Sunday will be colder with rain changing to snow.

Clouds moved into the western portion of Ohio Friday night and by this morning the cloudiness had spread over all sections of the state. Light rain or drizzle was falling in scattered sections of the state this morning. Temperatures were considerably warmer with readings in the low 30s. Columbus had 34, Cleveland and Cincinnati 35 and Dayton 33.

On this morning's weather map low pressure is centered in northeast Nebraska and high pressure in eastern Virginia. A cold front extends from the low pressure in Nebraska southward into Texas. The low pressure is expected to move northeastward to the Northern Great Lakes with its associated cold front southward across western Ohio by Sunday morning.

Southerly winds in advance of this cold front will bring warmer temperatures to the state today and tonight.

'Iron Is Hot Now'

Some Congressmen Ready To Work Against Payola

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should Congress pass new laws to stamp out payola, rigging and deception in the television and radio industry?

A number of congressmen think so, and they're ready to go to work on it as soon as Congress convenes next Wednesday. "The iron is hot now," says Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill).

But Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers thinks the two government agencies that regulate broadcasting already have the power to do the job. He says they just haven't been using that power as they should. Another group of congressmen agree with Rogers.

Rogers gave that view in a lengthy pre-New Year's report to President Eisenhower, who had asked him for a study of the situation after congressional investigation laid bare a series of TV scandals.

Rogers did urge two immediate changes in the law: (1) make it a federal crime for a TV or radio employe to take payola — accept a bribe to plug a product on the air, and (2) give the Federal munications Commission more leeway in punishing stations that don't live up to the mark.

Now the only punishment is the drastic one of revoking the station's license. Rogers suggested lesser penalties, such as temporary suspension of licenses or granting of conditional licenses.

Springer wants to go much further in tightening up the law. "I hope we get promptly into such things as better programming and control of objectionable advertising," he said. Springer is a member of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which uncovered the TV quiz show mess last year.

Another member, Rep. John E. Moss (Calif), said he agreed with Rogers that the FTC and FCC already have the power to do the job.

But he added, "Unless they show willingness and their own conviction to proceed under existing authority, then I feel Congress must direct by legislation that they do the things necessary."

Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex) said "FCC and FTC simply laid down on the job." He said they should be empowered to assess money fines against offenders in the industry.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich), another committee member wants criminal laws across the board for every kind of deceptive TV and radio practice.

Jewish Board In New York Metes Out Justice Crisply

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The couple stood before the judges uneasily. They were in their 60s; married a couple of years. He was glum and bitter. She seethed with indignation.

The problem was money. Each had brought a small sum into the marriage. Yet neither would trust the other with it. Each thought the other should pay for his or her own living and medical expenses.

It was clearly a case for the Jewish Conciliation Board of America, one of the few religious organizations in the country whose judicial decisions are binding by law under New York State courts.

The conciliation board sits weekly in an upstairs room of the Jewish Educational Alliance on New York's Lower East Side.

The judges are a rabbi, a lawyer and a businessman. There are no lawyers to speak for plaintiff or defendant. There are no witnesses called.

In 40 years, the board has meted out justice with crisp dispatch in more than 10,000 civil cases involving Jews, many of which could have wound up on the already clogged state dockets.

The key word is justice.

"In our view, justice must be more than just the settlement of a dispute by the application of the law," says Rabbi Israel Goldstein, the president of the board.

Hence no lawyers to bring up technical points. There is a lot of impromptu heart-to-heart talk between judge, defendant and plaintiff — who sometimes turns out to be co-defendant, too.

The conciliation board was founded during the days of large Jewish immigrations from Europe. Many of the immigrants spoke no English and were confused by even the simplest problems arising in a new land.

A good deal of the board's hearings are still conducted in Yiddish.

"Many of our people express themselves better in Yiddish," explains Mrs. Ruth Richman, who succeeded her late husband as executive secretary of the board.

Some cases are referred to the board by regular courts or other public agencies. But most start with a complaint registered at the board's headquarters on lower Broadway.

The first step in bringing a case to hearing is the signing of a submission — a legal agreement to abide by the judges' decision — by both the plaintiff and defendant.

U.S. General Backs Korea On Ship Issue

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The top U.S. commander in South Korea today backed up South Korea's denial that one of its warships attacked a Soviet survey vessel Dec. 28.

"Information available to the U.N. command confirms the statement of the republic of Korea government that no naval craft of the republic was involved," Gen. Carter B. Magruder said in a statement issued by his U.N. headquarters.

Magruder's command oversees South Korean naval operations.

The Soviets said Thursday a South Korean submarine chaser attacked the survey ship Ungo about 30 miles off the North Korean coast and 36 miles northeast of the South Korean border.

Moscow said the warship made three runs on the Ungo and killed a helmsman and wounded four sailors with a direct hit on the bridge.

In denying the charge, the South Korean government said its ships do not operate as far north as the area of the reported attack.

It's Like This

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leo S. Miller hoped everyone understood when their 13-year-old daughter, Carol Sue, said the family was eating canteloupes from the garbage. The melons sprouted from some of the seeds Miller buried along with other garbage to fertilize his lawn.

State Relief Grants Change

LISBON — Robert Bycroft, Columbiana County welfare director, said today that due to new state standards, grants for aid for dependent children, aid for disabled and aid for the blind have been changed and the adjustments will be reflected in their January checks.

In the aid for dependent children branch, 110 cases will show increases, 32 decreases, 4 will remain the same and 9 will become ineligible. This month's checks will total $18,471 against $16,939 last month.

Aid for disabled has 29 increases, 92 decreases, 7 unchanged and 6 discontinued.

Checks total $7,736, against $7,999 last month. Bycroft explained that now welfare aid can be given up to only 95 per cent of need compared to 100 per cent before. Their checks will not include medical expenses as before, but these expenses will be paid separately direct to the doctor or hospital.

Aid for the blind will show 30 increases, 18 decreases, 4 unchanged and 2 closed out. Checks for January will total $2,922. Last month they were $3,103. Medical expenses no longer will be included in these checks but will be handled separately, making some of the difference.

Letters have been mailed to all recipients, notifying them of the modifications or discontinuations, Bycroft said.

Writer Gets A Chance To Use His 'Mr. Peep'

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Goodspeed, who has been writing a column called "Mr. Peep's Diary" for nine years for the Baltimore Evening Sun, finally got his first chance to use it.

He was peering into a restaurant that was changing management when a woman stopped and asked him:

"Why are you peeping in there?"

"Because I'm Mr. Peep," he replied with massive logic.

The woman chuckled quite a bit, but not as much as Goodspeed.

Sheriff Deputy Post Is Filled

A New Cumberland butcher and former fire chief has been appointed a field deputy on the staff of Hancock County Sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs.

I thought that if I prayed and had faith, I could be healed. And then, one night, the Lord seemed to tell me that I would not be healed in my body but that He would heal me in my mind and heart and soul. And He did just that. He healed me by taking all fear from me. I have no fear, even of death. He gave me faith which will take me through, and I have had a spiritual experience in depth and feel a deep peace."

I looked wonderingly at him and saw a light on his face. I realized I was in the presence of a magnificent gentlemen so touched by the grace of God that he could await death without fear.

This is an excellent example — though a sad one — of positive thinking. To be able to meet any situation victoriously is positive thinking in action.

As the author of two books containing this phrase in their titles, "The Power Of Positive Thinking" and "The Amazing Results of Positive Thinking," I am often asked to define the term and explain why I expound positive thinking as the most satisfactory philosophy of life.

Positive thinking may be defined as "tough - mindedness." And it can be contained in one five-letter word, "faith." Or, both definitions may be combined to state that positive thinking is "tough-minded faith."

AND WHAT do I mean by this kind of faith? I mean faith in God, faith in life and faith in yourself. Tough - mindedness is needed to sustain and develop this kind of faith amidst all the discouragements and difficulties of this life. It is only tough-minded faith that never stops believing, never quits and follows through with determination until victory comes.

William James pointed out that there are two types of people — the tenderminded and tough-minded. The tender - minded wince under criticism, retreat before opposition, collapse under difficulty. But not so the tough - minded. They extract all possible know-how from criticism and then forget it. Opposition simply strengthens their mental and spiritual muscles, and they handle difficulty with power.

Since publication of "The Power of Positive Thinking" eight years ago, a good many readers have written letters to me. These have come from everywhere and from all types of people. Some are rich and some are poor; and some of the rich are just as unhappy as some of the poor. Some are famous. A tiny few reached fame easily, but most struggled through opposition and pain to reach their goals. Most of these letters, however, have come from people of average circumstances, leading the everyday kind of lives most of us lead.

But all these letters have one thing in common. In effect, they say, "I needed something strong and creative in my life. So I followed the principles of positive thinking you outlined. You said they weren't new, but you were sure they would work. I tried them and they did work."

The letters thrillingly describe their conquest of difficulties such as pain, guilt, frustration, inferiority, weakness, jealousy, hate and fear. True statements like these from people, about things that have happened to them in their lives, bear witness to the glorious power of God in human life.

Of course, they make you realize the vast amount of trouble there is in the world — but they also give evidence that positive thinking can overcome trouble.

Overdose Of Sleeping Pills?

Actress Margaret Sullivan Claimed Suddenly At 48

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Actress Margaret Sullavan died Friday, a few hours before going on stage as star of a new play. Authorities indicated she may have unintentionally taken an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Sullavan, 48, was found unconscious in her Hotel Taft room. She was dead on arrival at Grace New Haven Community Hospital.

The actress, nervous and upset had been under the care of a physician for two days. James J. Corrigan, New Haven County coroner, said her death might have resulted from an overdose of barbiturates but added: "I do not believe it was a suicide."

Miss Sullavan had been visited by a physician early Friday and again in the afternoon. Her husband, Kenneth Wagg, spoke with her about 2 p.m.

A few hours later, he had to ask the hotel management to force open the door of her room when he found it fastened by a chain lock. Inside he could see her lying in bed, unable to hear him.

Detective Capt. William Holohan said Wagg told him Miss Sullavan wished she could get out of show business.

Wagg got a doctor for her after the Thursday night performance of "Sweet Love Remember'd," which began a pre-Broadway tryout Monday at the Shubert theater.

Dr. Rafi Tofig said he found Miss Sullavan keyed-up and disturbed. He gave her an injection to help her relax, he said. She was still highly nervous when he saw her early Friday afternoon.

MARGARET SULLIVAN
Actress Dies At 48.

Miss Sullavan's trademark in nearly three decades of acting on the stage and in movies was a low-pitched voice. Broadway playgoers first heard it in 1931 as Teddy Simpson in "A Modern Virgin."

She worked in a series of hits, including "If Love Were All' in 1931; "Happy Landing" and "Chrysalis" in 1932; "Bad Manners" and "Dinner at Eight" in 1933, and "Stage Door" in 1936.

Then came seven years in Hollywood, with top roles. At the end of this stint, she came back to Broadway, a bigger name than ever.

Jewish Board In New York Metes Out Justice Crisply

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The couple stood before the judges uneasily. They were in their 60s; married a couple of years. He was glum and bitter. She seethed with indignation.

The problem was money. Each had brought a small sum into the marriage. Yet neither would trust the other with it. Each thought the other should pay for his or her own living and medical expenses.

It was clearly a case for the Jewish Conciliation Board of America, one of the few religious organizations in the country whose judicial decisions are binding by law under New York State courts.

The conciliation board sits weekly in an upstairs room of the Jewish Educational Alliance on New York's Lower East Side.

The judges are a rabbi, a lawyer and a businessman. There are no lawyers to speak for plaintiff or defendant. There are no witnesses called.

In 40 years, the board has meted out justice with crisp dispatch in more than 10,000 civil cases involving Jews, many of which could have wound up on the already clogged state dockets.

The key word is justice.

"In our view, justice must be more than just the settlement of a dispute by the application of the law," says Rabbi Israel Goldstein, the president of the board.

Hence no lawyers to bring up technical points. There is a lot of impromptu heart-to-heart talk between judge, defendant and plaintiff — who sometimes turns out to be co-defendant, too.

The conciliation board was founded during the days of large Jewish immigrations from Europe. Many of the immigrants spoke no English and were confused by even the simplest problems arising in a new land.

A good deal of the board's hearings are still conducted in Yiddish.

"Many of our people express themselves better in Yiddish," explains Mrs. Ruth Richman, who succeeded her late husband as executive secretary of the board.

Some cases are referred to the board by regular courts or other public agencies. But most start with a complaint registered at the board's headquarters on lower Broadway.

The first step in bringing a case to hearing is the signing of a submission — a legal agreement to abide by the judges' decision — by both the plaintiff and defendant.

Crisp, Sunny Is Weather On City's Holiday

A crisp day with sunny skies—that was the weather for New Year's — as the city's holiday passed relatively quiet with only a couple of minor mishaps reported in traffic. There were a few arrests for intoxication.

Authorities said traffic appeared lighter than usual for a holiday, although good weather usually results in a larger amount of travel. But everybody apparently had enough during the Christmas holidays.

The temperature fell to 28 degrees — below freezing — at dawn but it rose slowly during the day under the warming sun and the afternoon high was 37 degrees.

This morning's low was a degree colder — 27 — but today will see a warmup with a high of 38 to 43 predicted, along with rain this afternoon and tonight.

The temperature may not go below freezing tonight as the range will be 32 to 36. Sunday will be colder with rain changing to snow.

Clouds moved into the western portion of Ohio Friday night and by this morning the cloudiness had spread over all sections of the state. Light rain or drizzle was falling in scattered sections of the state this morning. Temperatures were considerably warmer with readings in the low 30s. Columbus had 34, Cleveland and Cincinnati 35 and Dayton 33.

On this morning's weather map low pressure is centered in northeast Nebraska and high pressure in eastern Virginia. A cold front extends from the low pressure in Nebraska southward into Texas. The low pressure is expected to move northeastward to the Northern Great Lakes with its associated cold front southward across western Ohio by Sunday morning.

Southerly winds in advance of this cold front will bring warmer temperatures to the state today and tonight.

U.S. General Backs Korea On Ship Issue

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The top U.S. commander in South Korea today backed up South Korea's denial that one of its warships attacked a Soviet survey vessel Dec. 28.

"Information available to the U.N. command confirms the statement of the republic of Korea government that no naval craft of the republic was involved," Gen. Carter B. Magruder said in a statement issued by his U.N. headquarters.

Magruder's command oversees South Korean naval operations.

The Soviets said Thursday a South Korean submarine chaser attacked the survey ship Ungo about 30 miles off the North Korean coast and 36 miles northeast of the South Korean border.

Moscow said the warship made three runs on the Ungo and killed a helmsman and wounded four sailors with a direct hit on the bridge.

In denying the charge, the South Korean government said its ships do not operate as far north as the area of the reported attack.

'Iron Is Hot Now'

Some Congressmen Ready To Work Against Payola

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should Congress pass new laws to stamp out payola, rigging and deception in the television and radio industry?

A number of congressmen think so, and they're ready to go to work on it as soon as Congress convenes next Wednesday. "The iron is hot now," says Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill).

But Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers thinks the two government agencies that regulate broadcasting already have the power to do the job. He says they just haven't been using that power as they should. Another group of congressmen agree with Rogers.

Rogers gave that view in a lengthy pre-New Year's report to President Eisenhower, who had asked him for a study of the situation after congressional investigation laid bare a series of TV scandals.

Rogers did urge two immediate changes in the law: (1) make it a federal crime for a TV or radio employe to take payola — accept a bribe to plug a product on the air, and (2) give the Federal munications Commission more leeway in punishing stations that don't live up to the mark.

Now the only punishment is the drastic one of revoking the station's license. Rogers suggested lesser penalties, such as temporary suspension of licenses or granting of conditional licenses.

Springer wants to go much further in tightening up the law. "I hope we get promptly into such things as better programming and control of objectionable advertising," he said. Springer is a member of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which uncovered the TV quiz show mess last year.

Another member, Rep. John E. Moss (Calif), said he agreed with Rogers that the FTC and FCC already have the power to do the job.

But he added, "Unless they show willingness and their own conviction to proceed under existing authority, then I feel Congress must direct by legislation that they do the things necessary."

Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex) said "FCC and FTC simply laid down on the job." He said they should be empowered to assess money fines against offenders in the industry.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich), another committee member wants criminal laws across the board for every kind of deceptive TV and radio practice.

State Relief Grants Change

LISBON — Robert Bycroft, Columbiana County welfare director, said today that due to new state standards, grants for aid for dependent children, aid for disabled and aid for the blind have been changed and the adjustments will be reflected in their January checks.

In the aid for dependent children branch, 110 cases will show increases, 32 decreases, 4 will remain the same and 9 will become ineligible. This month's checks will total $18,471 against $16,939 last month.

Aid for disabled has 29 increases, 92 decreases, 7 unchanged and 6 discontinued.

Checks total $7,736, against $7,999 last month. Bycroft explained that now welfare aid can be given up to only 95 per cent of need compared to 100 per cent before. Their checks will not include medical expenses as before, but these expenses will be paid separately direct to the doctor or hospital.

Aid for the blind will show 30 increases, 18 decreases, 4 unchanged and 2 closed out. Checks for January will total $2,922. Last month they were $3,103. Medical expenses no longer will be included in these checks but will be handled separately, making some of the difference.

Letters have been mailed to all recipients, notifying them of the modifications or discontinuations, Bycroft said.

Writer Gets A Chance To Use His 'Mr. Peep'

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Goodspeed, who has been writing a column called "Mr. Peep's Diary" for nine years for the Baltimore Evening Sun, finally got his first chance to use it.

He was peering into a restaurant that was changing management when a woman stopped and asked him:

"Why are you peeping in there?"

"Because I'm Mr. Peep," he replied with massive logic.

The woman chuckled quite a bit, but not as much as Goodspeed.

Sheriff Deputy Post Is Filled

A New Cumberland butcher and former fire chief has been appointed a field deputy on the staff of Hancock County Sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs.

John Roefaro, 49, of 111 Chester St., began his new duties on the midnight shift Friday at the sheriff's office in the county seat.

Roefaro's appointment fills one of two vacancies created by the resignations of deputies recently—Jacob (jake) Baxter became maintenance supervisor of New Cumberland and Anthony Torchio joined the Weirton police department.

A meat cutter at Herman's Market in New Cumberland or the past 14 years, Roefaro formerly served as fire chief of the community for about five years and received police training while working with Police Chief Joseph Manypenny.

He is married and has two children, Eleanor, a junior at New Cumberland High School and John Gerald, who is employed with the Weirton Steel Co.

Syracuse, Ole Miss, Washington, Georgia Win Bowl Games

Orange Roll Over Texas, 23 To 14

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse accepted college football's national championship trophy at halftime in the Cotton Bowl, then showed why they won it with a clear-cut 23-14 victory over Texas.

But the mighty Orange, top-ranked and unbeaten in 11 games, had to share New Year's Day bowl honors with shutout victors Mississippi and Georgia and the upset-hungry Huskies of Washington.

Mississippi rode the passing of Bobby Franklin and Jake Gibbs to a surprisingly simple 21-0 revenge victory over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl.

Georgia, with Francis Tarkenton doing the passing, also moved through the air for its 14-0 Orange Bowl triumph over Missouri.

Washington, a 7-point underdog, won in the Rose Bowl for the first time in five attempts by stunning Big Ten champion Wisconsin 44-8 on the passing of AllAmerica Bob Schloredt and the running and kicking of George Fleming.

In an all-Texas bowl, host Prairie View A&M routed Wiley 47-10 at Houston. In the Tangerine Bowl, a night game at Orlando, Fla., Middle Tennessee defeated Presbyterian 21-12. A total of 256,980 fans saw the six games. Another 13,500 were in the Sun Bowl Thursday when New Mexico State defeated North Texas State, 28-8.

The amateur side of the postseason festivities finished up today with the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., the East-West Shrine Shrine game at San Francisco and the All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz. The latter two battles were between all-star teams, while in the Gator Bowl, Arkansas (8-2), which split the Southwest Conference title with Texas and TCU, rated even with Georgia Tech (6-4) of the Southeastern Conference.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas paired the nation's No. 1 and No. 4 teams in a game marred by tempermental outbursts by players of both teams. The New Orleans' Sugar Bowl was a rematch of the famed mid-season battle in which LSU (No. 3) whipped Mississippi (No. 2) by a 7-3 score on an 89-yard punt return by All-America halfback Billy Cannon.

But Friday Cannon was held to eight yards in six carries by Ole Miss.

Felix McKnight of the Cotton Bowl Selection Committee presented The Associated Press Trophy, symbolic of the national title, to Syracuse, and the swift Davis put the extra emphais on it as he scored two touchdowns and a pair of two-point conversions.

Mississippi's Gibbs sent the Rebels ahead 7-0 with a 43-yard TD pass to halfback Cowboy Woodruff just before halftime. Then Franklin took over after intermission, throwing 18- and 9-yard scoring passes to end Larry Grantham and halfback George Blair.

Quarterback Tarkenton tossed TD passes in the first and third period for Georgia's Southeastern Conference champions. He hit end Bill McKenny for 29 yards, then Aaron Box for 33.

Schloredt, the one-eyed quarterback who went from sub to All-America this season, guided the Washington attack that exploded for 17 points in the first quarter and by halftime had more points — 24 — than a West Coast team had ever scored in its bowl series with the Big Ten, dating back to 1947. The Big Ten lost only twice in that span — and both times it was Wisconsin.

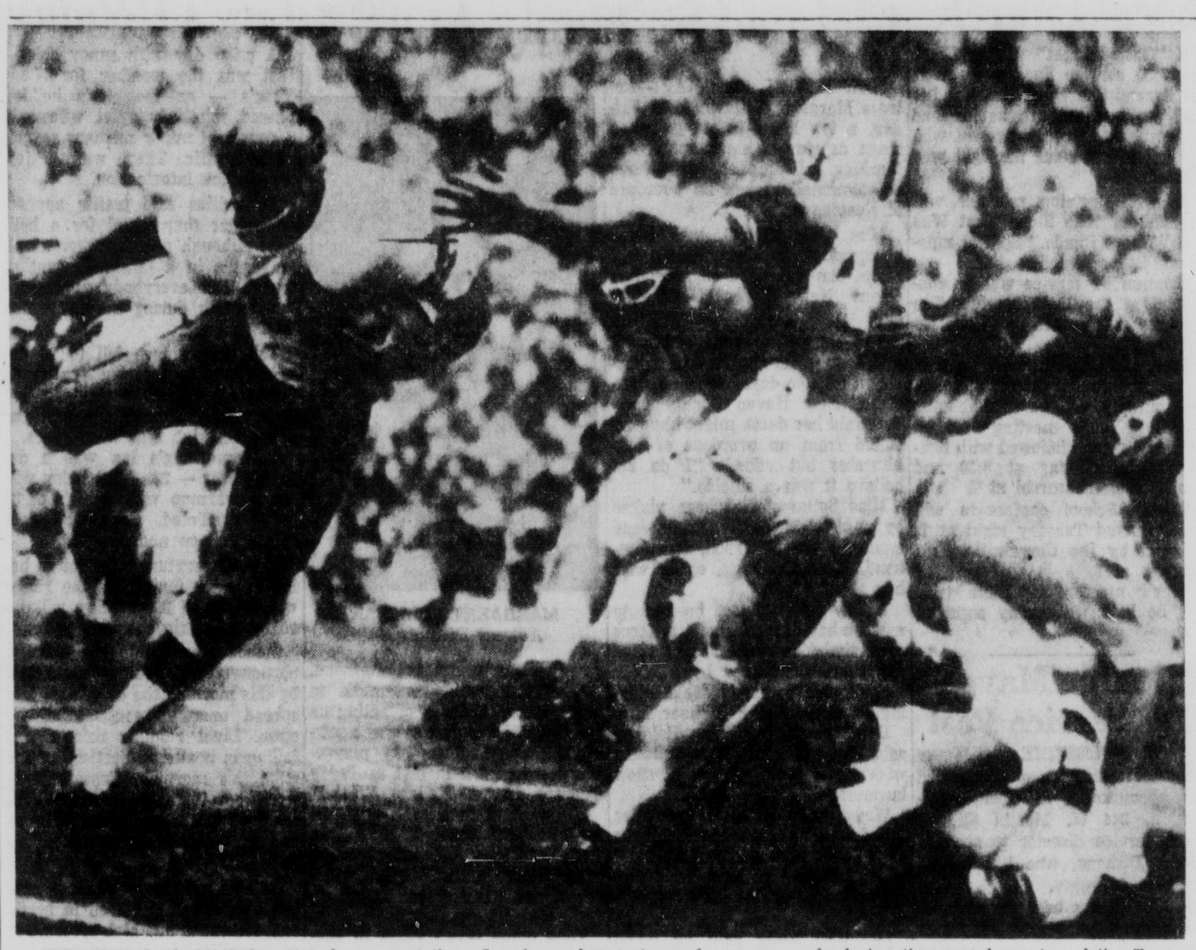

Fleming, a 180-pound junior, stunned the Badgers with a 53-yard punt return for a touchdown, a 55-yard run that set up another TD, a 65-yard gain on a pass from Schloredt, a 36-yard field goal and five conversion kicks.

Washington's lighter, faster line completely outmaneuvered the heavier Winconsin forwards and permitted only a second quarter four-yard TD by Tom Wisner. And that was set up by the passing of Dale Hackbart.

None of the big four winners ever trailed and only Texas, among the losers, managed to impress on the scoreboard.

Near the end of the first half players on both sides threw punches in a flare of tempers, but none were ejected.

Later, there were accusations by Syracuse players of racial name-calling by the Longhorns. Texas players denied they made any such remarks to Syracuse Negro players.

SYRACUSE back Art Baker (39) dances past three Longhorn players to go for seven yards during the second quarter of the Texas-Syracuse Cotton Bowl game New Year's day at Dallas. Texas players are Clair Branch (42) and Rene Ramirez (46). Syracuse won, 23-14. (UPI Telephoto)

Syracuse Proves It Is Grid Champ

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Any possible doubt that Syracuse was the nation's best should have been dispelled Friday by what Ernie Davis and his mates did to Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Syracuse won 23-14.

The Orangemen certainly proved they were national champions as they finished the season with a perfect record of 11-0 and a victory that never was in doubt after 1:23 of the first period. It was that long before Ger Schwedes threw a pass to Davis that covered 87 yards and set a major bowl record.

Syracuse also showed it was not averse to a good fight because the Orange bench emptied late in the second period when punches were being thrown on the field and the players joined a mass of milling, shoving, brawling fellows out about the 50-yard line.

A holding call against Syracuse apparently precipitated the fisticuffs but the players on both sides said there was too much talking back and forth. Syracuse players accused Texas of calling its Negro tackle, John Brown, "a dirty nigger." Players on both sides hinted at dirty play.

Davis easily earned the award as outstanding back. He scored 16 points with two touchdowns and two 2-point conversions and his interception of a pass set up the other Orange touchdown. Davis then ran 21 yards to put the ball on the Texas three and Schwedes scored.

The victory was a vindication for Syracuse. The Orangemen had never won a bowl game before although given three chances.

Georgia's Aerials Down Tigers In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Missouri, which wasn't supposed to be in the same class with Georgia in their Orange Bowl football game, was outclassed in only one rather important department — the final score of 14-0 for Georgia.

The 75,280 fans sitting in the vast, sun-drenched stadium watched in various degrees of astonishment as the Missourians, who finished second in the Big Eight Conference, played the Southeastern Conference champions to a standstill Friday.

Only the Tigers' failure to bottle up rubber-armed Francis Tarkenton on two occasions constituted "the difference" as the two teams battled in a bruising contest.

On those two occasions Tarkenton rifled long passes down the middle to Bill McKenny and Aaronn Box, respectively, for touchdowns. Durward Pennington kicked the extra points and that was it: Georgia 14, Missouri 0.

"We didn't play our best game," Georgia Coach Wally Butts said. "Our morale was not good. It definitely was our worst game of the year."

"We came down to win, but the best team won," said Missouri Coach Danny Devine. "We planned to rush the passer, and the two touchdowns they got were when their passer got away from our rushing."

Rush the passer they did, with the result the Bulldogs completed only nine of 21 tosses for a total of 128 yards, far below their usual performance.

Phil Snowden, the lanky Missouri passer, was rated only so-so in comparison with Georgia's artists. Snowden completed 11 of 17 for 152 yards, and the over-all Missouri passing record was 14 of 24 for 180 yards.

Potter-Leopard Contest Features Light Cage Card

Three games, featured by the East Liverpool-Midland tussle, will usher in 1960 on the local sports front with the first cage action of the New Year.

East Liverpool will be cast in the role of underdog tonight when the Potters meet the tall and talented Leopards.

Two other games in the district show Brilliant and Stanton Local meeting in one of the top Class "A" contests in the Ohio Valley while Salem shoots for its fourth straight in entertaining Akron North.

The Potter-Leopard tilt at Midland will get underway about 8 p. m. preceded by a reserve game at 6:45.

Midland will be shooting for its 10th win in 11 games while East Liverpool eyes the upset road in an effort to snap a three-game losing streak.

Coach Jim Harris expects to stick with the same lineup of Kenny Cunningham, Phil Chan, Ray Bigelow, Craig Burbick and Bob Mackall.

Chan gained a starting berth, replacing Kenny Miller in the Canton McKinley game two weeks ago.

Coach George Hamilton will send his three "Titans" — Steve Yetso, Movie Smith and Gene Lake —against the Potters. Yetso stands 6-foot-5, Smith 6-foot-4 and Lake 6-foot-3.

These three have accounted for most of Midland's offense this season and have managed to out rebound their opponents.

Rounding out the starting lineup will be Carl Anderson at 6-foot and Don Migliore the little 5-foot-7 playmaker.

Big 10 Opens Cage Season

By The Associated Press

The Big Ten—still a bit groggy from beatings suffered in various holiday tournaments — opens its 1960 basketball campaign today.

Indiana, the only team to win a tournament, is host to Purdue, Iowa is at Minnesota and Michigan State is at Wisconsin in a regionally televised matinee.

The Hoosiers, winners of the Blue Grass Tournament in Louisville, compiled an 8-1 non-conference record and remain favorites to win the championship. Purdue has a 5-4 mark.

Iowa (3-2) showed surprising strength in the New York Holiday Festival before bowing to Cincinnati and Oscar Robertson. The young Hawkeyes established themselves definite contenders. Minnesota, expected to be much stronger, compiled a 4-6 pre-conference record.

Defending champion Michigan State (5-2) might run into trouble against Wisconsin (3-6). Both Spartan defeats have occurred away from home.

Michigan (1-7) will be engaged in non - league activity against Miami of Ohio at Ann Arbor.

Ohio State, rated a contender along with Indiana, does not get into action until Monday night. The Buckeyes (7-2) take on Illinois (7-1). Illinois had been undefeated until it ran into California in the Los Angeles Classic.

In other games Monday Indiana is at Northwestern and Iowa at Wisconsin.

Close Scoring Duel Rages In Hockey Loop

By The Associated Press

Chicago's Bobby Hull and Boston's Broncho Horvath head into the new year with only two points separating them in a duel for the National Hockey League scoring lead.

Horvath, who surrendered his season-long goal scoring lead to Hull last week, picked up two goals and assist as the Boston Bruins downed the New York Rangers 7-3 Friday night. But Hull came up with a goal and an assist in the 4-4 deadlock with Detroit and held to first place 46 points to 44. Each has 23 goals.

The Boston forward collected his 22nd and 23rd goals in a first period spree when the Bruins took a 3-1 advantage over the Rangers. Doug Mohns also tallied twice for the Bruins with the other goals going to Don McKenney, Vic Stasiuk and Charley Burns. Andy Hebenton, Andy Bathgate and Ken Schinkel were the Ranger scorers.

Hull fed a pass to rookie Murray Balfour in the final 15 seconds for the goal that gave the Black Hawks their tie with the Red Wings. The tally came while Chicago goalie Glenn Hall was on the bench in favor of a sixth skater as the Hawks battled for the tying marker.

The tie moved Detroit into a tie for second place with idle Toronto.

Ice Fishing Popular Sport On Inland Lakes In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans apparently don't have cold feet when it comes to ice fishing.

The cold weather sport is so popular on inland park lakes that the State Division of Parks figures more ice fishermen will be counted this winter than last—and there were around 75,000 between December, 1958 and February, 1959.

That count from last winter doesn't include nearly 30,000 around Catawba Island State Park on Lake Erie off Ottawa County, those who fished from other locations on Lake Erie or fishermen who used Ohio lakes other than those at state parks.

Something in the manner of proud papas, Wildlife Division fish management officials are bragging about successfully raising 1,200 rainbow trout in ponds at Xenia. About 350 were put in the Mad River in Champaign County and the rest will be placed in Ohio streams this spring. Thirteen have been reported caught.

The idea is to gain information about movement and survival of the species in Ohio waters. It was the first effort to raise rainbows, and they are tagged.

When the red, red robin comes bob, bob, robbin' along next spring, he may not bring as many ducks with him as usual. That is, says Ohio Waterfowl Biologist Delmar Handley, if Canadian breeding grounds are the destination.

He helped examine 12,000 duck wings with biologists from other midwest states, the federal government and Canada. Because the age and sex of ducks can be determined from the wings—collect in this case during the 1959 hunting season—the biologists learned that more adult ducks than young were killed.

Usually two young are killed for every adult, which indicates breeding success was poor—as expected in drought-ridden prairie breeding areas—during the past summer. But if the trend continues, Handley says, there is a possibility the breeding population was hurt and fewer ducks will return to Canada next spring.

The chief of Ohio's Wildlife Division, Hayden W. Olds, suggests a "be kind to natural resources workers" resolution for 1960.

"Fish and game crops are as uncertain as farm crops," he contends. "Fish and game are little managed in comparison and are therefore more subject to the whims of nature. Yet when they fail, those who work with them are sometimes criticized."

Considering that you can misjudge a wildlife crop yield as well as farm crop production, he thinks "outdoorsmen should consider these facts at the beginning of a new year in evaluating their hunting and fishing success for the past year."

Steelers' Coach Will Huddle With Carpenter Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Coach Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers says he will talk with Preston Carpenter today in an effort to get the newly-acquired halfback to play for the Steelers.

Carpenter said Friday he will seek his release from the Steelers in hopes of signing with Dallas of the new American Football League.

Carpenter came to Pittsburgh of his wife's parents in Muskogee, Okla., said he wants to play in the southwest near his home in Memphis, Ark.

Carpenter came to Ptitsburgh along with safetyman Lowe (Junior) Wren in a trade last Thursday that sent quarterback Len Lawson and veteran end Gern Nagler to the Cleveland Browns.

Both Dawson and Wren said they were pleased with the trade.

"You get very disgusted sitting on the bench for three years," said Dawson. "And it looked like I would be stuck again next season with the Steelers."

Dawson had been playing under the great Bobby Layne.

"If the club hadn't made the deal," said Wren," I would have asked to be traded."

Royals Smash Celtics' Bid For New Win Skein

DETROIT (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals may have made good on a New Year's resolution Friday night, smashing the Boston Celtics' bid for a new National Basketball Assn. consecutive victory record.

The Royals certainly had need for such a resolution, having been personal doormats for the fabulous Celts since last season. But the Cincinnati team gained revenge for 13 losses in a row to Boston by coming from behind for a 128-115 victory, snapping the Celtics' winning streak at 17 games.

The Celtics loss was the high spot of a double-header in which the host Detroit Pistons ended a six-game victory famine by trimming St. Louis 119-107. At Minneapolis, Syracuse pinned a fourth straight loss on the Lakers, 109-98.

For Boston, it was the first loss since Nov. 28. But Coach Red Auerbach will get his name in the record books twice anyway. He was coach of the Washington Capitols who set the standard at 17 straight victories in the 1946-47 season.

The Celtics started off with a rush. They held a 34-26 lead at the end of the first quarter as Bill Sharman hit for 17 points.

Then the Royals started to move, with league-leading scorer Jack Twyman and Phil Jordon showing the way.

Twyman was high man for the game with 40 points. Jordon posted 31.

Gene Shue dumped in 28 points as the Pistons gave Dick McGuire his first victory since becoming coach last Monday.

Syracuse, paced by George Yardley and Dolph Schayes, handled the slumping Lakers with ease.

Cleveland's Goalie Posts First Shutout

By The Associated Press

It was a long time coming but Gil Mayer, Cleveland's masked goal tender, finally has his first shutout in the American Hockey League since the 1956-57 season.

The 29-year old netminder, who paced the league in shutouts five times while with Pittsburgh and then went into a slump while seeing little action with Hershey, came up with 28 saves Friday night as the Barons defeated the Rochester Americans 2-0. Injuries have caused Mayer to miss many games during the past four seasons.

Defenseman Aldo Guildolin scored the only goal Cleveland actually needed when he caged a 50-footer at 10:49 of the second period. Bill Shvetz added some insurance with 27 seconds remaining when he slammed the puck into an empty net.

The Providence Reds solidified their runnerup spot back of Springfield by defeating the Buffalo Bisons 4-2 with Lorne Davis getting three goals. Two of them came as the Reds struck from behind with three goals in a space of five minutes in the final period.

World Record Holder Finishes 3rd In Race

SORRENTO, Australia (AP) — World record holder Herb Elliott, in his first competitive run of the season, finished a weary third today in a slowly run 1,000-meter race.

Competing on a rough, grass track and in a cold wind, Elliott looked only a shadow of his old self as he finished 15 yards behind the winner.

His time was 2 minutes, 28 seconds—and it took every ounce of energy that he had to run that.

"I didn't expect to do much better' said Elliott, whose world record for the mile is 3:54.5.

"I just finished my first week of real training and it left me very tired, but I'm not worried. There is a long time to go before Rome." He referred to the 1960 Olympic Games at Rome in August.

East Is 7-Point Favorite Today In Shrine Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The East line for today's 35th Shrine all star football game averages 227 pounds, but Coach Bill Meek contends his West squad isn't too concerned about all that beef.

"Nobody says we have to go through them," the Southern Methodist coach commented.

He had speedy Dick Bass from College of the Pacific, Larry Wilson of Utah and TCU's Jack Spikes to go around that mammoth forward wall and Don Meredith of SMU and Jim Walden of Wyoming to pass over it. The West line, by no means puny, averages 211.

Oddsmakers made the East a seven-point favorite, not only because of that line but also such runners as Bob Jeter and Ray Jauch of Iowa, Ron Burton of Northwestern, Bob White of Ohio State and Blanche Martin of Michigan State.

Sixty thousand will be in Kezar Stadium or the 1:50 p.m. PST kickoff. The annual grid classic will be televised nationally (NBC).

Syracuse, Ole Miss, Washington, Georgia Win Bowl Games

Orange Roll Over Texas, 23 To 14

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse accepted college football's national championship trophy at halftime in the Cotton Bowl, then showed why they won it with a clear-cut 23-14 victory over Texas.

But the mighty Orange, top-ranked and unbeaten in 11 games, had to share New Year's Day bowl honors with shutout victors Mississippi and Georgia and the upset-hungry Huskies of Washington.

Mississippi rode the passing of Bobby Franklin and Jake Gibbs to a surprisingly simple 21-0 revenge victory over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl.

Georgia, with Francis Tarkenton doing the passing, also moved through the air for its 14-0 Orange Bowl triumph over Missouri.

Washington, a 7-point underdog, won in the Rose Bowl for the first time in five attempts by stunning Big Ten champion Wisconsin 44-8 on the passing of AllAmerica Bob Schloredt and the running and kicking of George Fleming.

In an all-Texas bowl, host Prairie View A&M routed Wiley 47-10 at Houston. In the Tangerine Bowl, a night game at Orlando, Fla., Middle Tennessee defeated Presbyterian 21-12. A total of 256,980 fans saw the six games. Another 13,500 were in the Sun Bowl Thursday when New Mexico State defeated North Texas State, 28-8.

The amateur side of the postseason festivities finished up today with the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., the East-West Shrine Shrine game at San Francisco and the All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz. The latter two battles were between all-star teams, while in the Gator Bowl, Arkansas (8-2), which split the Southwest Conference title with Texas and TCU, rated even with Georgia Tech (6-4) of the Southeastern Conference.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas paired the nation's No. 1 and No. 4 teams in a game marred by temperamental outbursts by players of both teams. The New Orleans' Sugar Bowl was a rematch of the famed mid-season battle in which LSU (No. 3) whipped Mississippi (No. 2) by a 7-3 score on an 89-yard punt return by All-America halfback Billy Cannon.

But Friday Cannon was held to eight yards in six carries by Ole Miss.

Felix McKnight of the Cotton Bowl Selection Committee presented The Associated Press Trophy, symbolic of the national title, to Syracuse, and the swift Davis put the extra emphais on it as he scored two touchdowns and a pair of two-point conversions.

Mississippi's Gibbs sent the Rebels ahead 7-0 with a 43-yard TD pass to halfback Cowboy Woodruff just before halftime. Then Franklin took over after intermission, throwing 18- and 9-yard scoring passes to end Larry Grantham and halfback George Blair.

Quarterback Tarkenton tossed TD passes in the first and third period for Georgia's Southeastern Conference champions. He hit end Bill McKenny for 29 yards, then Aaron Box for 33.

Schloredt, the one-eyed quarterback who went from sub to All-America this season, guided the Washington attack that exploded for 17 points in the first quarter and by halftime had more points — 24 — than a West Coast team had ever scored in its bowl series with the Big Ten, dating back to 1947. The Big Ten lost only twice in that span — and both times it was Wisconsin.

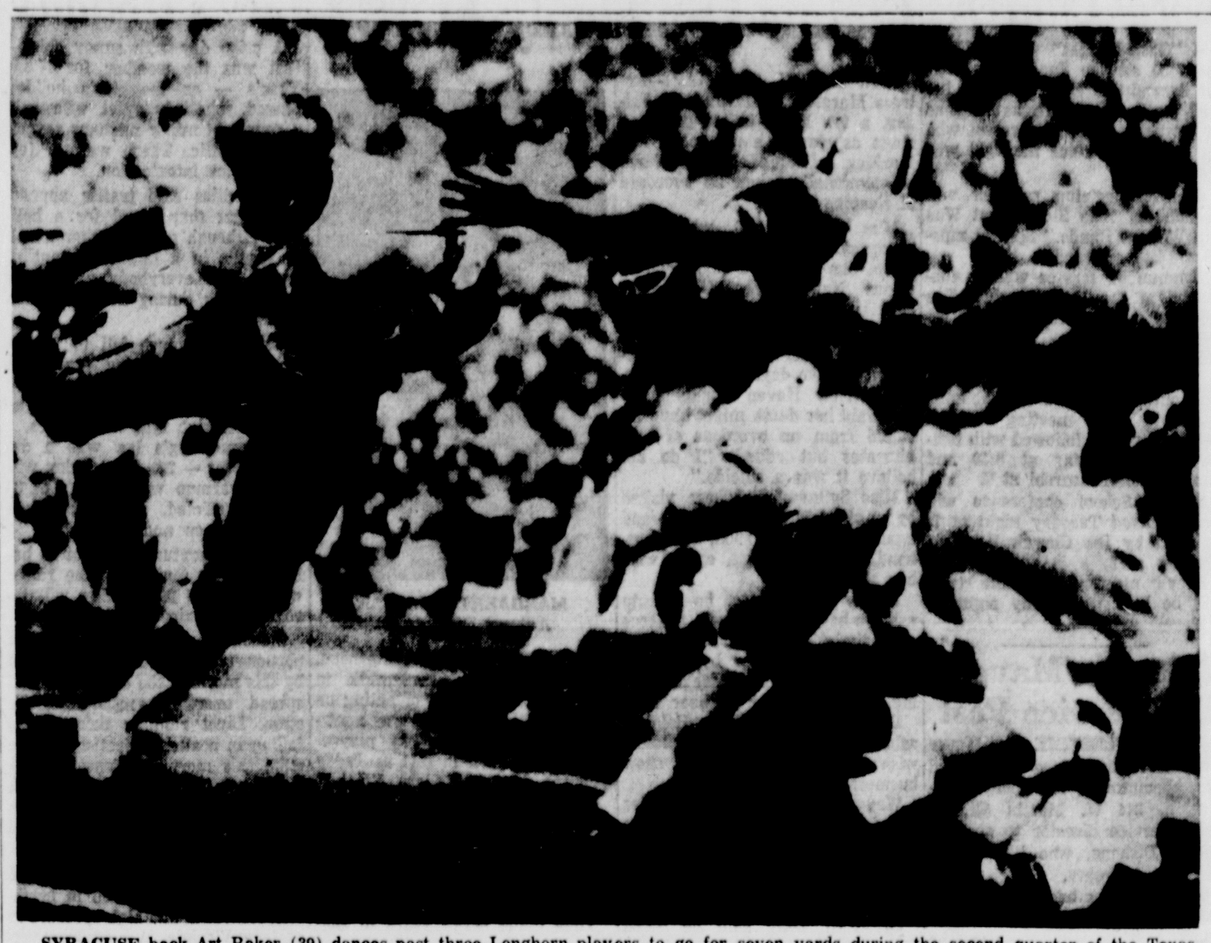

Fleming, a 180-pound junior, stunned the Badgers with a 53-yard punt return for a touchdown, a 55-yard run that set up another TD, a 65-yard gain on a pass from Schloredt, a 36-yard field goal and five conversion kicks.

Washington's lighter, faster line completely outmaneuvered the heavier Winconsin forwards and permitted only a second quarter four-yard TD by Tom Wisner. And that was set up by the passing of Dale Hackbart.

None of the big four winners ever trailed and only Texas, among the losers, managed to impress on the scoreboard.

Near the end of the first half players on both sides threw punches in a flare of tempers, but none were ejected.

Later, there were accusations by Syracuse players of racial name-calling by the Longhorns. Texas players denied they made any such remarks to Syracuse Negro players.

SYRACUSE back Art Baker (39) dances past three Longhorn players to go for seven yards during the second quarter of the Texas-Syracuse Cotton Bowl game New Year's day at Dallas. Texas players are Clair Branch (42) and Rene Ramirez (46). Syracuse won, 23-14. (UPI Telephoto)

Syracuse Proves It Is Grid Champ

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Any possible doubt that Syracuse was the nation's best should have been dispelled Friday by what Ernie Davis and his mates did to Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Syracuse won 23-14.

The Orangemen certainly proved they were national champions as they finished the season with a perfect record of 11-0 and a victory that never was in doubt after 1:23 of the first period. It was that long before Ger Schwedes threw a pass to Davis that covered 87 yards and set a major bowl record.

Syracuse also showed it was not averse to a good fight because the Orange bench emptied late in the second period when punches were being thrown on the field and the players joined a mass of milling, shoving, brawling fellows out about the 50-yard line.

A holding call against Syracuse apparently precipitated the fisticuffs but the players on both sides said there was too much talking back and forth. Syracuse players accused Texas of calling its Negro tackle, John Brown, "a dirty nigger." Players on both sides hinted at dirty play.

Davis easily earned the award as outstanding back. He scored 16 points with two touchdowns and two 2-point conversions and his interception of a pass set up the other Orange touchdown. Davis then ran 21 yards to put the ball on the Texas three and Schwedes scored.

The victory was a vindication for Syracuse. The Orangemen had never won a bowl game before although given three chances.

Steelers' Coach Will Huddle With Carpenter Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Coach Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers says he will talk with Preston Carpenter today in an effort to get the newly-acquired halfback to play for the Steelers.

Carpenter said Friday he will seek his release from the Steelers in hopes of signing with Dallas of the new American Football League.

Carpenter came to Pittsburgh of his wife's parents in Muskogee, Okla., said he wants to play in the southwest near his home in Memphis, Ark.

Carpenter came to Ptitsburgh along with safetyman Lowe (Junior) Wren in a trade last Thursday that sent quarterback Len Lawson and veteran end Gern Nagler to the Cleveland Browns.

Both Dawson and Wren said they were pleased with the trade.

"You get very disgusted sitting on the bench for three years," said Dawson. "And it looked like I would be stuck again next season with the Steelers."

Dawson had been playing under the great Bobby Layne.

"If the club hadn't made the deal," said Wren," I would have asked to be traded."

Royals Smash Celtics' Bid For New Win Skein

DETROIT (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals may have made good on a New Year's resolution Friday night, smashing the Boston Celtics' bid for a new National Basketball Assn. consecutive victory record.

The Royals certainly had need for such a resolution, having been personal doormats for the fabulous Celts since last season. But the Cincinnati team gained revenge for 13 losses in a row to Boston by coming from behind for a 128-115 victory, snapping the Celtics' winning streak at 17 games.

The Celtics loss was the high spot of a double-header in which the host Detroit Pistons ended a six-game victory famine by trimming St. Louis 119-107. At Minneapolis, Syracuse pinned a fourth straight loss on the Lakers, 109-98.

For Boston, it was the first loss since Nov. 28. But Coach Red Auerbach will get his name in the record books twice anyway. He was coach of the Washington Capitols who set the standard at 17 straight victories in the 1946-47 season.

The Celtics started off with a rush. They held a 34-26 lead at the end of the first quarter as Bill Sharman hit for 17 points.

Then the Royals started to move, with league-leading scorer Jack Twyman and Phil Jordon showing the way.

Twyman was high man for the game with 40 points. Jordon posted 31.

Gene Shue dumped in 28 points as the Pistons gave Dick McGuire his first victory since becoming coach last Monday.

Syracuse, paced by George Yardley and Dolph Schayes, handled the slumping Lakers with ease.

Cleveland's Goalie Posts First Shutout

By The Associated Press

It was a long time coming but Gil Mayer, Cleveland's masked goal tender, finally has his first shutout in the American Hockey League since the 1956-57 season.

The 29-year old netminder, who paced the league in shutouts five times while with Pittsburgh and then went into a slump while seeing little action with Hershey, came up with 28 saves Friday night as the Barons defeated the Rochester Americans 2-0. Injuries have caused Mayer to miss many games during the past four seasons.

Defenseman Aldo Guildolin scored the only goal Cleveland actually needed when he caged a 50-footer at 10:49 of the second period. Bill Shvetz added some insurance with 27 seconds remaining when he slammed the puck into an empty net.

The Providence Reds solidified their runnerup spot back of Springfield by defeating the Buffalo Bisons 4-2 with Lorne Davis getting three goals. Two of them came as the Reds struck from behind with three goals in a space of five minutes in the final period.

World Record Holder Finishes 3rd In Race

SORRENTO, Australia (AP) — World record holder Herb Elliott, in his first competitive run of the season, finished a weary third today in a slowly run 1,000-meter race.

Competing on a rough, grass track and in a cold wind, Elliott looked only a shadow of his old self as he finished 15 yards behind the winner.

His time was 2 minutes, 28 seconds—and it took every ounce of energy that he had to run that.

"I didn't expect to do much better' said Elliott, whose world record for the mile is 3:54.5.

"I just finished my first week of real training and it left me very tired, but I'm not worried. There is a long time to go before Rome." He referred to the 1960 Olympic Games at Rome in August.

East Is 7-Point Favorite Today In Shrine Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The East line for today's 35th Shrine all star football game averages 227 pounds, but Coach Bill Meek contends his West squad isn't too concerned about all that beef.

"Nobody says we have to go through them," the Southern Methodist coach commented.

He had speedy Dick Bass from College of the Pacific, Larry Wilson of Utah and TCU's Jack Spikes to go around that mammoth forward wall and Don Meredith of SMU and Jim Walden of Wyoming to pass over it. The West line, by no means puny, averages 211.

Oddsmakers made the East a seven-point favorite, not only because of that line but also such runners as Bob Jeter and Ray Jauch of Iowa, Ron Burton of Northwestern, Bob White of Ohio State and Blanche Martin of Michigan State.

Sixty thousand will be in Kezar Stadium or the 1:50 p.m. PST kickoff. The annual grid classic will be televised nationally (NBC).

College Quints Begin Earnest Work To Decide Loop Titles

2 Important Contests Are Set Tonight

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The serious business of deciding conference champions gets under way in earnest on the college basketball front tonight with at least two important games on the card.

The big one is at Peoria, Ill. where Bradley entertains St. Louis in a Missouri Valley clash that — even so early in the year — has title overtones.

These two clubs are the main pretenders to Cincinnati's league throne. The Bearcats already have beaten Bradley (7-1). In view of the fact that Bradley lost just two conference games all last season, a defeat could knock the Braves out of it.

Bradley — the only league team to beat Cincinnati last season — finished second to the Bearcats and St. Louis was third. A Bradley victory would not make the Bearcats and Big O Oscar Robertson unhappy. In that case, both their chief rivals would be beaten in league play.

St. Louis (8-2) is ranked No. 6 in the current Associated Press poll and Bradley is No. 9. Cincinnati (9-0), riding along at the top of the heap, has a non-league date with Dayton.

Two of the favorites for the Southeastern Conference crown — Georgia Tech and Kentucky — meet in Lexington. Only one league game has been played, so this is really the start of hostilities. Georgia Tech (8-1) is tenth-ranked and Kentucky (6-3) is No. 13.

Kentucky is the favorite for the title since defending champion Mississippi State has lost Bailey Howell. Auburn, which finished in a second-place tie with the Wildcats, goes against Mississippi State. This one might give a clue on whether Auburn can make a battle of it for the title. Vanderbilt, another strong contender, plays Tennessee.

The Big Ten also begins operations, with Indiana, No. 7 in the country and one of the favorites for the title, meeting Purdue in the top game. Iowa is at Minnesota and defending champion Michigan State is at Wisconsin.

The regular-season scramble on the West Coast gets under way. But there's no Pacific Coast Conference this time and the newly formed Big Five doesn't count as a league because it lacks the required six teams.

California, No. 3, and boasting a winning streak of 25 games, plays Southern Cal, in the top attraction. The Trojans don't figure to be any problem.

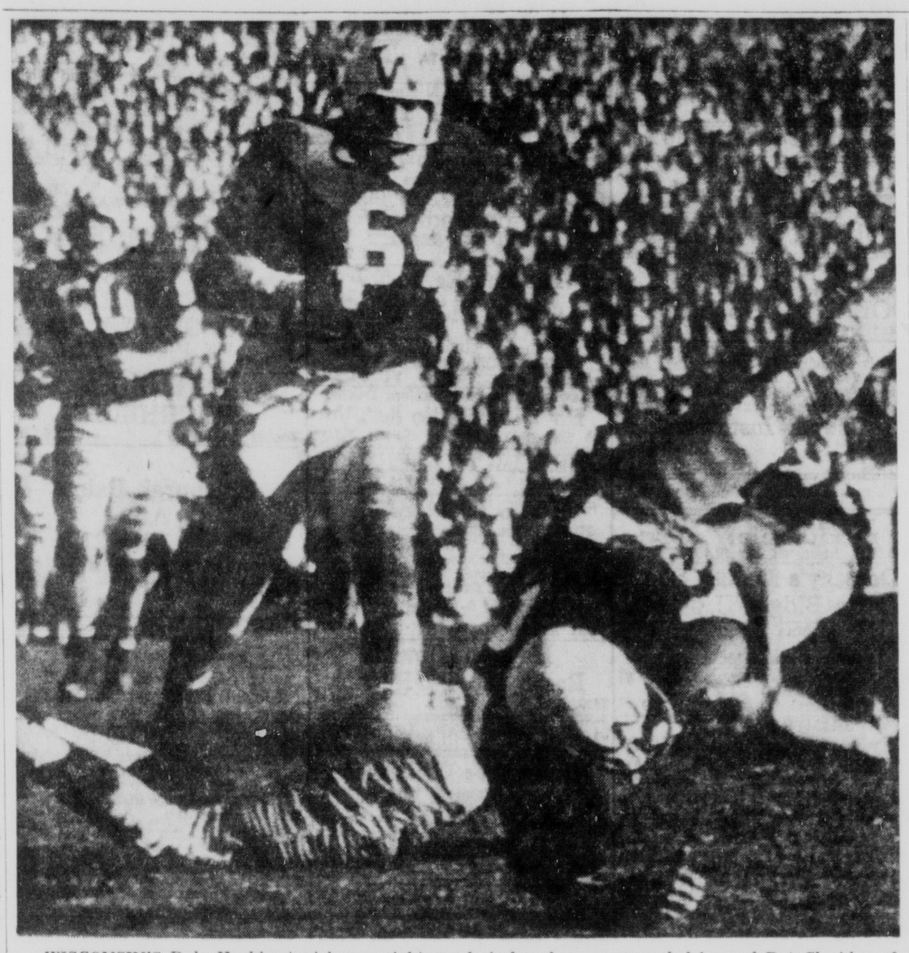

The only important action Friday night was in the Poinsettia Bowl in Greenville, S.C., where The Citadel defeated Bucknell, 95-73, and Furman crushed Harvard, 87-69. The Citadel and Furman will meet for the championship tonight.

3 Brave Cold Waters For New Year's Swim

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two men and a woman braved 28-degree temperatures Friday to take their annual New Year's Day swims in Pittsburgh area rivers.

David E. Nichols, 59, and his wife, Elizabeth, 55, spent about 15 minutes in the cold waters of the Monongahela River. Gus Brickner, 46, of Charleroi, a., took his annual Jan. 1 dip in the Allegheny River.

Nichols has been going swimming on each New Year's day since 1940. His wife started in 1955. Brickner's swim was his 10th on New Year's day.

Washington Romps, 44-8

Young Huskies Surprise Wisconsin In Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The 13-year Rose Bowl pact between the Big Ten and the now defunct Pacific Coast Conference ended with a few touches of irony.

Washington's young Huskies surprised favored Wisconsin 44-8 Friday to close out the series.

Wisconsin was the only Big Ten team to have lost previously under the just expired pact. The Badgers were whipped 7-0 by Southern California in 1953.

Aside from Wisconsin's 1960 and 1953 losses, the Big Ten teams made the annual New Year's Day trek look like a plague of locusts to West Coast fans.

Washington's triggermen were a brilliant quarterback, Bob Schloredt, and a speedy Negro halfback, George Fleming. It was the Huskies' first triumph in five trips to Pasadena.

Many of the 100,000 fans who sat in the chilly stadium were startled when the inspired Huskies exploded for 17 points in the first quarter.

"The turning point was when Fleming kicked that field goal and gave us a 10-0 lead," said Washington's Young (32) Coach Jim Owens. "That put us in control and Wisconsin began to press."

Owens said the key to victory was Washington's smaller but faster line which manhandled the Badger offense all afternoon.

"Washington was just more aggressive than we were — much more aggressive," said Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn.

Wisconsin handed the ball over on fumbles four times. Coach Bruhn blamed the bobbles on "just good hard tackling—nothing else."

Schloredt and Fleming—named the game's most valuable players—wrecked the Badgers in the opening quarter. Schloredt marched the Huskies 48 yards in 10 plays for a touchdown and Fleming kicked a 36-yard field goal and ran back a punt 53 yards for a touchdown before the Badgers knew they were in a ball game.

Nixon 'Quarterbacks' In Rose Bowl Stands

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A one-time Whittier College football player who never won a letter did a bit of quarterbacking from the stands during the Rose Bowl game.

It was the seventh Rose Bowl game for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and despite the nippy weather, he enjoyed it immensely.

Nixon, grand marshal of the New Year's Day Tournament of Roses, sat across the aisle from Rose Queen Margarethe Bertelson.

"Who you rooting for?" asked Miss Bertelson, a transplanted Minnesotan now attending Pasadena City College.

"I'm neutral as vice president," Nixon replied. "But as a Californian, I'm for the West."

At one point, he commented to the queen: "Wisconsin's playing too cautiously, that's why they're losing. Just look at (Washington quarterback Bob) Schloredt. He's a great player. He runs the team like (pro quarterback John) Unitas. Washington's playing like the pros."

"You sure know a lot about football," Miss Bertelson declared.

"I should," Nixon laughed. "I sat on the bench for four years next to the coach while I was at Whittier."

Suffield Fire Damage Placed At $250,000

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Fire early today gutted the warehouse of the Porter Heating and Plumbing Co. in nearby Suffield, causing damage estimated by firemen at $250,000.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Cleveland Man Kills Wife, Then Himself

CLEVELAND (AP) — An east side man shot and killed his wife and then took his own life early today in the bedroom of their home, police reported.

Dead were Juan Melandes, 37, and his wife, Catherine, 45.

Jesus Melandes, brother of the dead man, told police he was sleeping in an upstairs bedroom when he was awakened by three shots. He said he went downstairs and found his brother and sister-in-law lying on a bedroom floor. Police said a .32-caliber pistol was on the floor between the dead couple.

Mrs. Melandes was shot in the neck and the chest and her husband was shot in the head, police said.

Purse Returned

SEATTLE (AP) — A purse snatched from Mrs. Grant Morris in a Youngstown, Ohio, elevator in February, 1936 was returned Friday. The former Youngstown woman opened a crudely addressed package she received in the mail, and in it was her purse, complete with old photographs, receipts for bills she had paid on that day so long ago, and even a $10 bill in the money compartment. There was no clue as to who returned the purse or where it was mailed from.

Killed In Crash

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Clarence Thompson, 40, of Painesville, Ohio, was killed Friday when his car ran off U.S. 50 between here and Grafton and crashed into a tree. He was West Virginia's first reported highway victim of 1960.

In 1939 Alabama's football team set a Southeastern Conference record when it lost the ball only once on a fumble in nine games.

2 Pro Teams Lay Claim To Billy Cannon

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Billy Cannon, Louisiana States's highly publicized All-America football player, is being claimed today by two professional football teams.

The Houston Post reported Friday that Cannon signed with the Houston Oilers of the newly formed American Football League. But, Pete Rozelle, general manager of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, said in New Orleans, that his team had a "binding contract with Cannon."

Cannon, who played in LSU's 21-0 loss to Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day, was due in Tucson, Ariz., this morning to play in the All-American Bowl today. He was unavailable for comment Friday night.

C. S. (Bud) Adams, Houston oiler owner, said Cannon signed a contract with Adrian Burke, Adams' attorney, shortly after the Sugar Bowl game.

After hearing that Houston reportedly had signed Cannon, Rozelle said, "I can't say when Cannon signed with us because this thing might reach the courts, but we do have a binding contract with Cannon and we intend to enforce it."

Unbeaten Young Heavyweight Wins On TKO In Fourth

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom McNeeley, sturdy son of a Boston florist, still is an unbeaten young heavyweight with his first main event under his belt.

McNeeley got off a little easier than expected Friday night when he scored a technical knockout over George Logan of Boise, Idaho. Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State Athletic Commission, stopped the bout after he examined Logan's eye cut in his corner after the end of the fourth. Under New York rules that goes as a fourth-round TKO.

McNeeley, 196½, dropped Logan, 202, with a left hook in the first round. He said it was the first time he ever knocked anybody down with his left hand. Logan said it was the first time he had been on the deck.

McNeeley, 22, was pleased about the knockdown. "I've been working and working on that hook," he said in a Boston accent. "My right hand always has been my big punch."

Logan, 23, had lost only to Hurricane Jackson in 14 previous bouts. McNeeley now has won 16 straight and only two have gone the route.

Gator Bowl Contest Today Rated As Tossup

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles sent his Razorbacks out today with orders to beat Georgia Tech and shatter a football bowl game winning streak Broyles helped Tech build.

The scene: The 15th Gator Bowl game. And it was in this bowl three years ago that Georgia Tech won its sixth bowl game in successive season.

Broyles was an assistant to Tech Coach Bobby Dodd during those six bowling seasons and earlier he went to three bowls as a Tech player.

He now is head man at Arkansas and his ambition is to start a bowl winning streak of his own at the expense of his former coach and school.

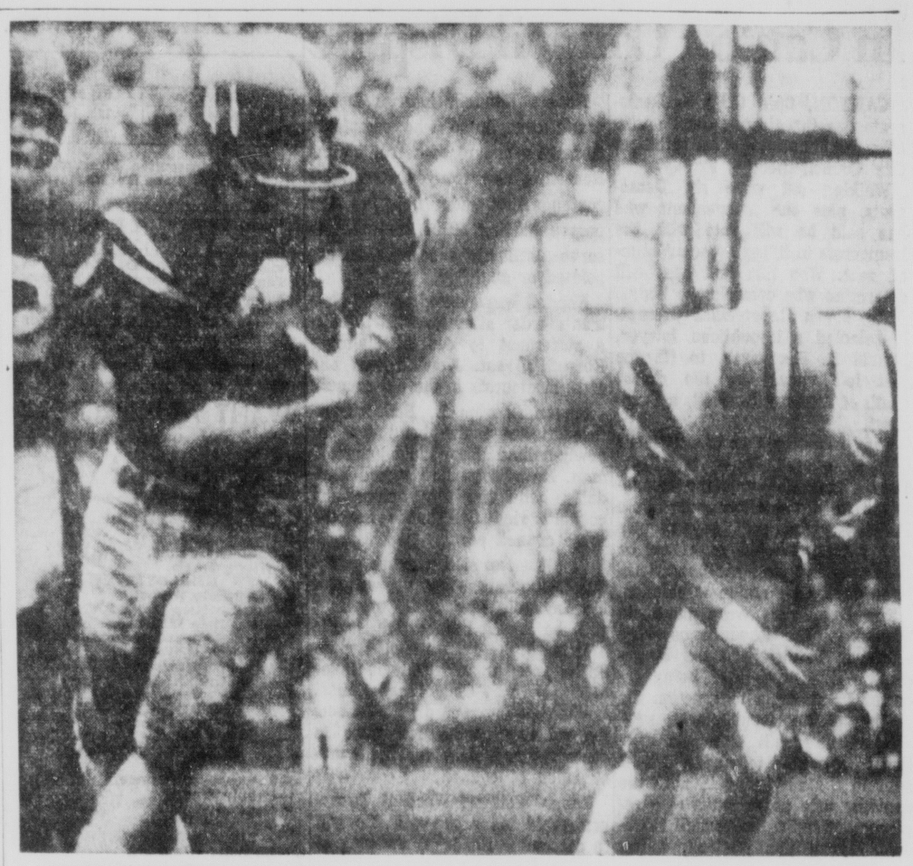

The game is rated a tossup. The kickoff was set for 2:15 p.m. EST.

1 Killed, 3 Injured In One-Car Accident

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Ward Cutlip, 23, of Warren, was killed today when the car in which he was riding left Ohio 7 one mile south of North Lima and overturned, pinning him underneath, the Ohio High Patrol reported. Three other men were injured, none seriously.

Cutlip's death was the first traffic fatality of 1960 in Mahoning County.

Wyoming quarterback Jim Walden set a new Skyline Conference career record in average gain per play. In two seasons Walden had an average of 6.57 yards per play.

CHARLIE FLOWERS (41) of Mississippi picks up two yards as LSU's Hart Bourque (23) lowers his head and drives in for the stop in the first period of the Sugar Bowl game New Year's day at New Orleans. Ole Miss won, 21-0. (UPI Telephoto)

Ole Miss Takes To Air To Capture Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — When Mississippi fell 7-3 to Louisiana State last Oct. 31, many Rebel followers blamed the loss on Coach Johnny Vaught's cautiousness.

Vaught didn't have much to say then. But Friday in the Sugar Bowl he answered his critics with a style of football they should have liked as the powerful Mississippians ripped LSU 21-0.

Quarterback Bobby Franklin, the game's most valuable player, never gave the devotees of wide open action a chance to grumble.

His first call in the rout was an 11-yard pass to All-America Charlie Flowers. It set Mississippi off on its first of many drives. Although the march didn't score, LSU was in a hole from it.

Passes brought the Rebels, ranked second nationally, all three of their touchdowns against the third-ranked Tigers. Quarterback Jake Gibbs threw for the first score with less than one minute remaining in the first half.

Both Vaught and LSU Coach Paul Dietzel described the play, good for 43 yards, as the turning point of the game.

Franklin passed 19 yards to Larry Grantham in the third quarter for the second touchdown and 9 yards to George Blair in the fourth period for the last touchdown.

LSU, third in the final rankings, was a fine ball club, Vaught said, but undoubtedly suffered from its injury list.

Ole Miss also got even with Billy Cannon, LSU's All-America halfback who was the hero of the first Ole Miss-LSU game with his storybook 89-yard touchdown punt return in the fourth quarter.

Like the other LSU players, he never could move past the Ole Miss tacklers. LSU wound up with a minus 15 yards rushing.

Ohio Soldier, 18, Dies From Bullet Wound

He was found shot at 2:45 a.m. at his guard post. Military investigators said they believed the shot was accidentally self-inflicted.

The only important action Friday night was in the Poinsettia Bowl in Greenville, S.C., where The Citadel defeated Bucknell, 95-73, and Furman crushed Harvard, 87-69. The Citadel and Furman will meet for the championship tonight.

3 Brave Cold Waters For New Year's Swim

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two men and a woman braved 28-degree temperatures Friday to take their annual New Year's Day swims in Pittsburgh area rivers.

David E. Nichols, 59, and his wife, Elizabeth, 55, spent about 15 minutes in the cold waters of the Monongahela River. Gus Brickner, 46, of Charleroi, a., took his annual Jan. 1 dip in the Allegheny River.

Nichols has been going swimming on each New Year's day since 1940. His wife started in 1955. Brickner's swim was his 10th on New Year's day.

Washington Romps, 44-8

Young Huskies Surprise Wisconsin In Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The 13-year Rose Bowl pact between the Big Ten and the now defunct Pacific Coast Conference ended with a few touches of irony.

Washington's young Huskies surprised favored Wisconsin 44-8 Friday to close out the series.

Wisconsin was the only Big Ten team to have lost previously under the just expired pact. The Badgers were whipped 7-0 by Southern California in 1953.

Aside from Wisconsin's 1960 and 1953 losses, the Big Ten teams made the annual New Year's Day trek look like a plague of locusts to West Coast fans.

Washington's triggermen were a brilliant quarterback, Bob Schloredt, and a speedy Negro halfback, George Fleming. It was the Huskies' first triumph in five trips to Pasadena.

Many of the 100,000 fans who sat in the chilly stadium were startled when the inspired Huskies exploded for 17 points in the first quarter.

"The turning point was when Fleming kicked that field goal and gave us a 10-0 lead," said Washington's Young (32) Coach Jim Owens. "That put us in control and Wisconsin began to press."

Owens said the key to victory was Washington's smaller but faster line which manhandled the Badger offense all afternoon.

"Washington was just more aggressive than we were — much more aggressive," said Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn.

Wisconsin handed the ball over on fumbles four times. Coach Bruhn blamed the bobbles on "just good hard tackling—nothing else."

Schloredt and Fleming—named the game's most valuable players—wrecked the Badgers in the opening quarter. Schloredt marched the Huskies 48 yards in 10 plays for a touchdown and Fleming kicked a 36-yard field goal and ran back a punt 53 yards for a touchdown before the Badgers knew they were in a ball game.

Nixon 'Quarterbacks' In Rose Bowl Stands

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A one-time Whittier College football player who never won a letter did a bit of quarterbacking from the stands during the Rose Bowl game.

It was the seventh Rose Bowl game for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and despite the nippy weather, he enjoyed it immensely.

Nixon, grand marshal of the New Year's Day Tournament of Roses, sat across the aisle from Rose Queen Margarethe Bertelson.

"Who you rooting for?" asked Miss Bertelson, a transplanted Minnesotan now attending Pasadena City College.

"I'm neutral as vice president," Nixon replied. "But as a Californian, I'm for the West."

At one point, he commented to the queen: "Wisconsin's playing too cautiously, that's why they're losing. Just look at (Washington quarterback Bob) Schloredt. He's a great player. He runs the team like (pro quarterback John) Unitas. Washington's playing like the pros."

"You sure know a lot about football," Miss Bertelson declared.

"I should," Nixon laughed. "I sat on the bench for four years next to the coach while I was at Whittier."

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Fire early today gutted the warehouse of the Porter Heating and Plumbing Co. in nearby Suffield, causing damage estimated by firemen at $250,000.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Cleveland Man Kills Wife, Then Himself

CLEVELAND (AP) — An east side man shot and killed his wife and then took his own life early today in the bedroom of their home, police reported.

Dead were Juan Melandes, 37, and his wife, Catherine, 45.

Jesus Melandes, brother of the dead man, told police he was sleeping in an upstairs bedroom when he was awakened by three shots. He said he went downstairs and found his brother and sister-in-law lying on a bedroom floor. Police said a .32-caliber pistol was on the floor between the dead couple.

Mrs. Melandes was shot in the neck and the chest and her husband was shot in the head, police said.

Purse Returned

SEATTLE (AP) — A purse snatched from Mrs. Grant Morris in a Youngstown, Ohio, elevator in February, 1936 was returned Friday. The former Youngstown woman opened a crudely addressed package she received in the mail, and in it was her purse, complete with old photographs, receipts for bills she had paid on that day so long ago, and even a $10 bill in the money compartment. There was no clue as to who returned the purse or where it was mailed from.

Killed In Crash

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)— Clarence Thompson, 40, of Painesville, Ohio, was killed Friday when his car ran off U.S. 50 between here and Grafton and crashed into a tree. He was West Virginia's first reported highway victim of 1960.

In 1939 Alabama's football team set a Southeastern Conference record when it lost the ball only once on a fumble in nine games.

2 Pro Teams Lay Claim To Billy Cannon

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Billy Cannon, Louisiana States's highly publicized All-America football player, is being claimed today by two professional football teams.

The Houston Post reported Friday that Cannon signed with the Houston Oilers of the newly formed American Football League. But, Pete Rozelle, general manager of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, said in New Orleans, that his team had a "binding contract with Cannon."

Cannon, who played in LSU's 21-0 loss to Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day, was due in Tucson, Ariz., this morning to play in the All-American Bowl today. He was unavailable for comment Friday night.

C. S. (Bud) Adams, Houston oiler owner, said Cannon signed a contract with Adrian Burke, Adams' attorney, shortly after the Sugar Bowl game.

After hearing that Houston reportedly had signed Cannon, Rozelle said, "I can't say when Cannon signed with us because this thing might reach the courts, but we do have a binding contract with Cannon and we intend to enforce it."

Unbeaten Young Heavyweight Wins On TKO In Fourth

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom McNeeley, sturdy son of a Boston florist, still is an unbeaten young heavyweight with his first main event under his belt.

McNeeley got off a little easier than expected Friday night when he scored a technical knockout over George Logan of Boise, Idaho. Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State Athletic Commission, stopped the bout after he examined Logan's eye cut in his corner after the end of the fourth. Under New York rules that goes as a fourth-round TKO.

McNeeley, 196½, dropped Logan, 202, with a left hook in the first round. He said it was the first time he ever knocked anybody down with his left hand. Logan said it was the first time he had been on the deck.

McNeeley, 22, was pleased about the knockdown. "I've been working and working on that hook," he said in a Boston accent. "My right hand always has been my big punch."

Logan, 23, had lost only to Hurricane Jackson in 14 previous bouts. McNeeley now has won 16 straight and only two have gone the route.

Gator Bowl Contest Today Rated As Tossup

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles sent his Razorbacks out today with orders to beat Georgia Tech and shatter a football bowl game winning streak Broyles helped Tech build.

The scene: The 15th Gator Bowl game. And it was in this bowl three years ago that Georgia Tech won its sixth bowl game in successive season.

Broyles was an assistant to Tech Coach Bobby Dodd during those six bowling seasons and earlier he went to three bowls as a Tech player.

He now is head man at Arkansas and his ambition is to start a bowl winning streak of his own at the expense of his former coach and school.

The game is rated a tossup. The kickoff was set for 2:15 p.m. EST.

1 Killed, 3 Injured In One-Car Accident

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Ward Cutlip, 23, of Warren, was killed today when the car in which he was riding left Ohio 7 one mile south of North Lima and overturned, pinning him underneath, the Ohio High Patrol reported. Three other men were injured, none seriously.

Cutlip's death was the first traffic fatality of 1960 in Mahoning County.

Wyoming quarterback Jim Walden set a new Skyline Conference career record in average gain per play. In two seasons Walden had an average of 6.57 yards per play.

CHARLIE FLOWERS (41) of Mississippi picks up two yards as LSU's Hart Bourque (23) lowers his head and drives in for the stop in the first period of the Sugar Bowl game New Year's day at New Orleans. Ole Miss won, 21-0. (UPI Telephoto)

Ole Miss Takes To Air To Capture Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — When Mississippi fell 7-3 to Louisiana State last Oct. 31, many Rebel followers blamed the loss on Coach Johnny Vaught's cautiousness.

Vaught didn't have much to say then. But Friday in the Sugar Bowl he answered his critics with a style of football they should have liked as the powerful Mississippians ripped LSU 21-0.

Quarterback Bobby Franklin, the game's most valuable player, never gave the devotees of wide open action a chance to grumble.

His first call in the rout was an 11-yard pass to All-America Charlie Flowers. It set Mississippi off on its first of many drives. Although the march didn't score, LSU was in a hole from it.

Passes brought the Rebels, ranked second nationally, all three of their touchdowns against the third-ranked Tigers. Quarterback Jake Gibbs threw for the first score with less than one minute remaining in the first half.

Both Vaught and LSU Coach Paul Dietzel described the play, good for 43 yards, as the turning point of the game.

Franklin passed 19 yards to Larry Grantham in the third quarter for the second touchdown and 9 yards to George Blair in the fourth period for the last touchdown.

LSU, third in the final rankings, was a fine ball club, Vaught said, but undoubtedly suffered from its injury list.

Ole Miss also got even with Billy Cannon, LSU's All-America halfback who was the hero of the first Ole Miss-LSU game with his storybook 89-yard touchdown punt return in the fourth quarter.

Like the other LSU players, he never could move past the Ole Miss tacklers. LSU wound up with a minus 15 yards rushing.

He was found shot at 2:45 a.m. at his guard post. Military investigators said they believed the shot was accidentally self-inflicted.

Over Seat Vacancy

Democrats Eye Court Fight In Canton Council Dispute

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Democrats are threatening court action after walking out of a turbulent City Council meeting Friday.

Walking out were six Democrats, plus one independent who has said he will vote with the Democrats in filling a vacant council seat. Who fills that seat will determine who controls the body.

The seven Republicans promptly selected a Republican lawyer, Donald R. Ramsayer, to fill the seat left vacant by the recent death of Anthony Rossetti, a Democrat.

The Democrats contend there was no quorum when they left. They claim also that the Republicans fail to qualify under state statutes which they say require any person elected to office be sworn in and post his bond within 10 days after notice of election.

The Democrats were sworn in Thursday. The Republicans were sworn in Friday, and the Democrats walked out after being rebuffed in attempts to question the seating of the Republicans.

Rossetti's death after his election to a second term, left a 7-6-1 split in the new council, with the deciding vote on selection of a replacement falling to Council President Myron Van Nostran, a Republican.

Robert Kendall, interim Democratic councilman who completed Rossetti's unexpired term, claims Rossetti's new two-year term. He contends that under Ohio law any person holding office continues to serve until his successor is appointed or qualified.

Kendall was evicted on Van Nostran's order after he tried to read a statement to council claiming Rossetti's seat. Kendall was one of 12 Democrats in the old council.

Mayor Charles L. Babcock refused to sign the bond for the newly-named Republican councilman. He said he had signed Kendall's bond the day before and couldn't sign two bonds for the same council seat.

Van Nostran said whether or not the Democrats show up, regular Monday night council meetings will be held. Before the hectic meeting broke up, the eight Republicans voted unanimously in favor of a motion by Councilman Robert Levitt that the record should show the missing councilmen were in contempt and were censured under rules of council.

Henry Walther, Ward 10 Democrat, said his group will file suit to determine the legal standing of the Democrats' contentions.

UMW Official Speaks

New Industry Or Taxes Urged For West Virginia

BECKLEY (AP) — West Virginia, President George J. Titler of United Mine Workers District 29 said in a weekend statement, should double its efforts to bring new industry or raise 15 million more dollars in taxes.

He somewhat reluctantly brought up the idea of a consumers' sales tax increase in discussing steps to "prime the pump in West Virginia and put buying power into the hands of people idle through no fault of their own."

More tax revenue, Titler said, can be obtained "with a severance tax, a personal income tax or, as a last resort, one cent more consumers' sales tax-earmarked for relief only."

The Legislature has had before it several times in recent years bills to impose a personal income tax, and to place a severance tax on the production of natural resources. None of the measures has been enacted finally.

Among several measures proposed by Gov. Underwood in his call for the 1960 Legislature to convene here Jan. 13 was one to exempt food purchases from the state's current 2-per cent consumers' sales tax.

That would cut general revenue by an estimated nine million dollars a year, but Underwood said he would be prepared to suggest to legislators means of balancing that loss by other revenue measures.

The tax exemption proposal was among several generally outlined by Underwood as steps to relieve economic stress in West Virginia.

Titler said that the consumers' sales tax has always been obnoxious to the common people and still is because "it taxes the poor more than the rich." His statement continued:

"The tax burden should be put on the people with the ability to pay, which makes the severance tax or personal income tax more equitable.

"The corporation-controlled Senate will not pass any tax bill that is not approved by the Chamber of Commerce, so it seems that the only hope of gettng tax revenue to eliminate distress is a consumers' sales tax."

Titler said such a tax increase should be earmarked "for relief only."

Fun, Church, Parades, Games Highlighted New Year's Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fun and frolic greeted the first hours of 1960 Friday, followed by church services, parades and bowl football games.

The advent of a new decade gave added impetus to celebrations, with hopes high for an era of happiness and prosperity.

Merrymakers throughout the world cut loose with cheery greetings and noisemakers. Auto horns blared in Paris and in other cities and towns. Fireworks added to the din in such far-removed areas as Germany and Red China.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII gave his blessings to 20,000 Romans and tourists gathered in Vatican City's St. Peter's Square.

It was a chilly day at Pasadena, Calif., but more than a million persons turned out to view the annual Tournament of Roses parade. Acting as grand marshal was Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who was accompanied by his wife Pat. Their two daughters, Patricia, 14, and Julie, 11, were among those in the grandstand along with Chief Justice Earl Warren and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

More than 330,000 football fans turned out for the contests at Pasadena (Rose Bowl), Dallas (Cotton Bowl), New Orleans (Sugar Bowl) and Miami (Orange Bowl).

Nightspots everywhere reported record business, and New York's Times Square—roped off for celebrants—drew more than 300,000 persons.

Cincinnati's Salvage Corp. To End Duty

CINCINNATI (AP) — The city Salvage Corps, a decades-old link with the past that never lost its usefulness, ends it duty Monday.

Fire Chief Dan F. Vogel said Friday night a request for more men to run the unit was turned down.

He said the fire department no longer has enough manpower to run the Salvage Corps efficiently.

Fifteen men borrowed from other fire companies six months ago will be returned to department posts.

The Salvage Corps was set up 73 years ago to keep fire losses at a minimum.

While firefighters were dousing a blaze, the corps would move in with tarpaulins and other gear to keep water and fire away from undamaged parts.

A group of insurance companies financed the corps. But six months ago they decided that it was too expensive, although still useful.

The fire department took over the equipment and sought to run it as part of its firefighting units.

Chief Vogel said he remembered several fires in the past year where the salvage unit prevented need for extra alarms.

"From a firefighters standpoint," he said, "the loss of the activity of the Salvage Corps as a working unit will be felt strongly."

He was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Krupa, 23. Krupa was killed when the car went out of control and rammed a utility pole on East 54th Street.

Over Seat Vacancy

Democrats Eye Court Fight In Canton Council Dispute

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Democrats are threatening court action after walking out of a turbulent City Council meeting Friday.

Walking out were six Democrats, plus one independent who has said he will vote with the Democrats in filling a vacant council seat. Who fills that seat will determine who controls the body.

The seven Republicans promptly selected a Republican lawyer, Donald R. Ramsayer, to fill the seat left vacant by the recent death of Anthony Rossetti, a Democrat.

The Democrats contend there was no quorum when they left. They claim also that the Republicans fail to qualify under state statutes which they say require any person elected to office be sworn in and post his bond within 10 days after notice of election.

The Democrats were sworn in Thursday. The Republicans were sworn in Friday, and the Democrats walked out after being rebuffed in attempts to question the seating of the Republicans.

Rossetti's death after his election to a second term, left a 7-6-1 split in the new council, with the deciding vote on selection of a replacement falling to Council President Myron Van Nostran, a Republican.

Robert Kendall, interim Democratic councilman who completed Rossetti's unexpired term, claims Rossetti's new two-year term. He contends that under Ohio law any person holding office continues to serve until his successor is appointed or qualified.

Kendall was evicted on Van Nostran's order after he tried to read a statement to council claiming Rossetti's seat. Kendall was one of 12 Democrats in the old council.

Mayor Charles L. Babcock refused to sign the bond for the newly-named Republican councilman. He said he had signed Kendall's bond the day before and couldn't sign two bonds for the same council seat.

Van Nostran said whether or not the Democrats show up, regular Monday night council meetings will be held. Before the hectic meeting broke up, the eight Republicans voted unanimously in favor of a motion by Councilman Robert Levitt that the record should show the missing councilmen were in contempt and were censured under rules of council.

Henry Walther, Ward 10 Democrat, said his group will file suit to determine the legal standing of the Democrats' contentions.

New Industry Or Taxes Urged For West Virginia

BECKLEY (AP) — West Virginia, President George J. Titler of United Mine Workers District 29 said in a weekend statement, should double its efforts to bring new industry or raise 15 million more dollars in taxes.

He somewhat reluctantly brought up the idea of a consumers' sales tax increase in discussing steps to "prime the pump in West Virginia and put buying power into the hands of people idle through no fault of their own."

More tax revenue, Titler said, can be obtained "with a severance tax, a personal income tax or, as a last resort, one cent more consumers' sales tax-earmarked for relief only."

The Legislature has had before it several times in recent years bills to impose a personal income tax, and to place a severance tax on the production of natural resources. None of the measures has been enacted finally.

Among several measures proposed by Gov. Underwood in his call for the 1960 Legislature to convene here Jan. 13 was one to exempt food purchases from the state's current 2-per cent consumers' sales tax.

That would cut general revenue by an estimated nine million dollars a year, but Underwood said he would be prepared to suggest to legislators means of balancing that loss by other revenue measures.

The tax exemption proposal was among several generally outlined by Underwood as steps to relieve economic stress in West Virginia.

Titler said that the consumers' sales tax has always been obnoxious to the common people and still is because "it taxes the poor more than the rich." His statement continued:

"The tax burden should be put on the people with the ability to pay, which makes the severance tax or personal income tax more equitable.

"The corporation-controlled Senate will not pass any tax bill that is not approved by the Chamber of Commerce, so it seems that the only hope of gettng tax revenue to eliminate distress is a consumers' sales tax."

Titler said such a tax increase should be earmarked "for relief only."

Fun, Church, Parades, Games Highlighted New Year's Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fun and frolic greeted the first hours of 1960 Friday, followed by church services, parades and bowl football games.

The advent of a new decade gave added impetus to celebrations, with hopes high for an era of happiness and prosperity.

Merrymakers throughout the world cut loose with cheery greetings and noisemakers. Auto horns blared in Paris and in other cities and towns. Fireworks added to the din in such far-removed areas as Germany and Red China.

Although most parties were held in private homes in the Soviet Union, crowds thronged Moscow streets amid special decorations.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII gave his blessings to 20,000 Romans and tourists gathered in Vatican City's St. Peter's Square.

It was a chilly day at Pasadena, Calif., but more than a million persons turned out to view the annual Tournament of Roses parade. Acting as grand marshal was Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who was accompanied by his wife Pat. Their two daughters, Patricia, 14, and Julie, 11, were among those in the grandstand along with Chief Justice Earl Warren and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

More than 330,000 football fans turned out for the contests at Pasadena (Rose Bowl), Dallas (Cotton Bowl), New Orleans (Sugar Bowl) and Miami (Orange Bowl).

Nightspots everywhere reported record business, and New York's Times Square—roped off for celebrants—drew more than 300,000 persons.

Cincinnati's Salvage Corp. To End Duty

CINCINNATI (AP) — The city Salvage Corps, a decades-old link with the past that never lost its usefulness, ends it duty Monday.

Fire Chief Dan F. Vogel said Friday night a request for more men to run the unit was turned down.

He said the fire department no longer has enough manpower to run the Salvage Corps efficiently.

Fifteen men borrowed from other fire companies six months ago will be returned to department posts.

The Salvage Corps was set up 73 years ago to keep fire losses at a minimum.

While firefighters were dousing a blaze, the corps would move in with tarpaulins and other gear to keep water and fire away from undamaged parts.

A group of insurance companies financed the corps. But six months ago they decided that it was too expensive, although still useful.

The fire department took over the equipment and sought to run it as part of its firefighting units.

Chief Vogel said he remembered several fires in the past year where the salvage unit prevented need for extra alarms.

"From a firefighters standpoint," he said, "the loss of the activity of the Salvage Corps as a working unit will be felt strongly."

Un-American Activities Director To Be Speaker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One of the principal speakers at the 43rd annual convention of the Ohio Dairyproducts Assn. to be held later this month will be Richard Arens, director of the staff of the House un - American Activities Commission, the association has announced.

Arens, one of the nations best informed men on communism in America, will speak at a luncheon on the second day of the three-day convention to be held Jan. 25-27. The convention will be held in the Deshler-Hilton hotel here.

Claims 2nd Victim

CLEVELAND (AP) — A traffic accident that killed one man Thursday has claimed a second victim. Daniel Siechowski, 20, of Cleveland died in St. Alexis Hospital Friday. He was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Krupa, 23. Krupa was killed when the car went out of control and rammed a utility pole on East 54th Street.

Ohio Reports 11 Killed In Road Mishaps

By The Associated Press

Although safety officials predicted a higher highway death toll during the Christmas holiday weekend, the New Year's period appears headed to become the more deadly.

Since the dead count began at 6 p.m. Thursday, 11 persons have been reported killed on the state's roads. During the entire Christmas weekend only 17 persons died on the roads—and only six of them perished during the first 30 hours of the period.

Last year, in a New Year's weekend that was a day longer, the highway toll reached 17. The over-all count, however, was 30 which included two who died in fires and 11 others in miscellaneous accidents.

The only other accidental death reported this weekend was a 4-year-old girl who was shot.

The fatalities:

Thursday Night

William S. Starr, of Haskins (Wood County), when his car ran off Ohio 64 two miles northwest of Bowling Green and rammed a utility pole.

Laure Lee Combs, 4, of North Baltimore, accidentally shot in the heart by an automatic pistol held by her father in their trailer home.

Alfred King, 62, and Mrs. James F. Goshorn, 38, both of Cleveland, struck by a car as they walked across a street in Cleveland.

Raymond Thornesberry, 16, of Niles, when the car in which he was a passenger failed to make a curve and rolled over on him 1½ miles south of Warren.

Friday

Mrs. Marian Malechkar, about 60, of Cleveland, struck while crossing a street there by a car operated, police said, by an intoxicated driver.

Dennis Hohenbrink, 18, of near Ottawa, when his car hit a bridge abutment on U.S. 224 two miles west of Kalida.

Margaret Bryan, 28, of near Lancaster, when the car in which she was a passenger overturned on Ohio 79 south of Newark.

Louis G. Beck, 24, of Cincinnati, died when an automobile plunged off the C & O bridge over the Ohio River at Cincinnati and fell 75 feet into a parking lot along the river's edge.

Eugene Latham, 25, of near Batavia, when his motorcycle collided with an auto on Ohio 74, west of Newtown (Hamilton County).

Loren T. Atherton, 57, of Springfield, when the car his wife was driving went out of control and crashed on a road just west of Springfield.

Louis McMasters, 23, of Rt. 1, Forest (Hardin County), when his car left Ohio 53 four miles north of Kenton and hit a utility pole.

Cleveland Police Adding Color To Rogue's Gallery

CLEVELAND (AP) — They're adding color to the rogue's gallery. Police hope it will enable them to keep a better watch on the players.

The Cleveland police department says it will put into permanent operation soon a system of color photography of prisoners' faces. Each suspect will be photographed with film from which both black and white prints and color transparencies can be made. The transparencies then will be used in slides, to show the full-length figure of the suspect in color.

Black and white picture files will be continued. The color transparencies will be filed in both a numerical system and by groupings of criminals' methods of operation.

The camera to be used for the color shots will be a germanmade, 35-milimeter type which will take a front and side view of the person on the same transparency.

"The public can be a great help to us by noting physical peculiarities," said Capt. James K. Dodge, head of the scientific bureau of identification. "We'll be able to make good use of anything they can tell us about moles, scars, hair color and so forth."

Body Unidentified

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The body of a Negro woman found nude on Timberman Road northwest of here in Franklin County Friday is still unidentified, the sheriff's office said. Neither the sheriff's office nor Acting Coroner John Richardson were able to give the cause of death pending an autopsy. The woman appeared to be between 18 and 22-years-old, officers said.

Pennsylvania Cracks Down On Pinballs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State police were expected to begin full-scale enforcement today of the state attorney general's order that all multiple - coin pinball machines in Pennsylvania be confiscated.

The machines have been declared gambling devices and illegal in subsequent action by a Fayette County Court, the State Superior Court and the State Supreme Court.

State Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern ordered all such machines seized beginning New Year's day.

State police, however, were forced to concentrate on the heavy holiday traffic. There were no reported machine seizures.

The case originated in 1957 when police seized 17 multiple - coin machines in a raid in Fayette County. The court action followed.

Multiple - coin machines are those in which extra coins may be inserted to increase the odds on a game. Single - coin machines are not involved in the seizure order.

Meanwhile, Atty. Anthony Cavalcante of Uniontown, representing a number of multiple - coin machine owners in southwestern Pennsylvania, has still to act on his announced intention to appeal the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Students Announce Plans

Delegates From 3 Dixie States To Push Integration

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Delegations from three southern states attending the 18th Ecumenical Conference here announced plans to further integration when they return home.

At a news conference Friday night, spokesmen for delegations from Alabama, Tennessee and North Carolina told of plans their delegations intend to pursue when they return home.

William W. Branch Jr., a student at Auburn from Birmingham, Ala., said his group plans to create a better understanding of integration when it returns home so that when the time comes for integration, which they feel is inevitable, the transition can be made in a Christian way.

Branch's delegation has 50 members, of whom approximately a third are Negroes. He said that before the time for integration comes, his delegation will attempt to take the necessary steps to make desegregation and integration easier to accomplish.

In the spring, Branch said, his group will move to hold a statewide conference similar to the one here at Ohio University. It is to be interdenominational and interracial, he said.

Mary Scott Blackwell, representing a 65-member delegation from North Carolina, said her state also will hold a statewide conference this spring which will be interracial and interdenominational.

Miss Blackwell, of Ruffin, N.C., attends the University of North Carolina and is president of the North Carolina Student Christian Council.

She said her group's objectives are to get the denominational colleges in North Carolina to break segregation barriers, to strengthen interdenominational unity and to encourage students to draw up petitions to urge their various universities and administrations to accomplish the first two goals.

Allen York of Knoxville, Tenn., representing 48 students from his state, said his group felt it had to drop all traces of racial tensions within the delegation itself to be effective in inducing other students on its various campuses to do the same.

York, who attends Tennessee Wesleyan, said his group plans to talk to campus Christian groups to explore the racial issue so that it might be better understood.

Ohio Reports 11 Killed In Road Mishaps

By The Associated Press

Although safety officials predicted a higher highway death toll during the Christmas holiday weekend, the New Year's period appears headed to become the more deadly.

Since the dead count began at 6 p.m. Thursday, 11 persons have been reported killed on the state's roads. During the entire Christmas weekend only 17 persons died on the roads—and only six of them perished during the first 30 hours of the period.

Last year, in a New Year's weekend that was a day longer, the highway toll reached 17. The over-all count, however, was 30 which included two who died in fires and 11 others in miscellaneous accidents.

The only other accidental death reported this weekend was a 4-year-old girl who was shot.

The fatalities:

Thursday Night

William S. Starr, of Haskins (Wood County), when his car ran off Ohio 64 two miles northwest of Bowling Green and rammed a utility pole.

Laure Lee Combs, 4, of North Baltimore, accidentally shot in the heart by an automatic pistol held by her father in their trailer home.

Alfred King, 62, and Mrs. James F. Goshorn, 38, both of Cleveland, struck by a car as they walked across a street in Cleveland.

Raymond Thornesberry, 16, of Niles, when the car in which he was a passenger failed to make a curve and rolled over on him 1½ miles south of Warren.

Friday

Mrs. Marian Malechkar, about 60, of Cleveland, struck while crossing a street there by a car operated, police said, by an intoxicated driver.

Dennis Hohenbrink, 18, of near Ottawa, when his car hit a bridge abutment on U.S. 224 two miles west of Kalida.

Margaret Bryan, 28, of near Lancaster, when the car in which she was a passenger overturned on Ohio 79 south of Newark.

Louis G. Beck, 24, of Cincinnati, died when an automobile plunged off the C & O bridge over the Ohio River at Cincinnati and fell 75 feet into a parking lot along the river's edge.

Eugene Latham, 25, of near Batavia, when his motorcycle collided with an auto on Ohio 74, west of Newtown (Hamilton County).

Loren T. Atherton, 57, of Springfield, when the car his wife was driving went out of control and crashed on a road just west of Springfield.

Louis McMasters, 23, of Rt. ,1 Forest (Hardin County), when his car left Ohio 53 four miles north of Kenton and hit a utility pole.

Cleveland Police Adding Color To Rogue's Gallery

CLEVELAND (AP) — They're adding color to the rogue's gallery. Police hope it will enable them to keep a better watch on the players.

The Cleveland police department says it will put into permanent operation soon a system of color photography of prisoners' faces. Each suspect will be photographed with film from which both black and white prints and color transparencies can be made. The transparencies then will be used in slides, to show the full-length figure of the suspect in color.

Black and white picture files will be continued. The color transparencies will be filed in both a numerical system and by groupings of criminals' methods of operation.

The camera to be used for the color shots will be a germanmade, 35-milimeter type which will take a front and side view of the person on the same transparency.

"The public can be a great help to us by noting physical peculiarities," said Capt. James K. Dodge, head of the scientific bureau of identification. "We'll be able to make good use of anything they can tell us about moles, scars, hair color and so forth."

Body Unidentified

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The body of a Negro woman found nude on Timberman Road northwest of here in Franklin County Friday is still unidentified, the sheriff's office said. Neither the sheriff's office nor Acting Coroner John Richardson were able to give the cause of death pending an autopsy. The woman appeared to be between 18 and 22-years-old, officers said.

Pennsylvania Cracks Down On Pinballs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State police were expected to begin full-scale enforcement today of the state attorney general's order that all multiple - coin pinball machines in Pennsylvania be confiscated.

The machines have been declared gambling devices and illegal in subsequent action by a Fayette County Court, the State Superior Court and the State Supreme Court.

State Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern ordered all such machines seized beginning New Year's day.

State police, however, were forced to concentrate on the heavy holiday traffic. There were no reported machine seizures.

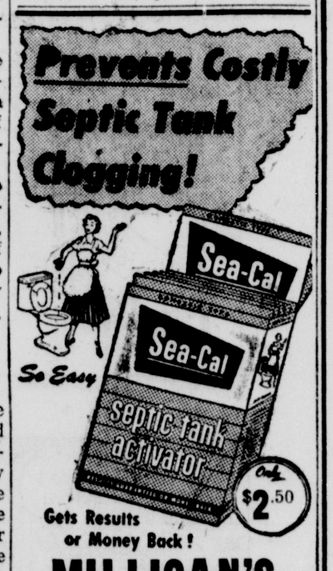

The case originated in 1957 when police seized 17 multiple - coin machines in a raid in Fayette County. The court action followed.

Multiple - coin machines are those in which extra coins may be inserted to increase the odds on a game. Single - coin machines are not involved in the seizure order.

Meanwhile, Atty. Anthony Cavalcante of Uniontown, representing a number of multiple - coin machine owners in southwestern Pennsylvania, has still to act on his announced intention to appeal the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Students Announce Plans

Delegates From 3 Dixie States To Push Integration

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Delegations from three southern states attending the 18th Ecumenical Conference here announced plans to further integration when they return home.

At a news conference Friday night, spokesmen for delegations from Alabama, Tennessee and North Carolina told of plans their delegations intend to pursue when they return home.

William W. Branch Jr., a student at Auburn from Birmingham, Ala., said his group plans to create a better understanding of integration when it returns home so that when the time comes for integration, which they feel is inevitable, the transition can be made in a Christian way.

Branch's delegation has 50 members, of whom approximately a third are Negroes. He said that before the time for integration comes, his delegation will attempt to take the necessary steps to make desegregation and integration easier to accomplish.

In the spring, Branch said, his group will move to hold a statewide conference similar to the one here at Ohio University. It is to be interdenominational and interracial, he said.

Mary Scott Blackwell, representing a 65-member delegation from North Carolina, said her state also will hold a statewide conference this spring which will be interracial and interdenominational.

Miss Blackwell, of Ruffin, N.C., attends the University of North Carolina and is president of the North Carolina Student Christian Council.

She said her group's objectives are to get the denominational colleges in North Carolina to break segregation barriers, to strengthen interdenominational unity and to encourage students to draw up petitions to urge their various universities and administrations to accomplish the first two goals.

Allen York of Knoxville, Tenn., representing 48 students from his state, said his group felt it had to drop all traces of racial tensions within the delegation itself to be effective in inducing other students on its various campuses to do the same.

York, who attends Tennessee Wesleyan, said his group plans to talk to campus Christian groups to explore the racial issue so that it might be better understood.

What Is a Saluki Schipperke Kuvasz Lhasa Apsos Basenji ?

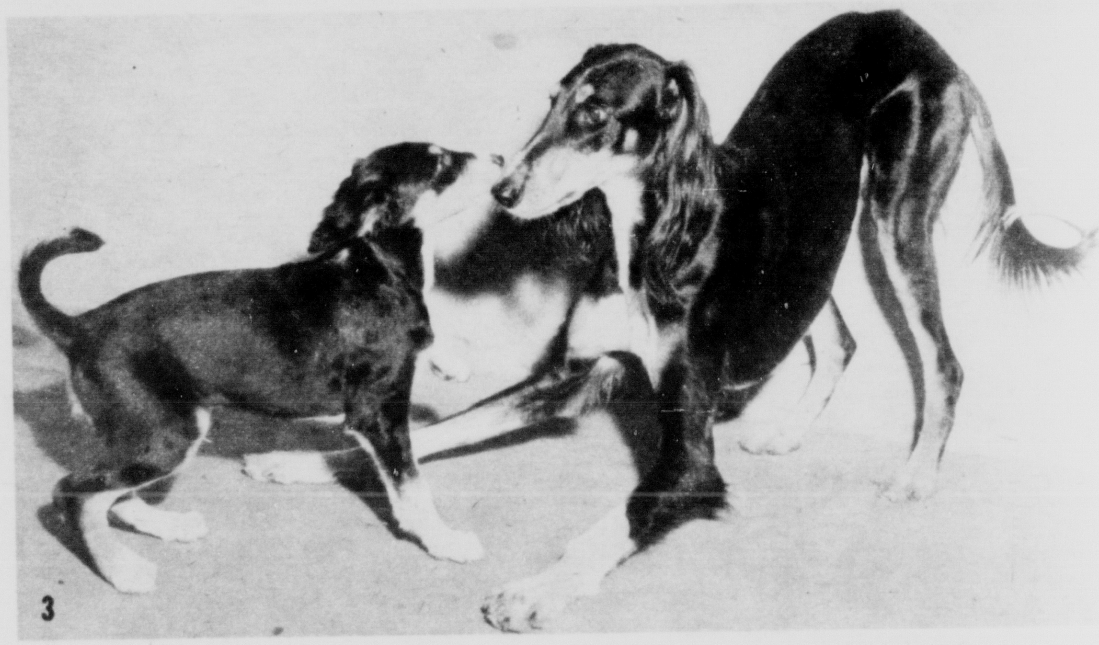

They're the doggonedest dogs you ever saw!

by WALT CHANDOHA

AS A PHOTOGRAPHER who specializes in pets like the dachshund on Family Weekly's cover, I sometimes tell myself, "I've seen just about everything when it comes to dogs." Then comes a dog I've never seen before nor even heard of. Not that they're new to the world: the saluki, pictured here with other rare breeds, was so loved by ancient Sumerians that they carved its picture on their walls some thousands of years ago. But in our country, at least, they're as rare as a dog lover without hair on his tweeds—and, as a pet photographer, I have seen just about everything when it comes to dog lovers.

1. Schipperke, from Belgium, is a smaller cousin of the Belgian sheep dog. A fine household pet, his name in Flemish means "little captain."

2. Kuvasz. A Hungarian sheep dog that came originally from Tibet via the Middle East. Until shepherds acquired them, kuvaszes were the exclusive pets and watchdogs of Hungarian kings.

3. Saluki. These keen-sighted and swift hounds are considered the oldest breed of domestic dog, strongly resembling 8,000-year-old Persian carvings.

4. Lhasa Apsos. Another breed from Tibet, his heavy coat of fur helps keep him warm in the frigid Himalayas.

5. Basenji. About the size of a fox terrier, the basenji came to Egypt from Central Africa. A voiceless dog, his bite is worse than his bark.

Says CHARLES H. GOREN, America's Most Famous Bridge Expert

"My new bridge discovery improves your game automatically

—or you don't pay for it"

An invitation to send for a free examination copy of AN EVENING OF BRIDGE WITH CHARLES GOREN — the SECOND learn-by-playing set developed by the world's most famous bridge expert. It's guaranteed to help you play more skillfully, more confidently, and with higher scores or you don't pay a cent!

You Can Play As Many As 96 Different Hands — with Charles Goren "by your side."

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE the best bridge player in your circle of friends . . . a sought-after partner . . . the authority others turn to for advice? It's simpler than you might think — and it's fun — with this remarkable new discovery by Charles Goren, the man who pioneered Point Count Bidding. It's not a book, not a course, but an entirely new CONCEPT of mastering both bidding and playing.

AN EVENING OF BRIDGE WITH CHARLES GOREN is a brand-new set — with a completely different manual and set of cards. But, like the earlier CHARLES GOREN'S NEW WAY TO BETTER BRIDGE, it is based on one of the oldest and most successful learning theories: experience is the best teacher.

With Mr. Goren's discovery, you learn by playing actual bridge hands. The only difference is that the hands have been scientifically predetermined to provide you with a wide variety of "key" decisions. Throughout each game Charles Goren is "by your side" — pointing out ways to improve your bids and plays. You pick up the experience you need at the same time as you enjoy some of the most stimulating bridge sessions you ever had.

Here's How It Works

A deck of specially-coded playing cards is dealt out according to the marks on the backs; so that each player gets one of 24 predetermined bridge hands. Each has been carefully chosen to cover a variety of challenging situations. No one knows what the other's hand is!

You bid the hand. Then you open the manual to see what bid Goren would have made — and why! At this point, the comments on the actual play of the hand are on another page and cannot be seen. You then start playing. Make your own decisions and your own mistakes. When the hand is over (or during its course if you prefer) you open the manual for a complete play-by-play commentary by Mr. Goren. And, of course, if you play different positions at different times, you will have 96 individual hands that you can play.

Like Private Lessons by America's Greatest Bridge Expert

You play each hand with three friends — just as you ordinarily would (or if you prefer you may even play "solitaire"). The only difference is that you have a bridge expert (in this case America's No. 1 expert) "looking over your shoulder." Through the advice in the 121-page manual, he explains strategies and rules, the reasons for various plays and bids. He gives you specific advice about specific bids and plays.

You do NOT bother about learning abstract theories or hard-to-remember rules. By actually bidding and playing each hand — and then having it thoroughly reviewed and explained by Goren — you cannot help absorbing a tremendous amount of expert and practical "know-how." Your game will improve automatically.

The Census Taker Wants To See YOU

He's not a snooper or a tattletale, just somebody who helps us build roads, make clothes, plan schools, and do many other things

by Jack Harrison Pollack

DRAWINGS BY DON MARGOLIS

SOME 160,000 MEN and women soon will be fanning out in all directions in the most far-flung man hunt in history. They will cover roughly 25 million miles—or 1,000 times around the world—in pursuit of facts about an estimated 180 million Americans from Hawaii to Alaska.

This formidable army of sleuths will visit 60 million city and rural households, bringing to a climax the 1960 U.S. census, which is now under way. To gather their firsthand statistical story of every man, woman, and child in the nation, they will track down people wherever they are to be found, whether it be city or wilderness.

They will make their way into caves, mines, tunnels, boxcars, barn lofts, abandoned streetcars, and other unlikely habitations. They will fly helicopters in isolated Western mountain areas, use rowboats in the Southern delta, slog by dog sled along the Arctic Circle. Their man hunt will take them inside prisons, hospitals, and countless other institutions.

There is nothing vague or whimsical about the questions they will ask when they come calling on you. On the contrary, the information unearthed by census sleuths will affect the way Americans live during the next ten years. The facts will enable government, private industry, and labor to plan their programs with a minimum of guesswork.

New hospitals, schools, factories, supermarkets, and transportation facilities will be built because of what census figures reveal about us. Businessmen use census statistics to determine their production. An automobile manufacturer, for example, doesn't draw a number out of a hat to decide how many new cars to build. Nor does a clothing manufacturer arbitrarily decide how many winter coats to produce. Each is guided by census figures which give an accurate picture of his potential market.

Even your state's representation in Congress may be affected by 1960 population figures. The U. S. Constitution requires that seats in the House of Representatives "...shall be apportioned among the ...States...according to their respective numbers..." Thus, California is expected to have more Congressmen after the 1960 census, and Maine and New York fewer.

The law requires you to answer census questions, so don't try to avoid or withhold information from the enumerator who calls on you. There's really no reason to, since the information you give is confidential and can't be used against you. In fact, a census taker who violates the oath of secrecy can be fined $1,000 and jailed for two years.

CHANCES ARE, census takers will be bitten by dogs, chased by bears, gored by bulls, butted by goats, and wet by babies. But it would take more than such hazards to deter them from their quest for information. They are prepared, too, for some unique, amusing, and hazardous situations.

One nose counter in a previous census noticed a prospector on the opposite bank of a river. Since there was no boat handy, he swam across with paper and pencil in his teeth.

In 1950, another census taker was barred from a nudist colony until he shed his garments. Then the nudists willingly answered his questions.

Nothing seems to faze the experienced census taker. One male enumerator ascended an 80-foot flagpole to get the facts from a steeple jack who refused to come down.

Census takers are inured, too, to some surprising replies to innocent questions. When a Brooklyn secretary, for example, was asked if she shared a bath, she replied indignantly, "I always bathe alone!" And a woman who was asked to name the "head of the household" replied, "That's me. My husband is the figurehead."

People often lie about their ages, especially women between 45 and 60. One mother of a 22-year-old daughter insisted she was only 29. When the enumerator pointed out the discrepancy, she admitted, "I've lied about my age so long, I've forgotten how old I really am."

On the other hand, men in their 90s often claim to be 100. "Many men tend to round out their ages upward in round numbers," says a census official.

In their rounds, census takers sometimes are called on to perform acts of heroism. One arrived just in time to join a bucket brigade and help save a burning building he had come to enumerate. Another, smelling gas in a city apartment, forced open the door and resuscitated an unconscious woman.

The hardest people to track down are those traveling around the country in search of work or adventure. To reach them, on March 31 the Census Bureau will stage a T- (for Transients) Night. Enumerators will visit hotels, motels, rooming houses, railway stations, trailer camps, YMCAs.

In addition, on April 8 and 18, a supplementary M- (for Mission) Night will be held. Census takers will descend on skid-row dives, all-night movies, hobo jungles, kitchen shelters, shantytowns, and even less-reputable establishments.

To streamline the giant 1960 nose count, the Bureau of the Census has devised a new do-it-yourself technique. This month, 380 temporary offices will be opened to supplement the 17 permanent regional offices. During February, the 160,000 census takers and 10,000 crew leaders will be hired. And in late March, every household and lived-in institution in the U.S. will be mailed an advance census questionnaire asking seven basic questions about all members of the household: name, address, relationship to head of household, sex, color or race, month and year of birth, and marital status.

In addition, a housing section of this simple form will ask the number of rooms in your house or apartment, whether you own or rent it, whether you have kitchen or cooking equipment, hot and cold running water, a flush toilet, a bathtub or shower.

For two weeks starting April 1, census takers will collect these questionnaires and transfer the information to a master sheet. At every fourth

What the Census Will Show

After the 1960 census findings are completed, reports running to approximately 100,000 pages will be published. Here is a Family Weekly preview of what Census Bureau officials expect to find.

1. The largest population increase in U. S. history. The 1950 U. S. nose count was 151,132,000, compared with an estimated 180,000,000 in 1960.
2. More women than men. In 1950, women outnumbered men for the first time—by a million. In 1960 the feminine lead will probably jump to two million.
3. More young and old people. The nation had 38 million children under 14 in 1950, and the figure may soar to 55 million for 1960. Similarly, the 12 million persons over 65 a decade ago may reach 16 million in 1960.
4. More married couples. In 1950, there were 36 million married couples, compared with an expected 40 million in 1960.
5. More houses and apartments. Ten years ago the nation had 46 million dwelling units. This figure will probably reach 58 million in this census.
6. More people in cities and suburbs. In 1950, nearly two out of three Americans lived in cities with more than 2,500 population and in areas surrounding cities of 50,000 population. The 1960 census will probably confirm this strong city-suburban trend and a continued decline in farm population.
7. More children in schools. Thirty million children were enrolled in schools in 1950. This year 45 million probably will be counted.
8. More women workers. In the past eight years, the number of women workers—especially married women working outside their homes—increased by four million. The 1960 census is expected to show an even higher figure.

Not swamp nor snow nor bulls nor barking hounds stay the census taker from his appointed rounds.

The Census Taker Wants To See YOU

He's not a snooper or a tattletale, just somebody who helps us build roads, make clothes, plan schools, and do many other things

by Jack Harrison Pollack

DRAWINGS BY DON MARGOLIS

SOME 160,000 MEN and women soon will be fanning out in all directions in the most far-flung man hunt in history. They will cover roughly 25 million miles—or 1,000 times around the world—in pursuit of facts about an estimated 180 million Americans from Hawaii to Alaska.

This formidable army of sleuths will visit 60 million city and rural households, bringing to a climax the 1960 U.S. census, which is now under way. To gather their firsthand statistical story of every man, woman, and child in the nation, they will track down people wherever they are to be found, whether it be city or wilderness.

They will make their way into caves, mines, tunnels, boxcars, barn lofts, abandoned streetcars, and other unlikely habitations. They will fly helicopters in isolated Western mountain areas, use rowboats in the Southern delta, slog by dog sled along the Arctic Circle. Their man hunt will take them inside prisons, hospitals, and countless other institutions.

There is nothing vague or whimsical about the questions they will ask when they come calling on you. On the contrary, the information unearthed by census sleuths will affect the way Americans live during the next ten years. The facts will enable government, private industry, and labor to plan their programs with a minimum of guesswork.

New hospitals, schools, factories, supermarkets, and transportation facilities will be built because of what census figures reveal about us. Businessmen use census statistics to determine their production. An automobile manufacturer, for example, doesn't draw a number out of a hat to decide how many new cars to build. Nor does a clothing manufacturer arbitrarily decide how many winter coats to produce. Each is guided by census figures which give an accurate picture of his potential market.

Even your state's representation in Congress may be affected by 1960 population figures. The U. S. Constitution requires that seats in the House of Representatives "...shall be apportioned among the ...States...according to their respective numbers..." Thus, California is expected to have more Congressmen after the 1960 census, and Maine and New York fewer.

The law requires you to answer census questions, so don't try to avoid or withhold information from the enumerator who calls on you. There's really no reason to, since the information you give is confidential and can't be used against you. In fact, a census taker who violates the oath of secrecy can be fined $1,000 and jailed for two years.

CHANCES ARE, census takers will be bitten by dogs, chased by bears, gored by bulls, butted by goats, and wet by babies. But it would take more than such hazards to deter them from their quest for information. They are prepared, too, for some unique, amusing, and hazardous situations.

One nose counter in a previous census noticed a prospector on the opposite bank of a river. Since there was no boat handy, he swam across with paper and pencil in his teeth.

In 1950, another census taker was barred from a nudist colony until he shed his garments. Then the nudists willingly answered his questions.

Nothing seems to faze the experienced census taker. One male enumerator ascended an 80-foot flagpole to get the facts from a steeple jack who refused to come down.

Census takers are inured, too, to some surprising replies to innocent questions. When a Brooklyn secretary, for example, was asked if she shared a bath, she replied indignantly, "I always bathe alone!" And a woman who was asked to name the "head of the household" replied, "That's me. My husband is the figurehead."

People often lie about their ages, especially women between 45 and 60. One mother of a 22-year-old daughter insisted she was only 29. When the enumerator pointed out the discrepancy, she admitted, "I've lied about my age so long, I've forgotten how old I really am."

OUR SINGING FAMILY

In the days of Hitler, the Trapp family fled their native Austria and settled, nearly penniless, in America. They found new life and happiness as a traveling singing group which delighted tens of thousands and led to the popular book, "The Story of the Trapp Family Singers."

The current Broadway hit, "The Sound of Music," is a musical adaptation of that book and stars Mary Martin. The world-wide adventures of the family are continued in Mrs. Trapp's latest book, "A Family on Wheels," from which the following is excerpted.

When the Trapp family singers had completed their visit to the leper colony on the bleak island of Molokai, many patients stood in the rain to say farewell.

VISITS THE LEPERS

The mother of the renowned singing Trapp family tells of their unforgettable trip to Molokai, island of the "untouchables"

OUR PLANE headed for Molokai, the grim heap of black rock that Robert Louis Stevenson had once called "a pitiful place to visit and hell to dwell in."

In those early days before Father Damien (a missionary who dedicated his life to the colony in the last century), it must have been hell—no hospital, no doctor, no priest; no food, no clothing, no houses; with each fresh shipment of lepers being met on the shore by hundreds of hostile "residents" who pushed the newcomers back into the water in an attempt to keep themselves from starvation.

We knew that Father Damien's coming had changed all that; that he had stormed the government with repeated appeals for building materials, water pipes, and financial aid; that, with his own hands, he had carpentered over a thousand coffins to bury his parishioners and had slept for many weeks with the living on the bare ground. We knew that every day he had faithfully dressed their wounds, even after that historic Sunday morning sermon, "And We Lepers," told his parishioners that he, too, had contracted the disease.

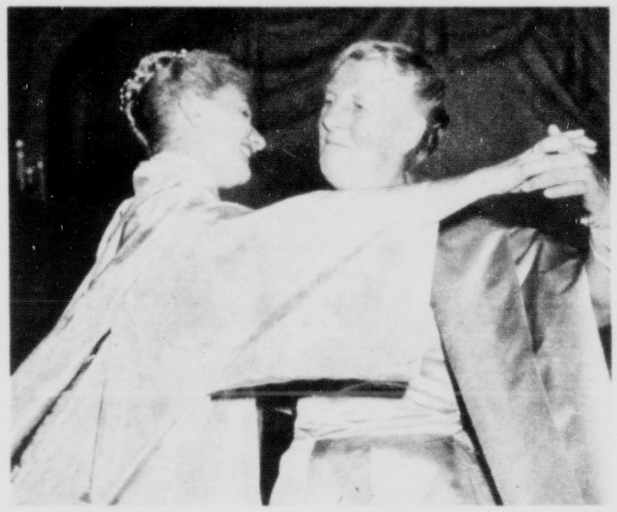

We knew that Brother Joseph Dutton (who was born in the Trapps' adopted home town of Stowe, Vt.), later had effected even better conditions in the settlement; but, just the same, as we actually flew over the precipice, the black rocks and jagged coastline looked most unfriendly.

So with mixed feelings, we dropped steadily down, past the 1,600 feet of gloomy rock, to the tiny triangle of the leper settlement. We were somewhat apprehensive. In all our travels, our only encounter with lepers had been through the Gospels, in the pleading entreaty of the poorest of the poor: "Lord, if Thou wilt, Thou canst make us clean." And in the compassionate answer: "I will. Be thou made clean."

Now we were to meet them face to face. My heart beat wildly as we crossed the narrow landing strip toward Father Logan (present-day successor to Father Damien) and his group. As we greeted Father, each one of us made a great effort not to look too closely, not to give an impression of curiosity; yet we could not help noticing their mutilated features.

The sight drew from us such a wave of compassion that our one desire was to show that it did not matter a bit, that we loved them all the more. With outstretched hands I went forward, completely forgetting the instructions I had received: don't touch the patients; don't touch anything they may have touched.

What happened next pierced our hearts. The whole row of people took a few steps back. Arms and hands all vanished behind their backs; and, though the poor featureless faces smiled at us, their whole bearing signaled, "We are the untouchables."

Mary Martin shares an opening-night waltz with Maria Trapp, whom she plays in musical, "The Sound of Music."

Mercifully, Father Logan took over. We were speeded into waiting cars, with our first destination to be Brother Dutton's grave in the cemetery of Kalawao, three miles away. The narrow dirt road took us past many graves—Buddhist, Catholic, and Protestant—until at last we found ourselves standing in a little church graveyard close under that dark perpendicular wall that had always so impressed us in pictures.

Father Damien had built the church with his own hands. Brother Dutton's grave was marked only with a simple cross and an inscription: "Joseph Dutton. Born April 27, 1843." Gently, Johannes placed our Mount Mansfield pine wreath at the foot of the cross.

Then we began to sing. How often have I felt with deepest gratitude this great glory of our life as a singing family: that, whenever words failed to say what was taking place in our hearts, we could always express it in music. We sang and sang and sang—our whole New England repertoire—until, finally leaving, we sang a Te Deum, too, for Father Damien by the spot where his grave had been before his body was taken back to Belgium.

As Father Logan drove us back across the peninsula, we were impressed to see many attractive little houses, each one surrounded by a beautiful garden with flowering trees and bushes, each little lanai covered with brightly blooming flowers. "Those belong to the patients," Father explained, and went on to tell us that these pretty, comfortable cottages with their lava-stone walls are privately owned. The Territorial Government, through the board of health, has done everything within its power to provide for the comfort and accommodation of these people.

"And now the sisters are waiting," Father said suddenly, pulling his car to a stop in front of a low, comfortable little house, half-hidden in the trees and flowers of the hospital grounds. Three nuns, dressed in white, were standing on the porch to greet us and, as Father introduced Sister Hermine, the superior of the Sisters of Saint Francis, I realized that we had all met before in their convent in Syracuse, N. Y.

We had a fine reunion over lunch, while the sisters patiently relived for us the story of their Mother Marianne's first coming to the island 30 years before with five others, and of her firm and reassuring prophecy: "No one of our sisters will ever contract the disease."

To this day, not one has; but the one condition specified by Mother Marianne, along with her prophecy, was scrupulous cleanliness.

After lunch, Sister Hermine showed us through the spacious, airy hospital, explaining, "The hospital is scrubbed every day, and everyone dealing with the patients washes her hands immediately afterward."

I noticed that she drew us past several closed doors—"the worst cases"—and later, when we were alone together for a few minutes, I pleaded with Sister for permission to be allowed to visit some of them. In her great kindness, she let me, and to the end of my days I shall be grateful.

WE CALLED FIRST on Lahale (Hawaiian for Rachel). She was sitting on her bed dangling what had once been her legs. "Lahale," said Sister, "here is the mother of the singing family, come to visit you."

At that, Lahale lit up and burst into a torrent of questions. How was Ruper, and had Johannes come along with us? She had read "The Story of the Trapp Family Singers" and was so sorry that I had lost my husband.

Obviously, it did not dawn on her that she had any reason for complaining herself, but she was all interest in the Trapp family and looking forward, oh so much, to their evening concert.

I was taken from room to room, through a living sermon. These people were cheerful and happy, completely resigned to God's Will, so interested in

Then we began to sing. How often have I felt with deepest gratitude this great glory of our life as a singing family: that, whenever words failed to say what was taking place in our hearts, we could always express it in music. We sang and sang and sang—our whole New England repertoire—until, finally leaving, we sang a Te Deum, too, for Father Damien by the spot where his grave had been before his body was taken back to Belgium.

As Father Logan drove us back across the peninsula, we were impressed to see many attractive little houses, each one surrounded by a beautiful garden with flowering trees and bushes, each little lanai covered with brightly blooming flowers. "Those belong to the patients," Father explained, and went on to tell us that these pretty, comfortable cottages with their lava-stone walls are privately owned. The Territorial Government, through the board of health, has done everything within its power to provide for the comfort and accommodation of these people.

"And now the sisters are waiting," Father said suddenly, pulling his car to a stop in front of a low, comfortable little house, half-hidden in the trees and flowers of the hospital grounds. Three nuns, dressed in white, were standing on the porch to greet us and, as Father introduced Sister Hermine, the superior of the Sisters of Saint Francis, I realized that we had all met before in their convent in Syracuse, N. Y.

We had a fine reunion over lunch, while the sisters patiently relived for us the story of their Mother Marianne's first coming to the island 30 years before with five others, and of her firm and reassuring prophecy: "No one of our sisters will ever contract the disease."

To this day, not one has; but the one condition specified by Mother Marianne, along with her prophecy, was scrupulous cleanliness.

After lunch, Sister Hermine showed us through the spacious, airy hospital, explaining, "The hospital is scrubbed every day, and everyone dealing with the patients washes her hands immediately afterward."

I noticed that she drew us past several closed doors—"the worst cases"—and later, when we were alone together for a few minutes, I pleaded with Sister for permission to be allowed to visit some of them. In her great kindness, she let me, and to the end of my days I shall be grateful.

WE CALLED FIRST on Lahale (Hawaiian for Rachel). She was sitting on her bed dangling what had once been her legs. "Lahale," said Sister, "here is the mother of the singing family, come to visit you."

At that, Lahale lit up and burst into a torrent of questions. How was Ruper, and had Johannes come along with us? She had read "The Story of the Trapp Family Singers" and was so sorry that I had lost my husband.

Obviously, it did not dawn on her that she had any reason for complaining herself, but she was all interest in the Trapp family and looking forward, oh so much, to their evening concert.

I was taken from room to room, through a living sermon. These people were cheerful and happy, completely resigned to God's Will, so interested in

The man of the house was puzzled when delivery men appeared at his door with a new automatic dishwasher. "Sure you've got the right address?" he asked.

They showed him an invoice with his name and address.

"Do you know anything about this?" he asked his wife.

"Of course," she said. "Don't you remember me telling you I'd bought something to keep my hands nice?"

"You know what signals I'm referring to, Ashley!"

I was just thinking . . .

WINTER has set our calendars back some 50 years.

In a few hours, we have become isolated in a whirling world of snow. Nothing moves except the wind and the crystal knives. The drifts rise. We are unable even to open the door to the world.

What had been a busy highway is gone. There are lights across the road somewhere, but they are beyond the wall between us and civilization.

The telephone is silent, prey of the weight of winter on its veins. Our lane is a desolate waste. Our shrubs are mounds of sculptured sugar, our trees grotesquely dwarfed by the riding tide of white.

The world is still. It is eerie, terrifying, that between this afternoon and nightfall, we have lost transportation, communication, and every proud advance of our achievement.

This is still nature's empire. The city behind us is a lifeless village. A child will be born this night by candlelight. A man will die 50 feet from his own doorstep. Nothing we have invented or designed will save him from the heavy hand of a force we cannot conquer.

We are safe here and warm, but only because we had the foresight to order a tank of fuel oil or another bin of coal. Or because our electricity has not yet forsaken us. We have food only because the basement cupboard is well stocked. But we are without eggs. Our neighbor has no milk for his children. In the morning, he or we will wrap ourselves against the storm and wade the snow to trade possessions.

We have known the easier ways and we are fat and soft and unaccustomed to the fight for survival. Some of our houses may burn, and the fire engines cannot come. Some of us will fight the insidious decay of boredom and find no help in ourselves. It will be a day or two before anyone can plow our lane. It may be more than that before the 200 cars that are stranded on the highway are all towed away.

We are ill-equipped to battle more than the weather, to be thrown back to the resources which were inherent in our grandfathers.

We fight against panic. In the wild whiteness of this winter snow, cut off from all the creature comfort the turn of the century never knew, how far have we come?

BURL IVES— Just a Gypsy at Heart

This versatile performer juggles several successful careers but doesn't take them too seriously— his restless spirit won't let him

by PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

TO BURL IVES, the only place to be in time of crisis is on the open sea. Whenever things are going badly—and often when they're not—he's liable to drop everything and sail off on his 32-foot sloop.

With this versatile singer-actor-writer, sailing isn't just a hobby; it's an obsession and has been for more than 20 years. Burl's boat is his assurance that he'll never have to settle down in one place for long, and he wouldn't be happy without that assurance.

Born 50 years ago on a farm in Illinois, Ives began displaying maverick qualities early. But wanderlust really set in while he was studying at Eastern State Teachers College. "One morning," he recalls, "I left right in the middle of a class with 15 cents in my pocket and a banjo slung over my shoulder."

He hitchhiked across the country, singing folk songs for his meals (a hobby begun in childhood). There were times when his singing wouldn't buy him a cup of coffee, and he was forced to take any job to keep going. But however lonely and fatiguing his uncertain existence was, the demon within him never let him rest:

"I kept growing tired of the same faces day in and day out. I would try to talk myself into staying a bit longer, but I was too restless. There were so many places to see, so many people to meet."

He has since admitted: "Traveling is fun only when you can afford to do it in style. For years I was just a bum, living on handouts. Believe me, it sounds more romantic in retrospect than it was."

IVES FINALLY ended up in New York at the depth of the depression. He kept alive through odd jobs and even landed a few bit parts on Broadway. He began to make a name for himself when he got his own radio show on NBC in 1940. World War II interrupted and he went into the Air Corps. Two years later a medical discharge led him back to radio, but he was unable to shake the old feeling of discontent with any sort of permanence.

So he pulled up stakes and toured the country—in style this time—doing the thing he liked best, folk singing. It became a way of life that made him America's best-loved balladeer. His fame eventually brought him the role of Big Daddy in the play, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." And when the screen version took him to Hollywood, he found himself with a new career as a dramatic actor.

That career has won him an Oscar and a part opposite Sir Alec Guinness in Columbia's forthcoming "Our Man In Havana."

As an antidote to these spells of "hard work," Burl turns to the sailor's life. On most of his trips, his chief cook, cabin boy, and first mate is his wife Helen, whom he married in 1945. Their 11-year-old son Alexander has inherited Ives' nautical enthusiasm, and whenever he's not in school, he joins them.

Says Burl of his need to "get away": "There are no ties, no worries, and no obligations on board my boat. That's where I relax, write my books and my songs, or just sit on deck and spit in the ocean. It's the only place where I am really alive. Some men are born to have roots. I don't like responsibilities, like a house and a car and having to be pleasant to neighbors. I'm just a gypsy at heart."

Above, Burl, Alec Guinness, and Jo Morrow in a tense moment from "Our Man in Havana." As soon as the film was completed, Ives headed for his "home" on the open sea, accompanied by his wife Helen and son.

That career has won him an Oscar and a part opposite Sir Alec Guinness in Columbia's forthcoming "Our Man In Havana."

As an antidote to these spells of "hard work," Burl turns to the sailor's life. On most of his trips, his chief cook, cabin boy, and first mate is his wife Helen, whom he married in 1945. Their 11-year-old son Alexander has inherited Ives' nautical enthusiasm, and whenever he's not in school, he joins them.

Says Burl of his need to "get away": "There are no ties, no worries, and no obligations on board my boat. That's where I relax, write my books and my songs, or just sit on deck and spit in the ocean. It's the only place where I am really alive. Some men are born to have roots. I don't like responsibilities, like a house and a car and having to be pleasant to neighbors. I'm just a gypsy at heart."

A very successful one, too.

others and forgetful of their own poor selves. As we walked down the steps of the hospital, I wanted to say to Sister, "God reward you for having permitted me to come in such close contact with true holiness," but I could only press her hand.

Supper that night was with Father Logan in the rectory, and the concert that followed was given in the amusement hall—a large recreation center not far from the water's edge. Long before the appointed time, the hall was full; and Father said with a smile, peering out at his flock, "I guess no one who can be out of bed is missing tonight."

All I can say about that particular concert is that we put our whole hearts into it, as we had never done before. I remember that, fired by the general enthusiasm of our audience, we went on and on and on till Father Logan came to the stage to say we had been singing for nearly three hours and it was time to stop. Then, knowing his children, he turned to the audience to ask, "Wouldn't you like to sing something for our friends?"

This suggestion was greeted with a shout of approval, so the Trapp family sat down on the stage and our audience rose. For another half hour, they stood there before us, singing. Some of the voices were merely hoarse whispers—Father explained afterward that leprosy, even in its early stages, can affect the vocal cords—but the singing was flawless in rhythm and tone.

"They like you," Father whispered. "Usually they are very shy and retiring, but they know that you are not afraid of them—and truly, you are seeing them at their best."

LATER, WHEN time came to leave, it was pouring rain. "Please don't be disappointed," Father Logan said apologetically. "No one will be at the landing field to wave you off. The patients are very much affected by wet weather. It hurts them so much physically that they must simply stay indoors until the sun comes out again. I just want you to understand."

We understood, of course. But at the airport, dripping and smiling, we found the whole settlement patiently waiting in the drenching downpour.

There were tears, and there were presents: bouquets and leis for each of us, plus a beautifully carved little whalebone cross made by one of the men. The rain splashed around us as we all sang together, "Aloa Oe—Until We Meet Again." At the last minute, Sister Hermine said simply, "You may accept all the gifts. They were fumigated early this morning."

Then our plane left the airstrip and we rose and circled, looking down once again over Molokai, knowing that we were leaving behind lifelong friends.

If your household receives one of the blue forms, each of you in it will be asked to tell what your income is; how many weeks you worked in 1959; how many times you have been married; what your home is worth and how it is heated; how much rent you pay; how many radios, television sets, and automobiles you own; whether you have a telephone, washing machine, and freezer; your veteran status; and your mother tongue, if you are foreign-born.

Two of the most important questions to be asked of everyone over 14 in these one-in-four households are: "Where do you work?" and "How do you get to and from work?" This information will assist metropolitan planners in dealing with public transportation and parking problems.

Another question important to our Civil Defense program is whether your house has a basement. The number of basements in U.S. homes and how it varies in different cities and in rural areas is vital information that Civil Defense officials are anxious to have.

Unless the answer to a question is important nationally to everybody, the question isn't asked. Some which were important ten years ago aren't being asked in 1960. Questions on electricity, refrigeration, and kitchen sinks have been omitted because these are now almost universally present.

THE 1960 CENSUS is the 18th in the past 170 years. Back in 1790, Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson presided over the first census, whose main purpose was to determine representation in Congress. The census takers were 17 U.S. marshals who carried quill pens and ink horns in their saddlebags as they rode around for nine months, counting 3,929,214 persons in 16 states.

Today, approximately two out of three of the census takers are women, many of them housewives. Starting April 1, the average enumerator will work two to eight weeks, covering 350 to 400 dwellings and earning about $12 a day.

The spirit of today's census is exemplified by a 1950 incident. When a woman census taker knocked on a rural door, she was admitted by a doctor who said, "You're just in time. Go boil some water for my patient." The woman did so, and soon heard a newborn baby's cry. The grateful parents named their baby—you guessed it!—"Census."

Few of us can accurately judge our outward appearance; yet our self-concept helps determine the kind of persons we are

by John T. Harris

YOU LOOK at yourself in the mirror every day when you comb your hair or powder your nose. But is your mirror telling you the truth? Do you really know how you look to others?

Many of us kid ourselves all our lives. We never fully succeed in seeing ourselves as others do. Experts say our emotions and egos get in our way.

Your cheeks may have a sallow city pallor, for instance, while you picture yourself as a healthy outdoor girl. Diet and golf have slimmed your figure, you tell yourself, but to passers-by you're quite probably just another fat man.

Want to get an idea of what you really look like? Take a good peek at yourself in a three-way mirror next time you're in a clothing store. If you can't wait, set up two mirrors at home, so that you can gaze into one without seeing your direct reflection. The stranger you see is you!

Or you might accidentally stumble on your true image as a New York society matron did recently when she took the subway home. Approaching the change booth, she flung a dollar bill on the counter. When she didn't receive change immediately, she snarled, "Hurry up, I haven't got all night!" Looking up, she saw a twisted face glaring at her. Suddenly it dawned on her—she was staring at her own image, reflected in the glass front of an empty booth!

"That sourpuss had become my standard expression to the world," she confessed later, "and I had to come face to face with myself to find it out."

Few of us are able to judge our outward appearances accurately. Handsome men frequently consider themselves nondescript-looking, and many an ugly-duckling woman mistakes herself for a swan.

This self-delusion about our looks usually begins in childhood and persists long after we are adults. Early in life, each of us creates a special "body image" of what we look like, and we carry this stereotype with us through the years.

A psychiatrist, the late Dr. Paul Shilder, trail-blazed the self-concept theory which holds that your picture of yourself is a significant factor in your behavior. Dr. Victor C. Raimy, University of Colorado psychologist, explains: "We perceive ourselves just as we perceive a chair or another person. What we

A psychiatrist, the late Dr. Paul Shilder, trail-blazed the self-concept theory which holds that your picture of yourself is a significant factor in your behavior. Dr. Victor C. Raimy, University of Colorado psychologist, explains: "We perceive ourselves just as we perceive a chair or another person. What we perceive in ourselves (the self-concept) may have only partial correspondence with what other people perceive in us. Yet we behave in accordance with our own perceptions."

THE GAP between what we think we look like and what we actually do can be an eye-opener in many ways. So much so, that psychologists have evolved a "body image test," now in use in many hospitals, schools, marriage clinics, and businesses. Here's how the test works:

You are given a pencil and blank slips of paper and told to draw yourself (a) as you are and (b) as you would like to look. The psychologist analyzes both drawings and makes a private judgment of you.

Heavy lines may tell him that you're a strong-willed individual; light ones, a timid type. If you complete the drawings quickly, it generally indicates you're a decisive, impulsive person. Should you linger unduly over them, you're probably a painstaking perfectionist. If you sketch profiles, it may show you're evasive. Should you draw exceptionally long arms, perhaps you're ambitious or acquisitive.

An insecure wife married to a domineering husband drew pinpoints for feet. Why? Because all her life she could never stand on her own two feet!

Your occupation often affects your drawings, too. Public speakers pay particular attention to the lips; pianists to the hands; dancers to the legs; scientists and writers to the head.

Well-adjusted people usually draw themselves pretty much as they are the first time. But in the second wish-fulfillment drawings, they engage in healthy Walter Mitty daydreaming. Short women make themselves tall; fat ones, thin. Unattractive ones portray themselves as queens. Women with stringy hair draw themselves with lovely tresses.

Emotionally ill persons reveal the most in their drawings. One disturbed woman, asked to draw herself as she saw herself, sketched a ghost. "Why do you want to commit suicide?" the psychiatrist asked.

Thanks to the woman's illuminating self-portrait, the psychiatrist was able to take the first steps in helping her back to a healthy state of mind.

In tests conducted by Dr. Karen Machover of Kings County Hospital (Brooklyn, N. Y.), a group of mental patients were asked to draw a man and later a woman. Emotionally infantile males frequently made the female image larger and more dominant. Asthmatics omitted the mouth.

Other psychologists report that women generally observe men's features more closely than vice versa. Frequently, the most a man can remember about the girl he loves is the color of her hair or eyes! Women admit that what they notice first about men are their faces, figures, voices, whether they need a deodorant, and their clothes.

But clothes don't make the man or woman. Take it from Mark Twain, who was once bawled out by his wife for not being properly dressed when calling on a Connecticut neighbor. After listening to his wife's complaints, the humorist wrapped a neat package which he had a messenger deliver to the neighbor with this note: "A little while ago I visited you minus my collar and tie. The missing articles are enclosed. Will you kindly gaze at them and return them to me?"

VANITY often prevents us from seeing ourselves with other people's eyes. Recently in the home of a distinguished, much-photographed elder statesman who was quite handsome as a young man, I observed a flattering portrait of him and remarked on it.

"Oh, it doesn't catch the real me," he protested seriously. "Haven't I got better features than that?"

In the long run, neither handicaps nor good looks mean much. Real beauty stems from within. Outer good looks can never cover a warped and ugly soul. While they may mean everything to superficial people, warm inner qualities are far more important to most of us.

So make the most of what God gave you—then forget about it. Beauty, after all, is relative. Our great stage actresses—Helen Hayes, Lynn Fontanne, Katharine Cornell—were never outwardly beautiful. They all have an inner beauty and spirit which is far more important.

Lincoln's political opponents campaigned against his "ugliness." One day when a little girl was taken to the White House to visit President Lincoln, her father warned her about Old Abe's homeliness. But after Lincoln placed her on his knees and playfully joked with her, the little girl exclaimed to her father, "Daddy, he isn't ugly at all. He's just beautiful!"

You Look Like?

THE GAP between what we think we look like and what we actually do can be an eye-opener in many ways. So much so, that psychologists have evolved a "body image test," now in use in many hospitals, schools, marriage clinics, and businesses. Here's how the test works:

You are given a pencil and blank slips of paper and told to draw yourself (a) as you are and (b) as you would like to look. The psychologist analyzes both drawings and makes a private judgment of you.

Heavy lines may tell him that you're a strong-willed individual; light ones, a timid type. If you complete the drawings quickly, it generally indicates you're a decisive, impulsive person. Should you linger unduly over them, you're probably a painstaking perfectionist. If you sketch profiles, it may show you're evasive. Should you draw exceptionally long arms, perhaps you're ambitious or acquisitive.

An insecure wife married to a domineering husband drew pinpoints for feet. Why? Because all her life she could never stand on her own two feet!

Your occupation often affects your drawings, too. Public speakers pay particular attention to the lips; pianists to the hands; dancers to the legs; scientists and writers to the head.

Well-adjusted people usually draw themselves pretty much as they are the first time. But in the second wish-fulfillment drawings, they engage in healthy Walter Mitty daydreaming. Short women make themselves tall; fat ones, thin. Unattractive ones portray themselves as queens. Women with stringy hair draw themselves with lovely tresses.

Emotionally ill persons reveal the most in their drawings. One disturbed woman, asked to draw herself as she saw herself, sketched a ghost. "Why do you want to commit suicide?" the psychiatrist asked.

Thanks to the woman's illuminating self-portrait, the psychiatrist was able to take the first steps in helping her back to a healthy state of mind.

In tests conducted by Dr. Karen Machover of Kings County Hospital (Brooklyn, N. Y.), a group of mental patients were asked to draw a man and later a woman. Emotionally infantile males frequently made the female image larger and more dominant. Asthmatics omitted the mouth.

Other psychologists report that women generally observe men's features more closely than vice versa. Frequently, the most a man can remember about the girl he loves is the color of her hair or eyes! Women admit that what they notice first about men are their faces, figures, voices, whether they need a deodorant, and their clothes.

But clothes don't make the man or woman. Take it from Mark Twain, who was once bawled out by his wife for not being properly dressed when calling on a Connecticut neighbor. After listening to his wife's complaints, the humorist wrapped a neat package which he had a messenger deliver to the neighbor with this note: "A little while ago I visited you minus my collar and tie. The missing articles are enclosed. Will you kindly gaze at them and return them to me?"
